The Thursday Afternoon Bridge club had as its business last week Mrs. Mack Christopher. The spacious porch was a cool and inviting spot with lovely dahlias and pot plants. Punch was served to the guests on entering and a delightful ice course at the close of the games.

The county tax books are still open and remain so until September 1. Executions, however, have been written up and will be turned over to sheriff for collection September 1. Taxes collected by the sheriff will carry considerable more penalty than if paid in the treasurer's office by September 1.

The large concourse of people who were at the Baptist church on last Sunday night enjoyed the address given by Hon. J. P. Carey, Jr., from start to finish. He took for his subject, "Do Better," and opened it by reading the story of the Prodigal Son. He gave good sound advice to all, particularly the young men and women admonishing them to refrain from being disobedient to God and parents. He warned them against getting money and using it for self, and cited instances of crime caused thru evil companionship and urged all to live for God.

A PRETTY PARTY

The younger set of this and the neighboring towns had a very enjoyable party at the beautiful home of Mrs. M. C. Smith on Monday evening. Unique invitations had been sent out three or four days previous reading thus:

"Come to my home August 7. Come dressed as a child 10 or 11. The bare-foot trail of yester-year. That leads to lands we knew so well And in our childhood held so dear."

Theo and Nell Smith.

On the front door was this placard. "This way to the nursery—take your imagination with you." The young children were met at the door by a nurse who tied a placard bearing the child's name around his neck. They engaged in games suitable to their ages. Little Elinor Beags from Liberty was winner of one prize, Frank Smith from the same place another, and James Partridge the third. Jennie Jones from Liberty played on the piano and delicious ice cream cones were served to the delighted little (?) folks.

Their mothers did not like for them to be out too late, so Mrs. Smith sent them home at twelve o'clock.

MARRIAGE

A marriage that was a complete surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties took place at the residence of the officiating officer near Catechee on Saturday, July 29th about 8 p. m., when Mr. DeForest Satterfield and Miss Julia James were united on the holy bonds of wedlock by J. Alenzo Brown, N. P.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Satterfield of Central and holds a responsible position in said town, while his bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. W. C. James of Central, who lost his wife some time ago. The bride is a lovely young girl and we predict for the happy young couple a bright future.

May peace, happiness and prosperity be theirs is the wish of the writer.

MID SUMMER SUGGESTIONS

As the summer season advances we all hesitate to buy expensive things that we will only be able to use for a short time, and then put it aside for another season. To help our customers out in getting such articles as they want we are making special prices on voils, organdies and any dress goods.
