Miss Polk Leaves Tomorrow. Miss Wilma Polk leaves tomorrow for her home at Jackson, Tenn., after a six week's visit to her sister, Mrs. Bond Anderson. Miss Polk has been an unusually attractive and popular visitor and has been the recipient of many pretty social attentions during her visit here.

Mrs. Frank Entertains at Cards. Mrs. John Frank was the attractive hostess for a few friends yesterday afternoon when she entertained at cards at her pretty home on W. Market street.

The afternoon was especially pleasant and informal, and the games very interesting and merry. Mrs. Frank fully sustains her reputation as a charming hostess. After the cards were laid aside, an elegant salad course was daintily served. Those present were Mesdames C. F. Ross, Bond Anderson, A. S. Farmer, T. E. Howard, C. H. Bleich, E. F. Cochran, B. B. Gossett, C. A. Gambrell, P. K. McCully, J. H. Godfrey, Misses Wilma Polk and Jessie Browne.

For the Teachers. Saturday afternoon was quite an ideal one in every way for the teachers of the Anderson city schools. At this time the doors of the Kennedy street school were thrown open to them, the teachers of this school acting as hostesses. The hall and dressing room were decorated with flowers and growing plants, while the parlor for the afternoon was tastefully decorated with flowers, flags and red, white and blue bunting. On the wall hung pictures of George and Martha Washington.

The afternoon was spent very pleasantly in playing "George" dice, the scores being kept on red hatchet place cards.

The highest score was made by Miss May Russell. She was presented a box of candied cherries in an original speech by Supt. McCants. Delicious refreshments, consisting of salad, hot tea, sandwiches, crackers and almonds were served by Misses Lewis, Brown, Pruitt, Parks, Major, Lee and Harris.

Tiny silk flags decorated each plate, flag dollies were also used. Doors of each room were then opened and the teachers were shown through the building by Prof. and Mrs. Chambers. Especially interesting was the manual training room, where the handsome new work desks are and where the school boys spend many a pleasant hour now. In the office were the finished products of the work-room, such as bread-boards, coat hangers, flower stands and sticks. Also here was seen the dainty pieces of sewing done by the girls of this school. These articles were very much admired. With one accord every one voted this to be one of the nicest afternoons spent inside a school.

The children were delighted over the cake in which were hidden the mystical emblems of their fortunes. In cutting the dime fell to Miss Ruth Keess, the thimble to Miss Sara Crayton, the button to Master Fred Bleich and the ring to Miss Mary Sadler.

Mr. and Mrs. Bleich Entertain. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bleich entertained the officers and directors of the Anderson Development Co., at an elegant supper at Hotel Chiquola on Friday evening after the opening performance at the Anderson Theatre. Message for Baptist W. M. U. Organizations.

Every society of the Baptist W. M. U. is urged to set apart February 25 (or some day of that week if possible) as a day for prayer and special effort for home missions. On this date it is urged that every unattached woman in the church be visited with a view to awakening her interest and securing a contribution to home missions. To this end distribute home mission literature which can be secured from the home board, Atlanta, Ga. Let every member select some special thing as the object of self-denial and give the cost of this as an extra gift.

If societies feel that they cannot work this plan on the above date, then select another date, just as you'll have time to report to Miss Jessie King by April 24.

Women, girls, boys, and children lets make a liberal gift to home missions, even at a sacrifice, for their God indeed blesses the giver and

"makes the liberal soul fat." MRS. E. W. MASTERS, Superintendent.

Refuge Locals. Our races through this section were beginning to improve a great deal, during the pretty week last week, but the recent rain has put us back in "the same old rut, in the same old wagon without any grease."

War! War! low priced cotton and hard times, seem to be the topic of conversation everywhere, and at all times through the day and night. Now listen kind readers, stop and think, ask yourself how much good it is doing you to worry your brain and test your patience, and perhaps your temper too; over such frivolous subjects. We believe that the war is not the cause of the price of cotton being so low. If you want to get our opinion, it is this: That the little hair brained, thick skulled cotton speculator is at the bottom of the whole business, and if it were in our power to do it, we would make him earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, for a few years, at least.

Oh, yes, now wouldn't we love to see him out in the grass and harvest fields perspiring out his fine airs and graces wearing homemade jeans, and a big straw hat, ha! wouldn't he make a charming picture, plowing a contrary mule a whole week on half rations, then late Saturday evening take him from the plow, hook him to the farm wagon and drive five or six miles to town, and then when he gets there, we would dearly love to see him have to pay $3.99 for a bootleg of flour, 20 cents per pound for bacon, and not get any sugar or coffee at all, saying nothing about the other little necessary articles we all have to have; then go home and milk half dozen cows, feed the chickens and pigs, carrying in stove wood and fire wood, and then if he is not ready for supper, at the usual time, get a good scolding from his wife. Mr. Speculator we think that would be enough to convert you.

The many friends of Mrs. Nannie White will be pleased to learn that she is at home again, after an absence of two weeks. She has been in the Anderson hospital for the past two weeks. Mrs. White, we are certainly pleased to learn that your good operation so well, and that you are at home so soon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. White and little son, Harold of near Central, and Messrs Sloan and little Miss Blanche Gillespie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Gillespie.
