Notes.

Mr. O'Connor has introduced a bill in the House to repeal the act creating the board of commissioners of the Freedman's Bank.

A divorce was recently granted by one of the courts in Indiana, where the only allegation against the defendant was that he had cold feet!

Twenty years have softened many animosities, and South Carolina invites Rhode Island to join in the centennial celebration of the battle of the Cowpens. So mote it be.

Robert Savage, a colored widower of 45 years, shot Allie Williams a colored girl, and then attempted to commit suicide, in Preble county, O., on Thursday. She had refused to marry him.

Isn't in queer? Oleomargarine to the amount of ninety-eight million pounds per year is disposed of in the United States, and yet you cannot find a store keeper who will admit that he has it in stock!

One of the Editors of the San Francisco Chronicle, Chas De Young, was shot and killed by J. M. Killoch, a son of the Mayor of that city, whilst attending to his duties in the office. The murderer was arrested and lodged in jail.

The Clarendon Press has placed under its editorial head the names of Thomas Francis Bayard for President, and John L. Manning for Governor, and promises to keep them there until the respective conventions decide who are to be our leaders.

It takes many columns to hold the rejoicings of the Cincinnati Gazette over Tilden's so-called triumph in New York. All the Republican papers are happy over any indication that the machine may be able to force Tilden's nomination.

A defaulting county treasurer in Iowa excused his conduct on the ground that he had dreamed he must take $8,000 and buy certain lands and that he was a believer in dreams. He didn't have to dream that he was sent to the State prison.

A wicked contemporary says: "Instead of the 'rag baby' troubling sage senators and our representatives in Congress, it is the real live baby that startles at the threshold and urges attention at every outlet from the halls of assembled wisdom."

It seems to be settled that Kellogg shall keep his seat, not so much on the merits of his case as because several Democratic Senators think his formal seating by a vote of the Senate was a finality, and they prefer principle to party advantage.

"My knowledge of the diplomatic service," said a young Republican last week, "is very slight. I don't know what an 'Envoy Extraordinary' is," but after the Londoners had played poker with General Schenck a few times they must have thought him an extraordinary envoy.

The silent, lonesome-looking man who now and then strays into the Senate chamber and deposits his fishing pole behind the presiding officer's desk is a gentleman named Wheeler. He was in politics some years ago, but of late has taken no active part, except occasionally at party conventions. He is the Lone Fisherman of the Republican party.

Iowa, which is the banner Republican State, shows the worst official corruption of any state in the Union. Of 99 county treasurers, not less than 45 are defaulters. The Governor's private secretary has made off with $70,000 of the people's money; the State treasurer has appropriated $50,000 belonging to the agricultural college, and the assistant State treasurer has also secured several thousand dollars of public moneys.

Hasty words rankle a wound, soft ones dress it. Forgiveness cures it, and forgetfulness removes the scar. It is more noble, continues Quaker, to avoid an injury by silence than to overcome it by argument. So in hearing mysteries, keep thy tongue quiet. Five words spoken cost Zacharias forty weeks of silence. God is forgiving. Michael, a messenger of wrath, comes on one wing, but Gabriel, an angel of peace, on two wings. So runs the Jewish proverb.

Our greatest American soldier, General Winfield Scott, with all the laurels of his brilliant Mexican campaign fresh upon him, was defeated in 1852 for the Presidency by Franklin Pierce, a plain New England village lawyer, but against whose record there was no shadow of blemish. It is true he was a soldier also, but only a "mustang," a volunteer general, and was accused of fainting in his first and only battle. And it is with a civilian that we can now defeat the so-called "greatest general of the day"—such a civilian is Thomas F. Bayard or Horatio Seymour.

The True Policy.

No course seems so clearly indicated as the proper one for the Democratic party of Orangeburg to pursue in the present campaign as the straight-out policy which won the State in 1876 and retained it in 1878. A strict adherence to the same principles is destined to establish Democratic control firmly and permanently in every county of the State at the approaching election. The best men should be selected as candidates for office and with reference only to their fitness for the duties to be required of them and their acceptability to the great body of Democrats proper. The policy prevailing in some sections of the State of running a man because of his availability to the colored people without reference to fitness is ruinous in the first degree. Whilst a few votes may be gained from this quarter, more than enough will be lost in enthusiasm among our own people and in actual injury to the cause to balance any gain we may suppose to accrue from such a course. Good men, who hold the general interest of the government and the welfare of the people near at heart, cannot and will not approve such nominations; because it is at variance with every principle which should actuate the intelligent voter and diminishes the dignity of the party without increasing its probabilities of success. Nor will tampering with galvanized Radicals of the last six years manufacture be less endured by those who desire an honest government and mean to work zealously for the success of the Democratic party during the present campaign. Such folly is patent to every thinking mind, because the man who had once dipped his fingers in the Republican pie, or tasted the sweets of plunder and spoil or wallowed in the pool of Radical mire, cannot forget the flesh pots of Egypt or wipe the stains of guilt from his hands. Galvanized as they may be, they are not the pure metal and will corrode by contact with temptation and crime. Better leave them on the stool of repentance at least a century.

The Club Meeting.

One of the best and most encouraging signs of the times is the general rallying of Democrats in and about the town at the club meeting on Tuesday evening, and the unanimity which prevailed during the entire proceeding. The meeting was full—one of the largest we have ever attended. Merchants, whose business engagements are pressing, laid them aside and were out in force; young men, who were actively engaged all day, manifested their appreciation of the importance of the issues involved by a general attendance and active participation in the proceeding; lawyers, even on the threshold of Court week, placed aside their piles of legal papers and devoted themselves to the advancement of the cause; farmers left their homes and their work to encourage and aid their fellow Democrats in devising means and planning for the coming victory; indeed every one that could get out was there, enthusiastic, hopeful and determined to fight it through to the last ditch. So far as we have heard from the country clubs the same prompt attendance and unity of action prevail among the members of the party here as here. This general muster of Democrats all along the line is more than encouraging, and means that our people are politically alive and determined that their best and dearest interest shall not be put to the hazard again without an earnest effort to see their ultimate triumph. The character of the delegations means that there shall be no pandering with principle; but straight-out Democracy must fight the battle and win the victory in the present campaign. It means that rascality must hide its mean head before the march of honesty; that corruption and ignorance must give place to purity and intelligence; and that compromise or bartering with simon pure or galvanized Radicals must not and shall not be swallowed by the Democracy of today, and we are glad it is so.

Third Term.

The Anti-Third Term Convention of the Republican party will meet in St. Louis on the 6th of May next. It is thought that an address will be issued to the Republicans throughout the country, setting forth the dangers that threaten the nation by the election of Gen. Grant for a third term. Whether they will go further and nominate a President is not decided, yet there is a large percentage of the party in favor of any thing and any body rather than Gen. Grant. From the complexion of the Radical delegations thus far elected, South Carolina is not likely to be represented at St. Louis. There are only a few Anti-Third Termers here. Now and then, but few and far between, an honest Republican of independence and more than ordinary political pluck may be met who is outspoken in his opposition to Grant and the Third Term movement. If the Radicals of Orangeburg reflect the general sentiment of the party in the State, to speak against Grant is more than a man would dare to do and call himself a Republican. Ostracism would be the inevitable result, yet there are a few Republicans among us—a few only—who think for themselves and will act for themselves.

The Radical Convention.

On the first page of this week's issue we publish the proceedings of the Radical County Convention, and propose in this article to give expression to the thoughts suggested to our mind by the manner in which these proceedings were conducted and the appearance of the delegates who took an active part in them.

As a matter of course permission was obtained by our reporter to remain within the hall during the session, not, however, without promising that a fair report would be given and no burlesque wantonly indulged in at the expense of the assembled wisdom of the colored race.

By the published list of delegates it will be seen that a majority of the members of this body are the same old party hacks and chronic office-seekers who figured in the days of "good stealing" and political slavery. There were others here it is true, but not of the advanced type of our colored population who are prepared by culture to give tone to a public meeting or character to those they represent. Indeed we were standing by representatives of this class who seemed as thoroughly disgusted with the wild disorder and savage yelling, prevailing very nearly all the time, as any reasonable men could be.

From indications manifesting themselves on every side, we were led to conclude that the power and influence of white leaders, as Boliver and Webster, were on the decline, amounting almost to nothing. This is confirmed by the easy victory achieved by Straker over both these old leaders. The election of J. H. Livingstons as a delegate was due in the main to the very creditable indorsement given him by Straker and not to any personal influence possessed by that gentleman over the colored delegates. The days in the career of white Radicals are numbered in Orangeburg, and for the sake of the negro we are glad of it.

Another noticeable feature in this Convention is the indisputable fact that whilst the colored people have improved, under the four years of Democratic rule, in general appearance and material prosperity, they have not advanced one step in politics. They are the same narrow minded, prejudiced creatures to-day they were eight years ago, when they yielded a slavish obedience to the dictation of unscrupulous leaders and were the willing tools of dishonest aspirants to office. The same disorderly conduct characterizes their political meetings and the greed for office is as universal among them to-day as then. They are not disposed to allow political liberty to any of their color more than is found in the Republican party, and that is slavish enough, heaven knows. A colored Democrat is as much condemned and ostracized by the average colored Radical as he ever was—it amounts, in many cases, to hatred. Political reticence and treachery toward their white neighbors seem still to be a necessary element of Radicalism, especially of the old school, and the only dependence of thought is found among those whose associations bring them in contact with a culture superior to that possessed by political leaders and office seekers. As the party now stands there can be no hope for the country if the control of its government falls again into the hands of the Radicals. The stealing of the past will be increased in a tenfold ratio and will be as unlimited as the ignorance and prejudices of the masses and the dishonesty of their leaders. Experience is no teacher for the negro.

South Carolina Railroad.

The recent report of Receiver Fisher shows this road to be in a most flourishing condition, with its income increasing month by month. Running through a period extending from October 1, 1878, to December 31, 1879, the net earnings of the road amount to the creditable sum of $549,162, with cash on hand amounting to $184,051, and a balance due the road by agents and others of $75,545. This is certainly a most creditable exhibit when the circumstances of the road and the difficulties under which Mr. Fisher labored, are taken into consideration.

FOR CLERK.

Messrs. Editors: I please announce Mr. ROBERT COFFES as a candidate before the Democratic Convention for the office of Clerk of the Court. It is not necessary to say anything in his praise, or of his peculiar fitness for the office. His services to country, state and county are well-known by MANY DEMOCRATS.

DRESS MAKING & C.

The undersigned respectfully informs the public that she is prepared to do all kinds of ladies' and gentlemen's sewing. Patrons solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Dresses made in the latest styles. MRS. E. E. STEELE.

Change of Offices.

Since our last issue we have read the Protest signed by the bar in the matter of changing the Clerk of the Court's office noticed in our last. The bar sets forth the following reasons why the change should not be made, all of which we believe to be just, fair and valid reasons: "It is proposed by the change to furnish the Clerk but a single room for the keeping of Records of the Courts of General Sessions and Common Pleas, embracing the Equity Records besides the Records of the office of Register of Mesne Conveyances (which last of themselves require a room of considerable size and are constantly accumulating.) It will be utterly impracticable for the Clerk to transact the business of the two offices of Clerk and Register, and keep his records arranged conveniently for that constant reference which is made to them in a single room. Besides we are on the eve of a session of the Circuit Court, and the moving of the records at this time, and the consequent confusion will greatly interrupt the members of the bar, and the officers of the Court in their preparation of the business of the term. We therefore protest against any disturbance of the records at this time, and against restricting the Clerk to one room for his official use."

A report to this effect will be made at the next term of the Court, and it is quite likely that the order of Judge Pressley will be recalled and the offices allowed to remain undisturbed.

Republican State Convention.

This august body assembled in the House of Representatives at Columbia, on the 27th instant, and organized by electing E. W. Mackey President. From the News and Courier we learn that the Convention is composed of eighty-two negroes and thirty-six whites. The counties of Lexington and Horry failed to send delegates, and there were some absentees from other counties. Of the negroes nearly one third appear in the fraud committee's report as thieves and bribe-takers, and the white delegates, with scarcely an exception, either are, or have been (and hope to be) Federal officeholders. In addition to the delegates, there is a small army of hangers-on who have swarmed in the lobbies all day. The doughnut stands, which have been conspicuously absent from the State House for some years, reappeared to make the picture complete.

Resolutions pledging the delegates to Grant were adopted without much discussion. Some of the negro members denounced the white Radicals of the State, saying that they had deserted the colored people, and was only seen among them when offices were to be given out. As usual, however, the white members came in for their full share of the honors, as the following list of delegates elected to go to Chicago will show, the first seven of whom are white: D. D. McCall, S. T. Poiner, C. C. Bowen, W. N. Taft, W. M. Fine, E. W. M. Mackey, E. M. Brayton, W. A. Hayne, Wilson Cook, W. J. Whipper, W. F. Myers, C. M. Wilder, R. B. Elliott and Sam Lee. Straker and Webster are among the alternates.

How Watches are Made.

IT will be apparent to any one who will examine a SOLID GOLD WATCH, that aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the precious metal used is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply the necessary solidity and strength. The surplus gold is actually needless so far as UTILITY and beauty are concerned. IN JAMES BOSS' PATENT GOLD WATCH CASES, this waste of precious metal is overcome, and the SAME SOLIDITY AND STRENGTH produced at from one-third to one-half of the usual cost of solid cases. The process is of the most simple nature, as follows: A plate of nickel, or other metal, specially adapted to the purpose, has two plates of SOLID GOLD soldered one on each side. The three are then pressed between polished steel rollers, and the result is a strip of heavy plated composition, from which the cases, bezels, centers, bezels, &c., are cut and shaped by suitable dies and formers. The gold in these cases is sufficiently thick to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving and enamelling; the engraved cases have been carried until worn perfectly smooth by time and use without removing the gold.
