

FOR SALE

We will sell to the highest bidder on Salesday in December at Pickens, which is Monday, December 4, 1916, the home place of the late J. H. G. McDaniel, just outside the corporate limits of the town of Pickens.

This place contains twenty-nine acres and includes fine orchard, good pasture, fine barn and other outbuildings, besides the magnificent and spacious eleven-room dwelling house. This will make a nice home and is the very place for a summer boarding house without making any additions.

As an investment it would prove paying. Most everyone around Pickens is acquainted with this property and its real worth cannot be described.

This is an opportunity which does not come around often and you may never have another such chance as this, so take advantage of it.

TERMS: Half cash, balance in twelve months at 8 per cent interest.

B. T. and P. P. McDaniel Administrators.

Pleasant Grove News

Health of our community is excellent at this writing. Cotton-picking is the order of the day here and have about half a crop.

The election passed off very quietly here last Tuesday and out of 55 registered voters only 20 voted, but they were all Democratic.

Jimmie Phillips of this section paid his parents near Greenville a visit last week.

Misses Ida and Eula Fortner, who have been spending several days in Greenville, have returned home.

Mrs. Liana Barker of this community attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, Alfred Bishop, at Marietta last week.

Eugene White and Wester Hendricks, two young men of this section, bid old Pickens county a long farewell about two weeks ago and went to Florida, but after arriving in that part of the world and looking around they found it was not like old Pickens county, and last Monday night they returned here and declared there is no place like home.

Our school has begun its winter term with Prof. G. R. Mayfield in charge. Prof. Mayfield taught the writer his A, B, Cs about thirty years ago and it seems very familiar to see him in the schoolroom again.

We are getting very anxious to see our mail on Pickens route 6 made daily instead of three times a week.

Well, Mr. Editor, if you will come some night the writer will carry you 'possum hunting, and I am sure if we don't get a 'possum we will get a skunk.

(The editor would like the best in the world to go 'possum hunting with you, but he doesn't care for any skunks this winter, thank you.—Ed.)

Six Mile News

Health is good in this section, except for the measles. Mr. Thomas Durham of this section died from measles Friday, November 10, and was buried at Six Mile the next day.

School at the Six Mile academy is progressing fine. The school is glad to report that it has the largest senior class in its history, there being nine boys and two girls in it. The literary society is doing better work than ever before. The following program will be rendered by the society Thanksgiving evening:

Debate—Resolved, That South Carolina Should Have Compulsory School Law. M. J. Stansell and J. A. Roper will represent the affirmative, while W. H. Guest and J. F. Corbin will represent the negative. Music. Oration by C. B. Atkinson. Declaration by D. Mann. Music. Recitation by Essie Mae Porter. GRAY EYES.

Pumpkintown "Deadhead" Stuff

Did you do any Hallowe'en stunts? We found ourself face to face with a real, professed Republican one day last week. We looked him over good.

Wonder if you heard about those lawsuits that got ripe here a week or two ago? They've had time be r-r-over-ripe now.

B. F. Hendricks left here Friday, November 2, for Ranger, N. C., where he will attend a 40-day music school, taught by H. M. Eagle of Burke's Garden, Va. After the school at Ranger closes he will go to Ripley, Miss., and attend another session of Prof. Eagle's school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hendricks, Sr., and S. B. Edens accompanied B. F. to Asheville and had a look at the city. They made the trip in Mr. Edens' Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Welborn went sight-seeing to Anderson last week. They report a good time.

Corn in this section is rather sharp—I mean short.

Well, dear reader, I guess you're tired of this chin-music; so I'll quit talking and go to work. CEDRIC.

Good News

The Sentinel is glad to announce that it has secured a newspaper feature which will be enjoyed by every one of its subscribers who like to read good stories. We have secured the rights to publish "K," one of the most interesting, interesting and mystifying stories ever written by Mary Roberts Rinehart, the highest paid woman writer in the world. This story was published in the Saturday Evening Post this year and proved so immensely popular that The Sentinel decided to get it for its readers. We consider ourselves fortunate in securing this remarkable story for you and know you will appreciate it. "K" is an unusual title for a story, but this is also an unusual story. The first chapters will be published soon. Watch for it.

We have also secured another feature which will prove of great pleasure and interest to our lady readers. Beginning next week we will print each week until Christmas articles telling how to make useful and appropriate Christmas gifts. The articles will be illustrated and are suggestions for pretty things for young ladies to give their beaux, girl friends and grandmother, etc. Every one of the gifts can be easily made and will greatly aid you in solving the Christmas gift problem. Watch for it next week. These are only two of the many features we give our subscribers, besides printing more general, state and Pickens county news than any other paper. The Sentinel is the best value for the money in Pickens county and no family in this county should do without it.

The Newspaper Situation

The South Carolina Press Association, at a meeting held in Columbia Friday morning, October 27, decided to issue the following statement:

"To the Advertising Patrons and Readers of Newspapers in South Carolina: The Press Association of this state wishes to bring to the attention of the advertising patrons, readers and friends of the press the serious situation confronting the publishers at this time and point out some facts that we feel should be communicated to you in our attempt to meet conditions that have been thrust upon us. We do this after giving the matter careful consideration, and finding ourselves powerless at this time to take any other steps whereby the newspapers may be continued, and feeling that we are acting both for the good of the patrons and publishers of the papers.

News paper in the past eight months has advanced from $43 per ton until at the present time it is quoted at $130 per ton and almost unobtainable at that price, some wholesale paper houses having none to offer at all and some of the mills refusing to take on any new contracts. There may be slight excuse or ample excuse for the advance in prices on us, but the fact remains that we are paying from 50 to 500 per cent more for paper stocks, ink, metal, type and things that are used in the publishing business than we were eight months ago.

The only thing that will save the newspapers of South Carolina is the advancing of advertising and subscription rates. Some of the larger dailies have already made advances in both. The small dailies and weeklies will have to do likewise or go out of business, and we ask you, in the interest of a free press and the best interests of yourself, community and state at large, to meet these advances cheerfully and to cooperate in every manner possible.

"Paper-makers insist that there must be a curtailment of the demand upon them; that they are working three shifts a day, and at this season of the year, when they should be accumulating a reserve stock, they cannot supply the demand. Large publishers are trying to meet the suggestion of the paper-makers by cutting down their papers and economizing, and the commission appointed by congress, after investigating the situation, are alarmed, but so far have been unable to offer any suggestion that will in any way relieve the matter. Small papers have had no opportunity to economize, as they only buy just what they are obliged to use, and under the existing conditions few newspapers can exist long unless they find some immediate remedy, and the only remedy at this time is an advance in the rate of both advertising and subscriptions. No matter how much a publisher may dislike to do this, it is his only salvation if he continues in business and continues to be of service to his advertising patrons and subscribers.

"We have confidence in the patrons of the various papers throughout South Carolina and believe that they will stand by them and co-operate in any manner possible to keep them going until there can be a readjustment. And in conclusion we call on all persons who believe in the mission of a free press to cooperate with us in adjusting our business to these new and unheard of conditions, so that we can continue to serve you.

"The South Carolina Press Association."

Smith-Barr

A wedding of unusual interest in Easley, on account of the prominence of the contracting parties, was that of Miss Sara Smith and Mr. Harold Barr, which took place in the Easley Presbyterian church Tuesday, November 7, Rev. C. D. Walker performing the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ches Smith, a graduate of Converse college and a young lady of unusual accomplishments and fascination. The bridegroom is a prominent business man of Easley, being a member of the firm of Barr Bros. Both have numerous friends who wish for them a long, happy and useful life.

Pickens Boy Weds in North

The following announcement will be read with much interest in this county, as the bridegroom is well known here, being a son of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Seaborn of near Pickens:

Mrs. George H. Wright announces the marriage of her daughter Harriet Louise Wilkinson to Mr. Garland Berte Seaborn on Sunday, November the fifth one thousand nine hundred and sixteen Providence, Rhode Island.

Bagwell-Traynham

Miss Mae Bagwell and Mr. Frank Traynham were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bagwell, at Easley, Sunday afternoon, November 5. Rev. Eddie Welch of Greenville performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Traynham of Dacusville. The happy young couple have many friends who wish for them all the good things of life.

Bazaar at Mauldin School

A bazaar will be held at Mauldin school house Saturday, November 18, from 3 to 9 o'clock, under the auspices of the Mauldin Home Demonstration club. In addition to the many beautiful prizes of fancy work, etc., to be sold there will be many good things served to eat, among which will be oysters, hot coffee and cake. Everybody is urged to come. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the school.

Local and Personal

Five notices of clerk's sales appear in The Sentinel today. Read them and find out what is going to be sold here next salesday.

Guy Durham, son of W. H. Durham, one of the senior Clemson boys, spent last week-end with the family of his uncle, R. F. Herd.

T. G. Lynch and son Kermit of Crow Creek were in town Friday. Kermit is a namesake of Kermit Roosevelt, son of our ex-president.

J. W. Hendricks is going to give a $25 kitchen cabinet to some one of his customers soon. Read his new advertisement in the paper today.

Our Special Notice Column is especially interesting this week. If you want to buy or sell anything be sure to read it. It may save you some money.

8,656 bales of cotton were ginned in Pickens county this season up to November 1. At the same time last year 8,257 bales had been ginned in this county.

D. W. Cantrell, a good farmer of route 3, and son Walter were in town on business one day last week. While here they paid The Sentinel a pleasant visit.

The Keowee Courier says that George Matheson, who lives in the mountain section of Oconee county, made $300 off of three-quarters of an acre planted in cabbage this year.

A communication from Joel H. Miller was crowded out this week by other articles which were already in type when his article was received. It will appear next week.

Charlie Gantt of Liberty route 3 finished sowing wheat last week. Old Charlie says he believes in sowing wheat and making plenty bread, raise a big crowd of boys and stay in bed.

Evans Nicholson, a good farmer and citizen of Liberty route 2, was at the county seat on business Saturday. Mr. Nicholson suffered quite a severe and protracted case of sickness last year, but has about regained his normal health.

B. A. Cassell, a confederate veteran and one of our good subscribers who lives on route 5, dropped in our office Monday to renew his subscription and tell us he couldn't do without The Sentinel. We were glad to have him call.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Durham and children, Estelle and Doyle, spent last week with the family of Mr. Durham's brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Herd, and other relatives. Mr. Durham is manager of the Belton power plant near Honea Path.

Miss Elizabeth Mauldin, home demonstration agent, will hold the following meetings during the week: A meeting of the Easley Bread Club will be held Monday; Thursday a meeting of the Reunion Home Demonstration club; Friday a meeting of the Oolenoy Bread club and home Demonstration club.

Business continues good in Pickens. The people of the surrounding country are finding out more than ever that it pays to buy in Pickens. Pickens merchants are not the transient kind, here today and gone tomorrow, but are here all the time and they couldn't afford to treat you other than right even if they wanted to.

W. T. Bates has sold the house and part of the farm near Pickens which he purchased about a year ago from Mr. Robt. Stewart. The purchaser is Mr. Ed Craig of the Keowee side and he expects to move to his new home about January 1st. Mr. Bates will begin at once the erection of a dwelling house across the road from the house he just sold and will move into it as soon as completed.

Rev. T. E. Durham of Easley was a business visitor to Walhalla last Wednesday. He was accompanied by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma Whitmire, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Wright, of Columbia. Mrs. Wright is now visiting her mother and sister at Easley. Several years ago Mr. Durham claimed Miss Hassie Whitmire as a bride. Mr. Durham has been in the Baptist ministry several years. At present he is a senior student at the Six Mile Baptist academy.

Stephen C. O'Dell, a very pleasant gentleman from New York city, who is visiting relatives in the county at present, was a visitor in the city Tuesday. Mr. O'Dell is a brother of Senator W. T. O'Dell of this county. He has been residing in New York for nearly fifty years. He went there in 1867 from Atlanta, Ga., where he was in business at the time. He came to this city with his cousin, E. E. Mauldin, at whose home he is stopping at present.—Easley Progress.

Claud Hester advertised in last week's Sentinel for a lost automobile license number. Monday R. G. Medlin, who lives near Mountain Grove church, was kind enough to bring the number in. B. M. Smith also advertised some corn, fodder, oats and hay for sale last week and Monday came in to tell us to please not advertise the corn any more, as he had sold it out as a result of the advertisement. The only reason we didn't week was because it had fallen in a ditch, broken its leg and was dead before the paper came out.

Getting The Election News

When it became known here Thursday night that President Wilson had been re-elected for sure there was no little excitement and those who were up town celebrated in right royal style. Bonfires were lighted, bells were rung and whistles blown and those who had gone to sleep were awakened to hear the glad tidings. The Pickens Drug Co. was headquarters for election news and a large and enthusiastic crowd heard the first returns there Tuesday night. All day Wednesday a crowd was around the store anxious to hear something definite, but the returns were slow coming in. Wednesday night the crowd again gathered to hear the latest returns, but could only hear that Wilson was leading and that California, Minnesota and New Mexico would decide the election. First one candidate and then the other was reported ahead and one time it was reported that they were tied with only New Mexico to hear from. Telegrams were sent to New York, and Atlanta, Charlotte, Columbia and Greenville were talked by telephone, but the reports from each place was the same. But Thursday news came which indicated that Wilson was re-elected for sure and there was great rejoicing (and a little mourning) in Pickens.

We might say here that The Sentinel was the only paper coming to Pickens Wednesday which announced that President Wilson was leading and would likely be re-elected. Wednesday's daily papers received here from Atlanta, Greenville, Spartanburg, Columbia and Charleston all announced that Hughes was elected. The Sentinel was in the postoffice before these papers got here and announced that the President was leading and would likely be re-elected which proved correct. Sentinel subscribers who got their papers Wednesday got the first and most accurate news of the election printed in South Carolina.
