LOCAL.

THE DELINEATOR can be subscribed for through us without extra charge. Simmons Bros.

Among the prominent and most popular of all the delegates is Col. John H. Wharton, Clerk of Court of Laurens. Col. Wharton has been president of his county Alliance and is probably the strongest politician in the county. He was for several terms a member of the Legislature and was solicited to be a candidate for Congress this year but declined. Col. Wharton is one of the original and consistent Tillmanites of his county but is generally esteemed regardless of political affiliation. He has never been defeated for anything in Laurens—Columbia Journal.

Dr. J. H. Witherspoon, of York, was in our city and spent some time recently upon a beautiful mission. In our cemetery lie the remains of the mother and father, brothers and sisters, of his wife, Mrs. Phoebe Williams Witherspoon, daughter of the late Col. John D. Williams an honored citizen of Laurens. Mrs. Witherspoon and Dr. Witherspoon have long cherished the purpose of properly marking and distinguishing the resting places of these beloved members of Mrs. Witherspoon's family. Appropriate shafts and tablets in exquisite marble mark the spots where repose these loving dead. The inscriptions are in admirable taste and artistically done. These monuments mark the resting places of the following members of the family: Mrs. Phoebe C. Williams, the mother of Mrs. Witherspoon; Col. John D. Williams, her father; the following sisters and brothers: Mary E., wife of Prof. Robert Garrison; Lucy M. Williams; Sarah R. Williams; James W. Williams; Carolina Kitturah Williams; Capt. W. Albert Williams. Capt. Albert Williams fell a young hero at Chancellorsville, commanding a company in the 1st South Carolina Regiment, Kershaw's Brigade.

EDITOR LAURENS ADVERTISER:

DEAR SIR:—Allow me through the medium of your most valuable paper to express my thanks and gratitude to Mr. John Albert, representative of the Kentucky Life Insurance Company, of Louisville, Ky., for the prompt payment of three thousand dollars on the death of my late husband. My husband, James H. Albert, was in this Company for ten or twelve years as also Mr. W. L. Boyd who can endorse it as being the Company to get good reliable insurance. I am, Sir, Hoping Mr. Albert will meet with the success his company so justly merits from insurance public.

I remain respectfully,
MARY A. FIFE.

In Memoriam.

To the memory of Mrs. Susan L. Leaman, daughter of William and Mary Waldron, and wife of John Leaman. She was born on the 4th of August, 1839, joined the Baptist church at Beaverton, in Laurens county, in the summer of 1862, married Major Samuel Leaman on the 31st of May, 1865, and died on the 18th of April, 1894. A few words have sufficed to indicate the outward features of a human life, the outward world takes cognizance—born, converted, married, died. Within these words was the beginning and ending of a real, genuine, human, abounding in domestic, social and christian influences pervading the household and stretching far into the community. Who is adequate to the portrayal of such a life? Who can picture the life outward development of a true, womanly life in the close and tender relations of friend, neighbor, wife and mother? The sudden passing away of the outward development from her sphere of duty and quiet ministrations is always a loss—a loss to the community, and an intense, a sorrowful loss to the household. The writer can deeply sympathize with the bereaved husband. One of the fittest objects of our christian sympathy is the man, a friend in the "valley of life," who is called upon to survive daily under the pressure of increasing infirmities with the grief occasioned by the death of a good christian, helpful wife. May the abounding sympathy of God reach the desolate husband to the loss he feels in his great bereavement. The five children who enjoyed her full maternal care from infancy and who owe to her mother, her womanly faith and her patient work that they have stronger characters and better opportunities. Have a legacy in the remembrance of that devoted life which was daily devoted to the service of God and the world. "Let alone."

The Laurens delegation to the suggesting convention returned on Friday morning. Every delegate appointed was at his post. They performed their duty in a most efficient manner and returned home with the happy feeling of gentlemen who have discharged a states-manlike office.

Warren Richardson, a colored man, was killed by an incoming train on the Spartanburg branch of the P. R. & W. R. R. on Friday last. The man, it appears, was on the track, and the train coming through a cut and out of a curve was not seen by the engineer. His legs were broken and four ribs broken on his left side. He lived but for a short while. Some ten minutes previous to the accident the man passed up the road. Richardson had attended a religious service the previous night until 1 o'clock and it is supposed sat down upon the cross ties and was in a half sleep when struck. Coroner Sloan held an inquest on Saturday, the verdict was accidental killing.

The Sunday School Picnic at Ora.

The Church at Ora has been the scene of many spectacular effects, but never has its history been so beautiful as it was last Thursday when decorated, in which to celebrate the A. R. P. Sunday School picnic.

The picnic was most covered with flowers, with just enough white and green among them to bring out their many brilliant colors. Growing plants were prominent, and just enough flowers to bloom to form a pleasing contrast. This decoration was all the work of woman's soft touch.

A very interesting program had been arranged, consisting of music, speeches and dinner, and when there is such a combination of good things, it is difficult to find the superlative degree. Capt. W. A. McClintock, ever ready in any, and all emergencies to do his duty, came forward with ecclesiastical dignity to preside and to deliver the opening address, this address added new laurels to his reputation, he took for his subject the A. R. P. Sabbath School here for the last half century. These people appreciate his long continued service and interest in the Sunday School, being identified first as pupil, later on for many years as teacher, and confidently expected a good address, and it was the unanimous opinion of the large audience that added much to the pleasure and profit of the day.

Then came an anthem by the choir which was sung in admirable style with much spirit and effect. The whole program was interspersed with the "sweet songs of David," and while we enjoyed all, our selection was unusually beautiful, that of the choir, "The sweet songs of David," praise. The song seemed to become a sighing wind and the voices so blended that each was lost in the other, all making a symphony, rising, falling, swelling, diminishing chord, which almost made the listeners imagine themselves in some forest of pines where the wind was playing an Eolian harp among the boughs of the trees.

The next speaker, Mr. R. P. Blakely came forward and was introduced, he had chosen for his subject "Kindness." Next Mr. W. A. Blakely gave us his ideas on "Thought." Then Prof. W. M. Bryson told us what possibilities are in "Gospel Truth." Rev. Mr. Ayer closed our exercises by a prayer to form "Habits." They were young men of fine and impressive appearance, who expressed themselves clearly and gracefully, admirable in their simplicity and each spoke in such a manner as to hold the attention and interest of the audience, eliciting the warmest approval by unceasing almost a hearty applause as if they had been a pretty girl—pretty girls being a variety of the human family, who have the advantage of being everywhere and always, especially at picnics—now followed a whirlwind of congratulations on the dinner, a perfect report on the service, the experienced hands but seasoned with the essence of matured and polished experience so necessary to please the fastidious palate, and possessed that prime essential of every joyous feast—a whole-souled cordial welcome. Yes, welcome to our social board, "our feast of reason and of the flow of soul." There is now a strong disposition to demand a repetition next Summer.

The success of this picnic is largely due to the untiring effort of Mr. W. A. Blakely, the retiring Superintendent, and we thought a rising vote of thanks should have been tendered him.

Attending picnics and eating water-melons is the order of the day.

The annual masonic picnic took place at Palace Lodge on the 10th inst.; which to say the least was the most enjoyable occasion we have attended this season. A large concourse of people was present, and seemed to enjoy themselves beyond measure.

In the A. M. several ladies joined the lodge, taking the "Eastern star degree" which was conferred by Mr. Bellenger of Greenville.

This feature of the exercises was done privately, being conducted at the lodge.

At 10 P. M. a bountiful repast was spread by the generous ladies of this neighborhood.

After the dinner was ended and the fragments taken up, Capt. Macmillan, a mason ever faithful to his trust, introduced the silver tongued orator Stanyan Wilson of Spartanburg, who in his pleasing and accustomed way interested his audience with a speech on masonry.

Mr. Wilson having ended his speech the chairman next introduced Mr. Bellenger, a brother mason who poured forth a broad stream of eloquence in the way of a masonic address, after which the crowd was dismissed by the chairman.

Mr. J. L. Power and sister of Barksdale, visited the family of Mr. F. B. Martin last week.

Mr. John A. Madden and family of Madden station visited Mr. F. H. Higgin's family a few days ago.

Mr. John Owings and sister of Power, relatives in this neighborhood recently.

Mr. W. Booth Knight of Graycourt has charge of the school at Friendship. Bramlette's Church will hold a picnic. Health of the community is very good.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease it is not cured by a local application of medicine. It is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces in the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The product of this cure is a small, safe, and reliable remedy for all cases of Catarrh. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: J. P. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
