The Late Rev. Stiles Mellichamp.

The subject of this brief sketch, so well and favorably known to us in this community, and whose death we so deeply deplore, was a son of St. Lo Mellichamp, a Revolutionary patriot, whose life has been enlarged upon by Gilmore's Memoirs.

The Rev. Mr. Mellichamp commenced life as a teacher in the Grammar school of the Charleston College. From thence he was called to a more advantageous position in Gillisonville. About this time he studied the ministry, and was ordained an Episcopal clergyman.

For many years before the war he taught and preached at James Island, where he had established for himself a comfortable home, from which he was driven by the war to Orangeburg, where he has, until his death, been faithfully performing his duties as a minister of the Gospel.

It is sad to record that his old parishioners, as an inducement for him to return to his home on James Island, which had been completely devastated during the war, had just completed for him a neat cottage on the island, where he intended to spend the remainder of his days.

But an all-wise Providence has ordered otherwise. His funeral obsequies were performed in this town on Friday, October 28, by Rev. John Johnson, Rector of St. Philip's, Charleston; and among those who followed his body in sorrow to the grave were to be seen many of our oldest and most esteemed citizens.

It is useless for us to attempt a word of Mr. Mellichamp by way of eulogy. He was widely known as a man of Christian and classical attainments, of kind and genial disposition, and of fearless and unswerving adherence to the mandates of duty.

The only solace we find in his death is the assurance that "our loss is his eternal gain."

THE FAIR.

Our County Fair is in full blast having opened yesterday. The ladies department is exceedingly, pretty full and commendable, both in needle work and culinary art. The farmers department is also good with regard to field products and poultry, but the show of Stock is not a full one, though what we have seen is fine, of hogs, sheep, horses and cows.

Personal.

In our last issue we unintentionally did an injustice to Trial Justice A. F. Browning. Our fault was in taking an exparte statement at all.

Upon seeing our remarks referred to, Mr. Browning asked that we make inquiry; and this we found to be the real state of the case:

The remarks made by the woman were not of an abusive nature, and Mr. Demars' conduct was such as to satisfy the jury, five of whom were white men, that it was an assault. Mr. Browning's charge to the jury was fair and unbiased, and his fine of one dollar was virtually, merely nominal, as also was the tentative imprisonment. The costs, which were eleven dollars, went, four to the County and seven to the constable, who was employed as he would have been in any other case by any other magistrate.

F. DEMARS, P. M.

The Rev. E. M. Schultz, the young and devoted missionary of the House of Industry in the Five Points of New York, a very hopeless mission field, during the last three years has induced 110 hard drinkers to sign the temperance pledge, has persuaded 53 degraded women to abandon their lives of shame, has founded city or country homes for 1,585 homeless children and adults, and furnished employment for nearly 1,000 needy persons, whose aggregate wages now exceed $15,000 a month.

A Chicago merchant advertised recently "a boy wanted," before he got down town his clerk met him breathless, and told him that his wife had twin boys. It pays to advertise.

The price of coal has again advanced. The mining companies of Belgium are not able to execute the orders they have received in consequence of the scarcity of miners in that country.

The Presbyterian Church, South, has 34 Foreign missionaries. The annual expenses are $60,000. North Carolina less than any other State.

A Town Hall, which the people of Barnwell have so long felt the need of, we are pleased to state, is in a fair way of being built.—Journal.

ORANGEBURG ACADEMY.

The generous patronage, and growing favor, which this Academy has received, since its formation, has afforded great encouragement to the undersigned, and convinced them that industry and application on their part, is all that is now necessary to render a permanent success, what heretofore may have been regarded as an experiment.

They set out with the determination to supply fully the educational wants of the community, and to the accomplishment of this end, they now renew their promise to devote all their energies and abilities. All the latest improvements in textbooks, modes of instruction, mechanical appliances and discipline, will be carefully discussed and judiciously introduced. No pains will be spared to make the ORANGEBURG ACADEMY rank favorably with the best in the State or elsewhere.

Boys will be prepared for College or business, and young ladies given a finished course of instruction.

The male and female departments are kept strictly separated, except during recitations.

Pupils can enter at any time, and those living at a distance will be furnished with reasonable board in good families.

THE SINGER STILL TRIUMPHANT!

WITH ATTACHMENTS FOR ALL KINDS OF WORK is fast winning favor in the household, as shown by the rapidly increasing sales. This NEW FAMILY SEWING MACHINE is capable of a range and variety of work such as was once thought impossible to perform by machinery. We claim and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely adjusted, easily operated, and smooth running of all the Family Sewing Machines. It is remarkable not only for the range and variety of its sewing, but also for the variety and different kinds of fabrics which it will sew with equal facility and perfection, using silk, cotton, linen or cotton thread, fine or coarse, and the interlocked-elastic-stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewn. Thus heavy cloth, or leather may be sewn with great strength and uniformity of stitch; and, in a fibrous material, this willing and never weary instrument may be adjusted for fine work or gauze or muslin, or the tacking of tartan, or flannel, or almost any other work, which delicate fingers have been known to perform. At the world's fair it received the grand award of the highest sales.
