MISCELLANY.

Larkspur has killed thousands of sheep in mountains.

The bones or tombs of more than 200 giants have been found in Europe.

It is a custom at Bombay for all Hindus to salute all black cats. They think it may be the soul of an English officer.

On a globe thirty miles in circumference it would take the strongest microscope to find a man were he to be reduced proportionately.

The oldest love letter in the world is in the British Museum. It is a proposal of marriage for the hand of an Egyptian Princess and it was made 3,500 years ago. It is in the form of an inscribed brick.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 18.—A special to the Tribune from Pocatello, Idaho, says: A severe cold wave swept over southeastern Idaho to-day. Three inches of snow fell at Soda Springs this morning.

Rupshin, a district on the north slope of the Himalaya, 15,000 feet above sea level, and surrounded by mountains from 3,000 to 5,000 feet higher, has a permanent population of 500 persons, who live in goat hair tents all the year round.

A negro woman, Mrs. Emma Waterfield, has received a medical diploma from the Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners. She is a graduate of the medical department of the New Orleans Colored University, and is said to be the first negro woman in the South, if not in the entire union, to practice medicine.

The manufacture of butter from coconut milk at Amilly, in France, has recently attracted considerable attention from French scientific journals. It is asserted that chemical analysis shows that coconut butter, when properly made, is an excellent article of diet. The price is cheap, and "Amilly butter" is not only sold in France, but is exported to Germany.

A South Carolina jury has granted a verdict of $5,000 damages in favor of the administrator of a murdered man against his convicted murderer. Should this become a precedent for similar verdicts, a murderer will not only have to undergo the death penalty, but he will be placed at considerable financial loss also. Possibly that may make murder less attractive to some criminals.

The National Anti-Mob and Lynch Law Association has been incorporated by the Secretary of State of Ohio. The purposes of the organization are declared to be to discourage mob and lynch law within the United States and to agitate public sentiment with a view to securing such legislation as will suppress such practices by providing adequate punishment for violators. It is proposed to form branch associations all over the United States.

Of his recent extended study of the gold resources of South Africa, Dr. Becker says that the Transvaal republic contains the largest gold deposits in the world. Within fifteen miles of Johannesburg there is an amount of gold practically in sight estimated to be worth $3,300,000,000, or nearly as much as the entire volume of gold coin now in the world. The gold is extraordinarily uniform, as uniform as coal in an ordinary deposit, as shown by shafts which have been sunk to a depth of 1800 feet, and diamond drillings, which have gone still farther. At present the gold is being taken out at the rate of $100,000,000 a year.

The Wants of Railways.

A railway official writes as follows: Those who say the railway question does not effect them are often the mightiest persons. The prosperity of our railways affects in one way or another the whole country.

Our railways fleet of all represent an actual money capital of one-fifth of the assets of the Republic.

One out of every five dollars we possess as a nation.

Our railways employ, or would employ to-day if prosperous, over one million persons direct at good wages. One out of every twenty-two of the population working for a living.

Our railways indirectly employ many thousands more, and in one form or another add to the revenue of another million.

Those who doubt this should look over the daily wants of these great distributors of work and wages.

The wants of railroads, according to the observation of a gentleman connected with transportation enterprises, are only second to those of women, which some French philosopher has said no man can ever hope to supply. To the casual observer all that a railroad wants is a roadbed, ties, steel rails, cars, and engines to pull them.

But growing out of these general features are demands for materials of such variety that the catalogue of the purchasing agent (who, as his name implies, has charge of making the necessary purchases for the railroad), is a good-sized volume wherein are named several hundred articles in more or less constant use by the corporation.

Here are a few of the articles taken from this list: Axes, adzes, acid, antimony, ammonia, bell cord, bone-black, sour ale (used for mixing up cores for castings), burners, books, beeswax, chain, cement, chimney, chairs, clocks, cushions, coal hods, dippers, disinfectant, envelopes, flag-sticks, firebrick, fuse cotton, globes, gold leaf, gas-flow, hose, hinges, hair, hectographs, knives, maps, muckilage, marking-pens, napha, okum, paint, pins, punches, powder, plumbago, pins, rubber, rope, saws, saws, shovels, soap, sandpaper, solder, tow, turpentine, time directors, tally covers, wick and wheelbarrows.

This list is large, but it don't cover more than one-quarter of the articles mentioned in the catalogue referred to.

So before you say the railway question has no interest for you, think a little. No American citizen can afford to see these great properties stricken down. They reach all over this broad domain of ours, and distribute money and employ labor and build up communities everywhere.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centers in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. The Massacre of Scio.

The worst massacre of recent times took place on the island of Scio on April 22, 1822. When the Greek war of Independence broke out in 1822 the Turks, to secure the obedience of Scio, sent a strong garrison into the island, and seized ninety-five of the principal Greek merchants as hostages. At the end of March a body of Samians landed in Scio, and supported by the peasantry, drove the Turkish garrison into the castle, but on the 11th of April the Captain Pasha arrived with 2,000 troops, and the insurrection collapsed. Then commenced the most horrible massacre recorded in modern history. The island was given up to the tender mercies of the Turkish soldiery, and its inhabitants practically exterminated, the men and boys were slaughtered on the spot, and the women sent into slavery. Early in May the Greek hostages were hanged in spite of the vigorous protests of the British ambassador at Stamboul, and at the same time 800 prisoners, who had been detained in the castle, were strangled. When the Turkish troops had finished their bloodthirsty work only 900 of the original 40,000 or 50,000 inhabitants of Scio were left in the island, from which almost every trace of civilization had been effaced.
