JEWISH LITERARY SOCIETY

The second public meeting of the Jewish Literary Society held at Montefiore Hall last Wednesday night, was very well attended. The program as outlined in our last issue was very splendidly executed. The discourse by Rabbi Rosinger of Beaumont which we reprint in this issue, was appreciated at its full worth and the members look for his return at some future date. Chairman Westheimer, who presided struck a live topic when he asked for a discussion on "The Melting Pot," which appeared here recently and he had no trouble getting one. It was an evening well spent.

The musicale and dance given on Thursday night at Concordia hall, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Temple Beth Israel, was a success, both socially and financially, and the society desires to extend thanks to all who in any way contributed toward making the affair the success it proved to be.

The following program was rendered:

Instrumental solo—Miss Pearl Coleman.

Reading—Mrs. Sarah Culmore.

Vocal solo—Miss Minnie Zindler.

Sextette from "The Three Twins"—

Mrs. I. Harris, Misses Jeanette Levy, Adele Levy, Roberta Wolf, Henrietta Lipper and Celeste Weil.

Dancing and refreshments followed the rendition of the program.

A COLLEGE STUDENTS SURPRISE.

One of the most enjoyable surprise parties among the younger set was given in honor of Bennie Applebaum, a student of Allen Academy. Games and contests were the features of the evening. Misses Blanche Wolf, Adaline Schram and Gertie Applebaum assisted Mrs. L. Applebaum during the evening. Thos present were Jeanette Block, Lena Applebaum, Juliette Frankel, Florence Paul, Hennie Schlom, Aileen Paul, Lois David, Dan Kahn, Henry Becker, Esther Block, Louis Wagner, Harry Wilk, Isidore Greenberg and Bennie Applebaum.

GLICKMAN-LEVINE.

On Sunday evening, Nov. 6th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levine, the marriage of their sister, Miss Fannie Glickman to Mr. Abel Wendel a popular young man of Galveston took place.
