MARCUS-BRIN NUPTIALS.

The wedding of Miss Stella Marcus to Albert Brin was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when the ceremony was performed by Dr. William H. Greenburg, rabbi of Temple Emanu-El.

Miss Esther Freshman sang, "All for Love of You," and Mrs. Emma Coleman played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Marvin Marcus. Miss Lena Marcus was maid of honor, and Misses Nellie Brin and Adeline Mittenthal bridesmaids. Meldin Brin was best man, and Max Herman and Abe Marcus the groomsmen.

The wedding was at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Pauline Marcus, 635 South Akard St. In the decorations a color scheme of pink and white was effected with chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Brin will visit San Antonio and Mexico on their wedding trip, and will be at home after Jan. 1 at 535 South Akard street.

Among the out-of-town guests were the following: Mrs. Joseph Felson, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lichenstein, St. Louis; M. A. and Abe Marcus of Wichita Falls; Max Hermer of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Brin, Isadore; Walter and Miss Nellie Brin of Terrell, Miss Julia Raye Freeman of Seguin; Mrs. I. Williams, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. I. Mazur, Luling; Hyman Brin, Ennis; Julius Purvin, Farmersville; Jennie and Bertha Brin, Hillsboro; Louis Brin, Hillsboro; Philip Brin and I. Levy of Terrell.

LITTLE JOHNNY LITERARY.

Oh, the little babe,
The dear little pet,
Who would have dreamt it?
Not quite eight months old as yet.

The dear little tot,
The naughty little brat,
Who would have thought
He's grown so fat?

The dear little doll,
The sweet little face,
Can you believe it?
He has outgrown his place.

Little Johnny Literary,
Mamma Houston's pride,
Bulged out so from all the sides,
And only born last June,
I wonder what Mamma Houston thinks?

Because he has outgrown his clothes too soon.

Little Johnny Literary,
Gossip deemed him so contrary,
And gossip already placed him in the cemetery,
But little Johnny would not be balked,
And long before his time he learned to walk.

So goes the story,
Became a man of great glory.
The world offered him a crown,
But he pushed it aside with a frown;

Little Johnny Literary.
