FROM THE CHESTERFIELD BOYS ON THE BORDER

The following letter from our boys in Mexico, was received at this office: Dear Editor:

I write to let you know that the Chesterfield boys are having a very good time in Camp Stewart. It is located eight miles west of El Paso, Texas, at the foot of Mt. Franklin, a foothill of the Rockies.

E. D. (or "Red") Vaughn I think has almost decided to carry home with him a Mexican senorita for a souvenir.

Roy Melton says that the sight of a horned toad makes him homesick. It reminds him of the cow at home.

Will Sellers said that Texas was a great place and that army stations were fit for a king, but ended by saying that old Chesterfield and a good dinner at home would be good enough for him.

Fred Huneycutt said that he was going to carry home a parairie dog if he had to dig a railroad tunnel to get him.

Frank Vaughn is growing a little black mustache. He says that he feels more like chasing Mexicans with them, that they will be a great protection against bullets.

Our division went in review before Gen. Funston last Thursday. It was the largest parade in the U. S. since 1865. It was eight miles long and required six hours to pass. There were 40,000 soldiers in line.
