

HAS LOST CASTE.

Judge Gresham Is Only Human.

MOST INTENSE OF DEMOCRATS

Having Turned His Coat He Shows No Mercy to His Former Companions in Arms.

Special to THE MORNING CALL.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Another little batch of nominations went in to-day, but still there is nothing for California. Nearly every other State has got something and several of them a good deal, but California does not even get her share of fourth-class postmasters.

President Cleveland has already made himself even more unpopular with his party leaders than he was during the first two years of his other term. He is often censuredly independent in his dealings with those who come in contact with him, and assumes the "great-I-am" role to perfection. Not only does he disregard the wishes of those who help to elect him, but if they become too important he hesitates not an instant to "turn them down" in language that is easily understood.

As a consequence he has offended the majority of the leaders and they have left the White House swearing like troopers. In some instances, however, the President goes out of his way to please the leaders, and this has been especially the case in his treatment of Senators Vest and Voorhees. Both have opposed him in the past and are known as some of the fiercest enemies on the currency question, but up to the present time they have been given nearly every appointment that they have asked for. In some instances this has been done when the President's friends have opposed the appointment.

But the President has an end in view in this. He desires the repeal of the Sherman exchange bill at the coming session. Senators Voorhees and Vest are out and out free-coinage men. The former is the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and the latter is the author of the Sherman bill. By giving them all of the patronage asked for the President hopes that they will see their way clear to support his financial policy, and in fact there are some people who believe that the President has made a deal with the two Senators to that effect, and that next winter the "fall sycamore" of the Sherman bill will be blown down.

There are three other men whose reputations are always in jeopardy, namely: Chairman Harry, Senator John, and Postmaster-General Dickinson, but this is due to their steady devotion to the President.

Secretary Gresham is fast losing the high esteem in which he was once held by the people, regardless of politics. From being a believer in the higher order of politics he has descended to become a spokesman, and from a conservative Republican he has become a good Democrat as any of them. He is removing Republicans in the diplomatic and consular service and replacing them with Democrats. He is doing this even the sons of those sterling Republicans and former friends of the Secretary, Lincoln and Grant, have been relieved from their posts and ordered to resign. Mr. Wise has been retained, but it was believed that the obligations Secretary Gresham was under to their fathers might cause him to have them retained for a while longer. Like all new converts, Secretary Gresham has lost his active Democrat. In point of fact he is the most active Democrat here.

Stannard L. Thompson's appointment as Minister to Brazil is being hailed as a triumph. It was understood that the President had declined his willingness to appoint Thompson to this mission, and also to give Frank McClellan such an important post. Mr. Wise has been told to be true, and he may have got his information from his intimate friend, Gresham. Wise stated to Secretary Gresham that he would endeavor to see Secretary Carlisle to-morrow and ascertain definitely what this is possible.

The other day Mr. Wise went to Carlisle and told him that certain parties would oppose his appointment on the ground that he was an importer. Mr. Wise explained that he was not receding in the importation business, but that he was in the wool commission business several times consented to receive consignments of wool dip originally intended for other parties. This is the only method by which he can import wool and it was not any regular thing for him to import wool dip to import other merchandise. Besides, Mr. Wise explained to Secretary Carlisle that if he would appoint him he could stop any further consignments to himself or to his firm, if any more were intended.

Secretary Carlisle assured Mr. Wise that his incidental importation of wool dip need not interfere with his appointment if it was intended by the President.

Secretary Carlisle is understood to be very favorably inclined toward Wise, and the latter is confident that he will be appointed when "Theos" term expires, if the nomination is not made sooner.

It seems to be generally understood among Californians that the President will give Thomas Beck something, but no one seems to know what it will be.

It is stated that the President has decided that the Roach case shall not be investigated at this session, but an inquiry will be made into the Martin case.

It is stated that the President has selected J. O. Smith of Ohio, a radical tariff reformer, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Applications for office have been filed at the Treasury Department as follows: T. M. Loop of San Diego, for Collector of Customs at Astoria, Oregon; William H. Talbot of Seattle, to be Collector of Customs at Port Townsend; John Behan of Arizona to be Special Agent of the Treasury.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

They Will All Get Together for a Big Powwow.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The president of the National Republican College League issued a call to-day for the league to meet in Louisville, Ky., on the same day and on which the Republican National League will meet in that city. The American Protective Tariff League will also meet at the same time.

ECKELS CONFIRMED.

Mr. Cleveland Has Been Allowed to Retain His Office.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Senate, without transacting business of importance, went into executive session.

Two hours were spent in discussing the nomination of Eckels of Illinois to be Comptroller of the Currency. The Republicans protested against the confirmation on the ground that the nominee was not a man fitted by financial experience to fill the place, but the nomination was upheld by the leading Democrats, and in the end the vote by which Eckels was confirmed was taken viva voce.

Additional confirmations were those of Harris B. Taylor of Alabama to be Minister to Spain, James S. Ewing of Illinois to be Minister to Belgium, William Lichten of Minnesota to be Commissioner of Pensions

SOME FREAKS OF A CYCLONE

Wherever the Storm Struck Nothing BUILT BY MAN COULD STAND IN ITS PATH.

Special to THE MORNING CALL.

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—As communication gradually became opened up with the small towns and hamlets through Kansas and Missouri over which the cyclone swept yesterday the extent of the disaster becomes known. It is impossible to get the names of the victims, however, and in most instances the accounts of destruction are largely exaggerated. Fifteen people are known to have been killed, and thirty or forty injured, while numberless houses, as well as much other property, have been destroyed.

The storm struck Greenacres at 3 A. M. Much stock was killed. Besides this, fruit trees, chickens and twisted and fruit-stacks scattered.

In Kansas, Parker Hamlet, ten miles south of Independence, was almost totally destroyed. The houses demolished and many others badly wrecked.

A SECOND STORM.

It Raged From the Gulf Up to the Great Lakes.

TUNICA, Miss., April 12.—The down train this evening brings the news that the town of Robinsonville was completely destroyed by a cyclone this afternoon. Not a house was left in the town of 300 inhabitants, and as a finishing touch to the destructive horror a fire started and burned all the buildings which were blown down.

The strike movement is spreading. Three hundred miners engaged in the strike at the mine near the city were followed by the strikers, and the mine was closed.

MONTREY, Mexico, April 12.—It was reported to-day that the strike at the Monterey and Mexican Railroad would soon pass into the hands of C. P. Huntington of the Southern Pacific Company.

Special to THE MORNING CALL.

BRUSSELS, April 12.—Immediately after the assembling of the Deputies to-day, an excited crowd gathered. As the crowd became more demonstrative, a squadron of police was called out and held ready to charge.

At 4 o'clock the workmen nearest the Parliamentary building raised a shout for universal suffrage, and made a rush to break the police line. The police were driven back, and the mob tried to push up the steps.

There were less serious disturbances in other parts of the city, these also being followed by arrests.

WHITE HOPEFUL.

California Will Not Be Forgotten.

THE JAPANESE MISSION.

The Senator Explains How It Was Lost—The San Pedro Harbor Mess.

Special to THE MORNING CALL.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Senator Stephen W. White, accompanied by Mrs. White, arrived here from Washington this evening. They left Washington April 4 for San Francisco, where they remained a few days, after which they visited relatives in Pennsylvania and New Orleans. From the latter city they came direct to Los Angeles. When asked what he had to say in regard to the Examiner's recent expressions regarding the alleged unharmonious feeling among the Congressional delegation, Mr. White said:

"It ought to be unnecessary to make any explanation. It is evident that those who are managing that Journal have not received from the delegation they received when I was elected Senator. That paper has persistently attempted to convey the impression that the delegation was not only unharmonious, but that a good deal of ill feeling exists among its members, all of which is wholly untrue. Of course, each of us has his favorites, but there is not a single member of the delegation who is now, or who has been prepared to sacrifice the interests of the party or State in order to maintain his individual views."

When further interrogated, Mr. Cleveland's attitude in regard to California appointments, the Senator said:

"There has been some talk concerning the appointment of an outsider as Consul to Japan. Mr. Dun was selected at the request of Judge Thurman of Ohio. His son went to Washington and informed Mr. Cleveland that the Judge had only a request to make of the administration, namely, the appointment of Mr. Dun. It might be observed that the fortunate gentleman who is now in California is not the one who was recommended by the Judge. The pressure was too much to be resisted. I venture the suggestion, however, that California will receive recognition in the diplomatic corps. As a Statesman, Mr. Cleveland was perfectly cognizant of the fact that the common friend of the gentleman who he selected, and he had evidently made up his mind at an early date on this subject. His selection of Mr. Dun was a matter of course, and my judgment, might have been successful had they applied for the Chilean mission, but they neither of them would accept it."

In speaking of the reasons why I have come to this country, Mr. White said:

"As to the value of Indemnities, I can only judge by indications that Mr. Cleveland does not intend to accept the indemnities of a delegation, and he does not give it great weight. He prefers facts to a mere demand for an appointment. I have been very much struck by the peculiar in his treatment of these questions. Personally, I certainly have no reason to feel aggrieved. He is proceeding in a very judicious and proper manner."

In reference to the recently revived discussion regarding the permanent improvement of a harbor in Southern California, the Senator said:

"With reference to the sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Commerce, which has been authorized to visit San Pedro and San Diego, there seems to be some misunderstanding. Several members of the committee stated that they personally know nothing regarding the merits of the two ports, and that, in view of the report of the committee, they were not in a position to make any recommendation. I stated that I would be glad to see the entire committee in California, but it soon became apparent that a general attendance could not be expected."

It was finally resolved that Senator Ransom, the chairman, should select five Senators as a sub-committee, and that they should be authorized to make a report among the designated members. It became necessary to obtain the consent of the Senate, and to secure this Senator Frye consented to be a member of the sub-committee, and a date will be fixed, at which the parties interested will be advised.

The sub-committee shall visit the most important harbors on the coast, seeking Federal aid for harbor improvements. The committee will be accompanied by a local agent, and will probably last for a fortnight.

In conclusion Senator White said that he had left Washington to-day for a more important business remaining to be transacted, and that those Senators who found it convenient to remain are merely waiting for the train to Los Angeles, and appointments which he desires to have confirmed, at once.

An Illicit Still Found in the Heart of a Great City.

NEW YORK, April 12.—In an old ramshackle building in Brooklyn, which has been tenanted since the last occupant committed suicide five years ago, an internal search has revealed the presence of the largest and best equipped still in the city, which has fallen into the hands of the Government for years. Suspicion was aroused by the neighbors observing smoke issuing from the chimney of the building, and that half a dozen or more swarthy-visaged men were observed to enter and leave the building at given hours. The talk of the neighbors eventually led to the discovery of the still, and the men were arrested. A charge of conspiracy was made by individual garment-cutters.

A Conference looking to the settlement of the cutters' troubles commenced at 8 o'clock to-night. At 10:45 General Secretary Reeves said they would have an agreement when the time was ripe.

THEY KILLED CLAYTON.

A Cold-Blooded Murder Done for Money.

THE SENATOR EXPLAINS HOW IT WAS LOST—THE SAN PEDRO HARBOR MESS.

Special to THE MORNING CALL.

MORRILLTON, Ark., April 12.—Officer Weiner, with Lot Rogers (alias Burkhardt), the Clayton informant, arrived here this morning from Little Rock, and Hickey, the alleged assassin of John M. Clayton, was brought in from Russellville. Hickey was in court, and asked the waiting of a preliminary trial, but it was refused and Burkhardt was placed on the stand. He stated that his real name was Nathaniel Lichten, but he had been known as Clayton by H. L. Burkhardt. He was in Arkansas in January, 1889, and on January 29 went to Morrillton with Frank Hickey, a man named Burkhardt and another named Flannery. Here they met Charles E. Pate, and Flannery and Hickey had a conversation with him, during which he gave them $2,000 to be used as they saw fit.

The party, he said, drove to Plummerville, Hickey and Flannery were armed with a shotgun and rifle. They stopped in a grove, and Flannery and Hickey got out and five minutes afterward he heard the shot which killed Clayton. He was afterward told by Burkhardt that Hickey fired the fatal bullet.

After Burkhardt had concluded his testimony the court adjourned until to-morrow morning.

NOT OVERLY MODEST.

How Court Keraty Will Go About Digging the Canal.

He Simply Wants a Few Millions of Dollars, Which He Is Not Likely to Get.

Special to THE MORNING CALL.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Court Keraty, who has come to America in the interests of the new Panama canal scheme, was here to-day to announce a new company, of which I am the representative, receives from the De Lesseps company its good will, its plant, its material, its workmen, and all other things that we do not in the least fear the project of the Nicaragua canal. We have seventy-five kilometers to traverse, and the Nicaragua canal is 200. It will take the latter two years more to finish its preliminary surveys. Long before the Nicaragua canal can dream of finishing their work ours will be in running order. At the same time any canal across the Isthmus of Panama must be an international affair. There must be no clashing of interests, and that is one of the reasons why I have come to this country. Another point in connection with the Nicaragua canal is to be noted. When the Suez canal was built sailing vessels found that they must either continue to go around the Cape of Good Hope, or else venture the suggestion, however, that California will receive recognition in the diplomatic corps. As a Statesman, Mr. Cleveland was perfectly cognizant of the fact that the common friend of the gentleman who he selected, and he had evidently made up his mind at an early date on this subject.
