We want a government without corruption; a Congress without price; and a Judiciary without politics. --- B. GRATZ BROWN.

STATE TICKET.

- For Governor: FRANKLIN J. MOSES JR. Lieutenant Governor: R. H. GLEAVES. Attorney General: SAMUEL W. MELTON. Secretary of State: HENRY E. HAYNE. State Treasurer: FRANCIS L. CARDOZO. Comptroller General: SOLOMON L. HOGE. Superintendent of Education: JUSTUS K. JILLSON, of Richland. Adjutant and Inspector General: HENRY W. PURVIS. Congressman, State at Large: R. H. CAIN, of Charleston.

OUR POSITION.

On the 16th of October next, the people of South Carolina will be called upon to elect a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and the other various State officers.

The Democratic party has decided to put no State ticket in the field, and therefore leaves its members the only alternative of supporting whichever of the Republican factions gives the best assurances of reform.

The election is now near at hand, and we must speedily make up our minds. It seldom happens that two things are so exactly alike, that we cannot find any point of difference or preference, and so in the two Republican tickets which have been put forward, it is not likely that the degree of criminality on each side is so equal, that we cannot decide between them.

However bad both may be, it is very certain that one must be better than the other, and if there is to be no other ticket in the field, it is very plainly our duty to vote for the best, and thereby, if possible, prevent the election of the worst.

We shall therefore as men, indulge no longer in idle dreams of political perfection, especially in this State, but grappling practically with the stern realities which we find before us, endeavor to work out that which will bring the most good under the circumstances to an oppressed and distracted people.

Let us then weigh carefully the two tickets, and laying aside whims and prejudices, decide between them with an eye single to the public good.

As to the individual record of the two Candidates, Moses and Tomlinson, there may seem but little difference, both being assailed with the gravest charges. Tomlinson, however, labors under the decided disadvantage of being of the same carpet bag persuasion as Scott, the present incumbent, whose administration has plunged the State into wholesale corruption, and pecuniary embarrassment. With this evil staring us in the face, it is natural that we should dread its repetition and look for a change.

Moses, though we cannot endorse his political views, is a native of this State; owns considerable property here and from self interest, if from nothing else, would be most apt to act for the good of those with whom he is identified.

As to the platform, the pledges given by the Regulars are far more decided and binding.

The Bolters too have spurned Democratic aid, and publicly proclaimed that they desired none of their assistance, while the Regulars have acted quite differently.

And lastly, as to the character of the men composing the two Conventions, and supporting and advocating the separate tickets, there is a marked difference.

We have only to mention that on the side of the Bolters, we find the names of B. F. Whittemore and C. C. Bowen, the mere recital of whose record would falsify the best of promises and damn the purest cause.

Nor can we expect anything good to come from such men as Orr and Corbin, the former being notorious all his life for jumping from side to side as interest dictated, and both of them standing with folded arms while Carpenter was nobly exposing the very crimes which they now admit, and must then have known.

Conceiving it to be the duty of the Press to unravel the political knot, which has been placed before the public we have thus honestly applied ourselves to the task, and laying aside prejudice, we have been driven by the lights before us, to give our decided preference to the ticket headed by F. J. Moses.

THE REPUBLICAN MEETING ON SATURDAY.

The meeting of the Regular faction of the Republican party, which was held here on Saturday was small but very enthusiastic for Moses.

The colored people seem to have lost their relish for political gatherings. T. H. Cook Esq, the first speaker, evidently expected a big crowd, and prepared his speech accordingly.

Mr. Cook now turned to national politics, and made one the best Greeley speeches we have heard during the campaign, although he could not have meant it, because it is said that he is a Grant man.

Byas was next called upon, but excused himself, as he was not in sympathy with the meeting; stating that the other side of the question would be discussed on the 21st.

S. L. Hoge, was the next speaker. He was much more conservative than usual.

Butts, the Regular candidate for Solicitor, spoke next. He was very conciliatory in his tone.

J. Felder Meyers was the next speaker, and although we could not hear on account of the inattention, we suppose he must have made a good speech, as he requested his hearers NOT TO CHEER HIM.

John Phillips, the Tim Hurley of Orangeburg, (minus the money) next amused the people with his quaint sayings, and native wit.

After other speeches by Danelly, Jamison and Humbert, the meeting adjourned, the wind and tide being decidedly in favor of the Moses Ticket.

Resolutions ratifying the whole Moses ticket were adopted.

Mr. Editor: There is a law of recent enactment in our town, prohibiting cursing and the use of indecent language in our streets. Since the ordinance prohibiting this nuisance passed Council, there has been no abatement of these disgusting expressions, but they have been if anything more freely indulged in. Now unless our city fathers enforce the laws they pass, it is useless to have them on the statute books of the town. Our town is hoggyish enough, without this nuisance, and if we are obliged to submit to either of the two, let it be the hogs, for they cannot offend the ear by the use of profane, vulgar and obscene language.

Will not our city fathers look to this matter and enforce the law at all hazards! If there were none but men inhabiting our town, there would not be as strong grounds for complaint, but as ladies form no inconsiderable portion of our inhabitants, (and in this matter their feelings should be considered,) it is not very pleasant for them to hear oaths and language the most obscene, when they are passing along our streets. If our city fathers will consider the matter in this light, they will take more notice of this grievance, and will see that this increasing and abominable nuisance is abated.

ORDER.

Mr. Tomlinson is supposed to be a better man than Mr. Moses, but the people repose no confidence in the man who surrounds him and who are the real leaders of the movement. The Bolters could have nominated a ticket worthy of general support; they did not do it. Upon all sides it is agreed that the Tomlinson faction are far more interested in saving the heads of the Federal officials in this State than in reforming its government. This is the only interpretation which can be put upon their taunting warning that, if the Conservatives should nominate a State ticket, the virtuous Bolters would return to the fold, and let the Conservatives bear the blame of all the evils which might befall the people. The Moses faction are equally unworthy of confidence. There is, however, the faint hope that the few upright men who publicly support the ticket will, for their own sake, compel Mr. Moses, if elected, to walk steadily in the path of personal and official reform. THE ONE SUFFICIENT REASON.—The one fact without reference to anything else, that Mr. Greeley is in favor of ridding the South of the carpet-baggers and detectives, and of bayonet rule, and of restoring us to equal rights in the Union, should induce every Southern man to prefer him to General Grant. This is a practical matter, which comes home to the bosom of us all. With Grant and his kings, despotism would usurp the place of liberty, and the future of the South would be one of despair. With Greeley, the Republic would have a chance to breathe once more, and the Southern States might indulge the hope of regaining some of their lost prosperity. [Richmond Whig.

Sad and sorrowful are the children of the drunkard, abused and sometimes deserted by their inebriated parents—cold and hungry they might endure, but to have the love of parents turned into hate is more than their fragile forms can stand. It blights the blossom of their life ere it is blown, and sends them through life, if not early to the grave, withered in hopes and prospects like some early flower by the frost and cut down.

Alcohol is the only substance in the world that can extinguish paternal affection, and this dehumanizing agent men are licensed to peddle out to those who have dependent little ones.

Ashines praised Philip of Macedon as a jovial, free drinker. Demosthenes replied, "That is a good quality in a sponge, but not in a king."

ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS SPOIL THE BRAIN.

No matter whether drunk in large quantities or small, if drunk habitually, the effect is ruinous in proportion to the quantity taken. Not a teaspoonful can be taken once a week, regularly and habitually, without impairing the healthful condition and the functional action of the brain. One spoonful taken into circulation can so hurt the brain that it may not recover from the harm for weeks, though thereafter none be taken. And when alcohol is taken, though in very small quantities, quite frequently and at regular intervals, the brain soon becomes dependent upon it, and will not act without it. Then the process of organic ruin begins. In what way the injury will show itself is not always to be predicted. In many instances it comes in the loss of bodily health. In as many perhaps more instances, it comes in the perversion of the mental faculties. Who drinks alcohol, though in the smallest quantity, till he becomes addicted to it, is hurt in his intellect. His mind can never reason with the clearness, nor can his moral sense back up and endorse the decisions of his intellect, with anything like the certainty that would be shown, other things being equal, were the subject abstinent from liquor.

The intellectual, moral and spiritual faculties of man, really constitute those parts of him which ennoble him. To have a body as huge as a giant's without heart or mind to appreciate how to put its vast powers to use would be very unfortunate for any one. Only as the body can be made to execute high purposes, which the mind and spiritual faculties of man have to conceive, can there be any personal benefit or public good arising from having such body.

To drink liquor, therefore, so as to lessen the clearness of one's perceptions, the profoundness of one's reflections, the comprehensive insight into things which his spiritual faculties alone can confer, is to be very unhappily related to life and to its large and useful results.

The use of alcoholic liquors, even in moderate quantities, is, therefore, very much to be deplored because of the ruinous effects which are observable upon all persons who are addicted to the habit.

Will all the young men who desire to have large capacity for business, clear insight into truth, a degree of self-respect which shall induce respect from their fellows, a power to take in truth and work it out into practical forms, put away forever the use of every form of beverage wherein there is a particle of alcohol?—James C.
