Mr. Joseph J. Reed to Wed South Carolina Young Lady.
Mrs. Eva Murray of Anderson, S. C., announces the approaching marriage of her daughter, Felicia, to Mr. Joseph Johnston Reed of Knoxville. The wedding will be celebrated the latter part of January.
Miss Murray has been one of Anderson's most charming and popular young society women. She comes from one of the State's oldest and most prominent families, and is closely related to the old families that first settled at Pendleton. Her father, the late Edwards B. Murray, was a distinguished member of the Anderson bar and was for years a member of the legislature and also of the State senate.
Mr. Reed, the prospective groom, is one of the best and most favorably known young business men of Knoxville. He is president of the J. J. Reed Coal Company, and has other business interests here and elsewhere in this section. Mr. Reed is of a prominent family, whose names have been conspicuous in the history of East Tennessee and in the general development of this great division of the State. His ancestors were among the sturdiest and best representative people settling this section of the South. Mr. Reed is active in many interests of the city, being a leading churchman and a counsellor and benefactor of the Y. M. C. A. and kindred institutions. He is also popular socially and is esteemed by whom and wherever he is known. His many friends here and elsewhere will felicitate him upon his approaching marriage.

The wedding will be a notable social event, and probably will be attended by a number from this city, as well as from Anderson and other points in South Carolina. Miss Murray, the bride-to-be, has a wide acquaintance which will attract great interest in the wedding throughout the Carolinas.
Upon coming to Knoxville, following the wedding, Mr. Reed and his bride will be most cordially welcomed, and this city will be their home.

A Pretty Party.
Master Joseph Womble entertained a number of his little friends at a delightful party on Tuesday afternoon in honor of his sixth birthday, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Womble, on Heckley street. All the decorations were suggestive of the Christmas season, balls and wreaths being used everywhere. In the darkened and prettily decorated dining room the candles were arranged in six groups, suitable to the young host's years. Here a dainty sweet course was served the happy little folks, and each given a tiny silver bell tied with a red and silver ribbon as a souvenir. Mrs. Rosa McCully and Mrs. Rosa Mauidin assisted Mrs. Womble in looking after the little guests. Miss Josephine Womble gave several amusing comic readings and Miss Eleanor Sargent played several pretty piano selections.

were bright with vases of carnations and ferns.
Mrs. R. E. Ligon and Mrs. J. B. C. DeCamp met the guests at the door, while others assisting in receiving and entertaining were: Mrs. Charlie Gambrell, Mrs. A. S. Farmer and Miss Felicia Murray. In the receiving line were the two charming hostesses, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Godfrey, Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. F. A. Arnold, of Greenwood, Mrs. George Aide of Italy, formerly Miss Mary Orr, one of Anderson's attractive society women, Mrs. Alce Sykos and Mrs. L. L. Rice. After speaking to this charming coterie of ladies the guests were invited into the pretty dining room where Mrs. C. F. Ross and Mrs. S. N. Gilmer gracefully presided. Here the color scheme of pink was daintily carried out, in pink tulle that was caught from each corner of the table to the light above, with candles and carnations on table and buffet. Misses Eleanor Frank, May Ligon and Alberta Farmer served an elegant salad course with coffee and divinity fudge. It was a beautiful affair, charmingly carried out in every detail and each and every guest felt amply repaid for going out in such disagreeable weather, for the afternoon was bright and happy in spite of rain and clouds.
A Wedding at the Hospital.
The culmination of a 28 years love affair was the marriage yesterday of Dr. W. T. Hunt and Miss Sallie McCarty, both of Townville, which took place at the Anderson County Hospital. Dr. Hunt has been quite ill for several weeks, and was for some time in Baltimore for treatment. About a week ago he was brought back to the hospital here and for the past few days has been improving nicely. So he and his bride decided to be married at once and the ceremony was performed yesterday afternoon at 2:30 by Dr. W. H. Frazier of the First Presbyterian church. The superintendent and nurses all being present for the happy occasion. Dr. and Mrs. Hunt have the best wishes of a host of friends. This is the second wedding to occur in the hospital, the other one being that of Dr. S. W. Page, who was also married while a patient at the hospital about four years ago.

In Honor of Mr. Sanders.
Mrs. Wade Sanders entertained on Thursday night at an elegant eight course dinner in honor of Mr. Sanders' 30th birthday. The guests were 12 of the city officials, and the occasion was one of the prettiest and most delightful of the week. The dining room was beautiful in cut glass and silver, a color scheme of pink and green being charmingly carried out. A mirror, with candleabra and bordered in ferns, was the beautiful center piece. Many candles entwined with dainty ferns were the principal decoration presenting a most attractive scene. The elegant eight course dinner was beautifully served by Mrs. Wade Sanders and Mrs. Levis Sanders. Mayor J. H. Godfrey acted as toastmaster and several clever little impromptu speeches were thoroughly enjoyed, after which the guests adjourned to the parlor and enjoyed delightful music by Mrs. Wade Sanders.
Those present were: Messrs. J. H. Godfrey, G. Cullen Sullivan, J. E. Barton, L. S. Spearman, R. King, R. L. Carter, Leonard Jackson, J. H. Tate, E. M. Scott, Walter Dobbins and Dr. Levis Sanders.

teachers of the city schools at the Fant Street school yesterday afternoon. The hall was bright with palms and flowers and the afternoon spent in the pleasantest manner. A guessing contest and spelling bee furnished lots of amusement and in cutting for the prize it was won by Miss Mary Hough, a box of dream cake. Then the pounds were all spread out and a delightful feast it proved to be.
Robert E. Lee Chapter.
Mrs. Minnie Milford and Mrs. Hugh Russell entertained the Robert E. Lee chapter, U. D. C., on Friday afternoon at the home of the former. Although the afternoon was so bad, there was a good attendance of members and several visitors present. Mrs. Raymond Beatty, Mrs. J. O. White, Mrs. J. R. Vandiver, and Miss Rhoda Vandiver, who represented this chapter at the General U. D. C. convention, held in Savannah, gave interesting accounts of the convention. Each report was very full and entertaining and given in a bright attractive way that held the hearers.
Mrs. J. B. Marshall read a fine paper on "The Material Resources of the Antebellum South."
Mrs. R. S. Ligon sang a charming little song that was composed by Mrs. Virginia Hammond, now of California, but formerly a member of this chapter. Miss Rhoda Vandiver played several brilliant piano selections, and also sang a sweet solo.
Mrs. R. E. Webb's new current events completed the program and during the delightful social session the hostesses served delicious plum pudding with whipped cream, coffee and nuts. The rally meeting will be held in January. Two new members were welcomed into the chapter at this meeting.
Captain and Mrs. J. T. Knox of the Philippines and Mr. Aaron Knox of Westminster are the guests of Mrs. W. H. Cox.
Mrs. Earle Watson has gone to Augusta to spend a week with friends.

In Honor of Miss Orr.
A charming little party for a very attractive visitor was the one given on Thursday evening by Mrs. Irving Brownlee in honor of her guest, Miss Bonnie Orr, of Charlotte. Miss Orr has been the recipient of many pretty social attentions during her visit here and she has made many friends who will always have a cordial welcome for her. The affair on Thursday evening was another pretty compliment to Miss Orr and a very delightful and informal occasion. Mrs. Brownlee was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. S. D. Brownlee, and later in the evening served an elegant salad course.
Among those present were: Misses Ruth Brownlee, Carrie Fretwell, Helen Patrick, and Louise Gilmer, Messrs. Eugene Milford, Robert Cathcart, Ralph Smith, Rufus Hill, Frank Brownlee and Reed Hunter of Charlotte.
