Hancock, who is to manage the Sumter tobacco warehouse this year, is in the city. He is a stirring man, and understands the tobacco business, and we are glad that we are to have him here. Mr. Hancock thinks that Sumter has advantages to make it the leading tobacco market in South Carolina, and he says also that South Carolina is certain to take the lead in growing bright tobacco. Virginia has fallen behind on account of climatic changes and deterioration of soil and so longer holds her place in the tobacco world, while South Carolina tobacco is recognized and sought for as the best to be had.

Candidates Cards.

Hon. Altmont Moses announces today that he will be a candidate in the primary for reelection to the House of Representatives. Hon. D. M. Young is nominated by "Rafting Creek" for reelection to the House of Representatives.

Pardoned.

John Sanders who was at the June 1899 term of court at Sumter, convicted of horse stealing and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, has been pardoned by the Governor. He was at work in the chain gang until taken sick, and has been unable to work lately. On application for pardon Dr. Chiles states that the man is suffering from an incurable disease and that further imprisonment will result in his death. County officials made the same statement.

BURGLARS MAKE A HAUL.

Jenkins' Racket Store Robbed Sunday Morning.

The store of L. W. Jenkins was entered by burglars Sunday morning and a large quantity of goods stolen. The burglars turned everything upside down and scattered goods in all directions. They were careful to make a general assortment, and the appearance of the store indicates that they were not hurried, but took all the time they wanted to pick out just such articles as they wanted. They took jewelry, hats, shoes, fans, toilet soap, socks, stockings, pants, tobacco, can goods, etc., making their selections from all parts of the store, not even the show windows escaping their ravages. Things are so badly mixed up that Mr. Jenkins cannot make a reliable estimate of the amount or value of the goods stolen.

The burglars effected an entrance by breaking the glass transom over the back door and knocking off the iron bars across the opening. They placed two empty boxes against the back door and climbed through the broken transoms. They first made an unsuccessful attempt to enter through the transom over the side door in the rear of the store but after breaking the glass could not break the iron bars. They used a heavy iron bar to break the transom, knocking the iron grating loose from the door frame.

An attempt was also made to break into F. B. Grier's store at the side door opening on Republican street, but it failed, although the bolt at the bottom of the door was broken and the inside of the lock was forced loose from the door. The heavy bar across the door held firm and the burglars gave up the attempt. The marks on the door show plainly that they made a determined effort to force the door and must have made considerable noise. This door is only fifty or sixty feet from Main Street in full view of any one passing the corner of Main and Republican streets, for the electric light at the corner illuminates that part of the street with the brilliancy of the noonday sun. It is supposed that the burglary was committed between 3 and 4 o'clock Sunday morning, for Policeman Weeks says that he inspected the back doors at 3 o'clock and found nothing wrong but shortly after 4 o'clock when he made his round he discovered that Jenkins' store had been entered. Enter Bell and George Davis, both colored, were arrested this morning on suspicion. At a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Wells to-day Bell was discharged and George was sent up to the higher court. He was afterwards released on $300.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to my work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends. It is for sale by Dr. A. J. Chiles.

The second nine base ball team of Sumter left Monday afternoon for Darlington where they played a game yesterday afternoon. From Darlington they went to Florence, where they will play today.

The city of Sumter needs a direct connection with the Seaboard Air Line and the action of the Winesboro people is a blot that Sumter should act on.

The ice cream festival given by the Fourth Regiment Band on the monumental square last Thursday night was a success. All refreshments were disposed of, about $25 being the net receipts. The selections by the band were greatly enjoyed by those present.

The Methodist Sunday School picnic that was to have gone to Cape Savannah Friday, was diverted by the bad weather, and was "pulled off" at the Sumter Tobacco Warehouse. The children are reported to have had a big time down there.

The members of the Fourth Regiment Band request the liege to extend their thanks to those who contributed to the ice cream festival and aided in other ways to make the occasion a success.

Mr. Julian Raffield has completed the census in his district—the eastern half of Providence township—and is ready to send in his report. He worked 17 days and as he lost no time he was able to complete his work well within the month allowed.

The Sumter District Conference of the M. E. Church, South, will meet in this city tomorrow, and about eighty delegates and ministers, who are expected to attend have been provided with homes. The list is published elsewhere.

Will Simmons, the polite and reliable attendant at W. B. Boyle's stable for the past four years, died last Friday. Mr. Boyle says he was one of the most reliable colored men he has ever had in his employ, and he feels his loss greatly. Will carried too keys and was depended on to look after much of Mr. Boyle's work.

Mr. L. J. Myers, who farms near town, brought in a load of watermelons Saturday, first home raised of this season. Georgia and Florida melons have been in our market for several days, but Mr. Myers' is the earliest that we know of that were raised in this vicinity.

Sumter Postoffice Raised From Third to Second Class.

On July 1st the Sumter postoffice will take position in the postoffice department as a second class office.

This change is made on account of the amount of business done in the office—$8,000 or over being the requirement for a second class position. There are not many offices in this State in the second class and we are glad to note the fact that Sumter is putting forth substantial evidence of her growth and claim to rank among the leading places of the State. We also congratulate Mrs. Whittemore on the change, as it must of course mean some increase in her pay.

Train Wreck at Summerton

The log train of the Lufkin Lumber Co. was wrecked at Summerton Wednesday. The accident was caused by an open switch which had been tampered with by some unknown person. The switch had not been used for a long time and it is supposed that some malicious person threw it open on the previous night and when the log train came along it caught heading into the trap. The track was torn up for some distance, the train derailed and a number of the trucks were wrecked. None of the train hands were injured.

The Cow Case Rounded Up.

Percy Miller, the cow trader, was captured in Orangeburg Wednesday, and was brought to this city on Thursday by an officer who went to Orangeburg for him.

Mr. S. E. Melton the owner of the cattle together with his brother and the man who helped bring the cattle here, were also in the city awaiting Miller's arrival.

Mr. Melton says that Miller went to see him representing that he was buying cattle for Mr. W. B. Boyle, and offered $48 for three head that he showed him. The cattle were sent here in charge of Mr. Melton's brother and a negro man with instructions to carry them back home if Mr. Boyle did not pay the $48 for them. Miller met the men in charge of the cattle, and directed them to Harby's lot where the cattle were put up or pay for them. Miller claimed that he paid the negro for the cattle, and finding that he had lost money, he took the offer of $40 from Mr. McMaus and sold him the cattle.

Mr. Wolf, a lawyer from Orangeburg, arrived on the Augusta train Thursday afternoon and succeeded in effecting a settlement satisfactory to all parties. Miller's uncle, who lives at Springfield, Orangeburg County, interceded in his behalf and agreed to pay the costs, and on the plea of Miller's youth—being scarcely a man, and this being his first offence, he begged that the prosecution be stopped.

Mr. McMaus received his $40, and the cattle were turned over to Mr. Melton, which satisfied them; and Miller drew a check on his uncle for the costs, and the check being endorsed by Mr. Wolf, Miller was released from custody.

Lewis Larkins Captured

Lewis Larkins, who has been evading arrest for some time, and for whom a reward was advertised by the Governor, on account of his assault upon Stephen Bradford, was captured Monday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Gaillard and is now in jail. It was learned that he was at the house of March Dick on the western suburbs of the city, and Mr. Gaillard immediately got a buggy and with Mr. Dr. J. H. Moore went out after him. Mr. Gaillard approached the house from the rear, and before Larkins knew it he was upon him. The capture was effected without any resistance on the part of Larkins, who was too much surprised to attempt to escape or offer resistance.

Another squad composed of Messrs. Remby Smith, Frank Wien, Sam Reid and Wesley Blending also went out for the same purpose, and reached the front of the house at the same time Mr. Gaillard entered at the back, thus preventing Larkins escape if he had tried.

Rev. Dr. Brown's Sermon.

The sermon of the Rev. Dr. C. C. Brown, of Sumter, before the South Carolina Co-Educational Institute, and our people generally, on Sunday morning last, was a remarkable one and a very delightful one. President F. N. K. Bailey, of the Institute, with his usual wonderful and telling energy, had added, apparently, a hundred ordinary chairs to the fixed opera chairs, and had built up an amphitheatre of benches in the gallery. Consequently the whole vast and brilliant audience was comfortably seated. Dr. Brown is notoriously an original man as well as a learned one. He is also a supremely quick and witty man, and often dangerously satirical. He is furthermore a splendid word-painter and an accomplished dramatist, or rather actor. This latter word may seem a strange one to apply to a preacher of the gospel, but it is really a pity that more preachers of the gospel have not the gift. When Dr. Brown painted the picture of old John the Baptist, bare and ragged, "with a leather girdle about his masterful loins," in the magnificent and luxurious audience hall of the palace of Machelras, what harm was there that he acted the scene as well as painted it in words? For really he was aware that he was acting. And so when Salome took the platter with John's head on it to her mother, Herodias. And so when the man who had been bed-ridden for forty odd years took Satan by the hand and led him to Calvary and pointed out to him Jesus hanging on the cross. Dr. Brown's text was the 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd and 23rd verses of the 7th chapter of St. Luke. His sermon was a noble, earnest, valuable one—and intensely original. Even his most uncultivated hearers were enthralled. And still it seemed to us he said or inferred that John the Baptist died discontented with our Savior and bitter over the latter's seeming neglect of him. If so, we cannot agree with him. John the Baptist had announced Christ, and was thoroughly convinced of his divinity. Many of John's followers had not yet accepted Christ, and when John sent some of them to Christ with that certain message, he did so in the hope that upon coming into personal contact with the Savior, they might be convinced of his divinity and accept him as the Messiah.—Edgefield Chronicle.
