OVER IN OAKLAND

Lack of Interest in the Matheny Case.

A DAUGHTER'S CRY OF FRAUD The Freighting Business—A Young Fisher Drowned—Streetcar Collision—Teachers on a Visit.

OAKLAND—The trial of Louis Matheny is getting less interesting as the case goes on. All day yesterday was absorbed in various attempts on Carroll Cook's part to impeach the testimony of the witness for the prosecution.

Hatter Lacombe of the Palace Hotel hat-store of San Francisco was called to answer the testimony of A. Meyer with regard to the size of Matheny's hats.

Attorney Charles Stuart of San Francisco was put on the stand to impeach Officer Nick Williams' word as to whether he saw Mr. Cook or not on the train one night.

H. Kirchner testified in contradiction to John H. Toedt. Deputy Constable Tom O'Donnell and George Davis were also called to impeach Officer Williams' testimony.

Attorney Cook said that he had subpoenaed Chief Crowley and Officer Seymour of San Francisco, but that they were unable to appear on the date and trunks that they could not come.

Court then adjourned until this morning, and Mr. Cook and Mr. Church went off to Sausalito to obtain samples of "Sausalito mud" for introduction in the case.

Drowned While Fishing. Monday afternoon Eddie Flowers, an only child, living with his mother at 919 Jefferson street, fell overboard from a yacht while returning from a fishing trip off Angel Island and was drowned.

The circumstances of the accident are told substantially as follows by H. E. Profit, who, with George M. Byer and Harry Travers, made up the party: The four left Oakland at 9 o'clock in the morning in a 28-foot slooped yacht, and spent some time fishing off Angel Island.

At 3 in the afternoon the return sail was begun, and the little Flowers boy, who is only 10 years old, was at the tiller, while the other three steered the sail.

Mr. Profit had just secured the canvas and was returning to the stern when he saw the boy fall over the gunwale. An effort was made to save the little fellow, but too late, and before the yacht could be about he was half a mile behind them struggling in the waves.

Before the distance could be retraced the boy had disappeared and no amount of hunting in the locality could discover any trace of him.

The ebb tide was running strong at the time, and he was probably swept out to sea.

Mrs. Flowers was distracted with grief yesterday and would not see a visitor. A Daughter Alleges Fraud.

Mrs. Etta Du Jardin yesterday filed a document with the County Clerk in which she alleges fraud against her mother, Mrs. Ida C. Dexter.

The story runs this way: When Mrs. Du Jardin's father died he left an estate valued at something like $4500. It consisted of property at San Leandro. It was left to the mother and daughter. In 1892, some time after the mother's death, she left her with a document for her to sign, telling her that her signature was necessary, as it had some reference to the property.

She signed it, and she has since learned that it was a document which conveyed her interest in the estate to her mother.

Mrs. Du Jardin now asks the courts to set this document aside and to restore to her her just rights in her father's estate. Will Not Leave the Southern Pacific.

A report is being circulated that the Davis Transportation Company has been formed for the purpose of freighting the business of various express companies of Oakland. Among others is mentioned the People's Express Company. As regards this latter company there is no truth in the report that it will leave the Southern Pacific. The manager of the People's Express Company has informed a CALL reporter that his company has no intention whatever of making a change.

The Charges Collision. Mrs. Annie Kruger has filed a complaint in the Superior Court of the State of California vs. the Life and Annuity Association for $2000 upon a matured coupon, and claims a lien upon the assets of the association.

The plaintiff alleges that the action to wind up the affairs of the corporation is caused to be brought collusively and in bad faith by the directors of the corporation. She says the members of the company have not authorized such a proceeding, and there are 300 of them, enough to carry on the business.

The intervenor consequently asks the State Treasurer to pay her $2000 out of the funds of the corporation. Streetcar Collision. Shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning an Eighth-street car ran into a horse car on Franklin street, between Seventh and Eighth, knocking the bumper in, breaking the seats and splintering the panels. Fortunately no passengers were in either car or they could not have escaped injury.

The accident was caused by failure of the electrical appliances on the Eighth-street car to work. The Lorin car was standing on the track and the other came up behind and struck it. The damages will not exceed $200.

The Criminos Case. The preliminary examination of Mrs. Madge Criminos, charged with assaulting her husband with intent to kill, was called before Judge Allen yesterday morning, but continued until Wednesday, November 1.

The case could not go on because of Mr. Criminos' weak condition. He is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia, and it was thought best to postpone the trial until he is better.

A Bandone Depot. The plans now being made by City Engineer Gray for the new Davis ferry-house on the Franklin-street wharf call for a structure closely resembling the depot at the foot of the narrow-gauge wharf. The main portion will be 100x35 feet, with an addition, which will be a driveway to the boat and bridge, 90x20 feet. The building will be 3500 square feet. The street front is to be opened with a vestibule 12x70 feet.

All's Fair in Love. Henry Theisen, aged 19, being denied a license to marry Josie Montgomery, aged 17, and not being able to secure the consent of his parents, who are abroad, in time for the wedding day, had George Symmes appointed his guardian yesterday, and so gained consent, a license and a bride without delay.

Be Buffed. William Thomas Ward, who recently brought action to recover $11,000 from the Consolidated Cable Company for injuries received by being run into at Moss and Oakland avenues, January 6, 1893, compromised his suit yesterday on receipt of $50 from the company.

Suing a Convict. C. G. Rode commenced a suit in the Superior Court yesterday to recover $2900 from M. C. Thielenmann, who is now serving five years in San Quentin prison. Plaintiff says he was swindled out of that amount by being talked into a fancy cattle scheme by Thielenmann.

High Jinks in Chinatown.

The Families of Wah, Quan, Chung and Chu Hold Their Annual Kow-Tow.

An annual four-family celebration began in Chinatown Tuesday evening and will be continued without interruption until 3 o'clock Friday morning. The festivities are being held in Brooklyn place, a blind alley running off Sacramento street, just below Stockton.

The celebration now being held is an annual event participated in by representatives of the families of Wah, Quan, Chung and Chu. These families have for six centuries been among the most prominent in China, and it was due to their loyal support that the reigning Emperor was enabled to repel the Tartar invasion which occurred in the fifteenth century. The Electric Bonds. The directors of the Alameda, Oakland and Piedmont Electric Railway Company filed a certificate yesterday of the action of the stockholders at a meeting held December 15, 1892 creating a bonded indebtedness of $350,000.

Notes. The subscriptions to the Alameda County Midwinter Exposition amount to date to $4507 05. M. Raphael, a well-known citizen, was buried yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 263 1/2 Eighth street. The services were officiated by the Jewish Church, and members of Independent Order of B'nai B'rith Lodge No. 202 attended in a body.

Contractor John C. Rogers has filed a petition in insolvency. He owes $5000 and his assets are only $2200. The will of F. C. Barradas filed yesterday disposes of an estate worth $9105 50. In a codicil it is directed that no masses be said for the deceased.

John Foley, a locomotive fireman at Brentwood, while oiling the wheels of his engine yesterday, had his hands run over by the backing of the train. He was taken to the Woodbury Hospital, and his left hand amputated and the thumb and the little finger on the right hand.

BERKELEY. The financial outlook for Berkeley is not a bright one. No money will be in the treasury, except what may come by way of licenses, until November. Under the town charter the limit of taxation is 50 cents on the $100. Under the city charter the limit was $1 on the $100, and the contracts of the city for the year 1893-4, this doubled income in view; if the contracts are to stand as valid, which the City Attorney holds to be the law, the town finds itself with quite a deficit looming up in its attempt to meet its obligations.

At present the town stands in the peculiar position of having no Health Officer, notwithstanding the fact that no dead body can pass out of the town without an officer's certificate. The late Health Officer, Dr. Payne, has resigned, and the City Health Officer, Dr. Grayzer, is not an official existence.

Notes. Mrs. Letitia Owen, president of the San Francisco News and Messenger Boys' Club, is making arrangements for a benefit to that organization to be given in Shattuck Hall, October 13. Mrs. Eugenia de Forrest will give her imperious Hamlet, as well as other characterizations.

Notes. The Stewart & Trowbridge block at Dwight way has been sold by Mr. Stewart to Mr. Metcalf of Oakland for $30,000. C. A. Langston, ex-'94, has given up his university work and left for Meadville, Pa., where he is about to take a theological course in preparation for the Unitarian ministry.

Mrs. Ann J. Stiles, whose property is situated close to the head of the university grounds, is going to sue some time ago for water rights along Strawberry Creek. The Regents of the university have taken that action preparatory to building a reservoir in the canyon immediately back of the university grounds. The court, however, has overruled Mrs. Stiles' demurrer, and the condemnation stands.

ALAMEDA. E. W. Janda recently gave up the business of paper-hanging and painting in Alameda because he was obliged to. He sold out his interest in the business to his partner, but on Monday last, when the transaction leaked out, one of his creditors in Oakland determined not to be worsted and attached Janda's interest in his home on Schiller street. But Janda only has a tract for a deed and is behind in his installments. It is now questionable who will get the property—Janda, his creditors or the person agreeing to sell.

Board of Trade. The Board of Trade held a meeting on Wednesday evening last, which was largely attended. The Board of Trade is to be asked to frame a license ordinance for the merchants similar to that of Oakland and to establish an incandescent light system on Park street.

Would Not Pay. The ladies' annex to the Alameda Bicycle Club has disbanded. The young ladies could not see the necessity of paying 25 cents a month dues.

BY DAY LABOR.

A Democratic Municipal Job in View.

An Important Question of Street-work for the Board of Supervisors to Decide.

James Mahoney, a 12-year-old boy, who lives with his parents on Seventeenth street, is the hero in cell 2 of the City Prison, which is filled with boy burglars and boy criminals. Mahoney was arrested a few days ago along with two others for setting fire to a carload of hay at Ocean View and on Tuesday he appeared in court on account of his youth was allowed to go on his own recognizance, but was warned that if he did not behave himself within the next thirty days he would be arrested again. On his way to his home from the court he jumped into a rig standing outside a house and drove off. He tried to dispose of the rig but failed. He was arrested early yesterday morning on a charge of grand larceny. Now he has charges of vagrancy, arson and grand larceny against him.

Will Lower the Tracks. The controversy between the property-owners on Guerrero street, between Eighth and Nineteenth, and the electric road over the grades and paving of that street are in a fair way of settlement. Yesterday the railroad company commenced the work of lowering and relaying four roadbeds on the block mentioned. Several weeks ago when the property-owners paved their frontage with bitumen the grades given by the City Surveyor left the tracks of the railroad from six to eight inches above the rest of the roadway. The objections of the property-owners have caused the electric road to lower their track to the new grade and also have the company's portion between the rails.

Sunday-School Workers. A union meeting of Sunday-school teachers and officers will be held this evening in Grace M. E. Church, corner of Twenty-first and Capp streets, for conference in regard to their work in behalf of the children and youth. Short papers will be read as follows: "Primary Class Work," by Mrs. Lizzie Leggett; "Plan to Attract and Retain Young People," by Rev. H. H. Cole; "The Relation of the Boys' Brigade to the Sunday-school," by H. E. Bostwick. A few minutes will be given to questions and answers upon the subject of each paper, a brief general description to follow.

A Virginia City Defaulter. Thomas Deegan of Virginia City, Nev., who was arrested Tuesday night in a lodging-house on Minna street, near Fifth, was taken from the City Prison yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Denis Kehoe, who left with him for Virginia City. Deegan had been a resident there for about twenty years. On the death of his BUILDING WORK.

It Has Commenced at the Fair Site.

Timbers for Foundation.

A New Arrangement for the Exposition Finances—Plans Being Made for a Spanish Village.

A cashier and accountant's office was opened yesterday in connection with the finance department of the Midwinter Fair. J. J. Hassell is in charge and will hereafter record all financial transactions of the exposition. Collectors for the finance committee report that 95 per cent of the old subscriptions is readily obtainable on the application of those who originally secured the promise to pay the amount. Many new subscriptions for large amounts are promised when the erecting of the buildings has proceeded a little further.

Worrell & Miller stated yesterday that they will begin to lay the concrete foundation for the Fine Arts building this morning. The Administration building is now the only one uncontracted for. The working plans furnished by the architect are now under consideration by the executive committee. Bids will be invited within the next few days.

The Fine Arts building will be of brick, with concrete foundations. The exterior will be plastered and decorated after the Egyptian style. Two sphinxes will guard the approach to the building, with eight long steps leading to the main vestibule. There will be a decided flavor of the pyramids about the building, which carries out the Egyptian idea with artistic unity.

No stone work and little concrete will be necessary for the foundation of the buildings at the park. Most of the structures being temporary the foundations will consist of immense timbers laid in the sand. These timbers are now en route from the mills, and some of them will be in place and covered with flooring before the week is over. Other materials will be being hauled to the site yesterday.

The present proposition regarding the exposition fence is that it will be 8500 feet long and 15 feet high. Nothing definite will be decided until the building operations have proceeded further. When most of the material has been brought to the grounds and when the electric-lighting arrangements have been completed, preliminary evening concerts will be held at the exposition site. Then the fence will be built.

The foreign features of the fair will not be the least attractive. Besides the concessions granted for Japanese and Chinese villages, plans are being made by the Montenegro, Servians and Roumanians for a carnival, in which the costumes and customs of those countries will be made prominent. A project is on foot to erect a Spanish village to the other national characteristic features of the exposition, showing not only Spanish customs of today, but also the history of Spain and the Spanish-American colonies.

Consul-General A. K. Koney of Mexico has appointed the following gentlemen of this city to act as a Mexican auxiliary committee in behalf of the exposition: W. Loatza, Dr. Isaac Rivas, Guillermo Andrade and J. M. Alhambra.

M. Antoine Borel, the Swiss Consul, has been talking with the prominent members of the Swiss community in San Francisco and they have also formed an auxiliary committee, of which George T. Cavalli is the chairman.

The athletic entertainment at the Grand Opera-house on Tuesday evening netted over $700 to the Midwinter Fair fund. The total receipts were $1212 50, of which 20 per cent was paid to Peter Maher. The success of the entertainment has encouraged the idea of giving another athletic day, when Maher and McAuliffe will be matched. There will be several other pugilistic encounters on the same evening.

The show will probably be given at the pavilion, the Grand Opera-house, or a tract affording sufficient accommodations. The proceeds from the trotting manure at the Bay District track were $900.

The experiment of holding evening sessions of the executive committee, proving so effective in clearing off the accumulated routine work that they will be continued permanently. The business transacted consists largely of the discussion of details concerning applications for admission and concessions, the result of which, it is held, will be apparent in the assignment of a great deal of space and the receipt of considerable money for the benefit of the fair.

Hereafter the afternoon will be devoted largely to consultations with architects and contractors, and the reception of business visitors.

The big benefit for the fair will probably be a next baseball tournament. J. B. Gilbert, manager of the reorganized league, has offered two of the best clubs for an exhibition, and this is likely to be the nucleus around which will center on the greatest baseball tournaments seen on the Pacific Coast.

It was suggested to the executive committee last night that a number of able-bodied, sober, steady, industrious men should be put in military training for service, such as that rendered by the Columbian Guards at Chicago. It is felt that there are enough Californians to fill the Midwinter Fair position, and that it will be unnecessary to make any Eastern importations. It was further proposed to have an encampment of the Guards in the park, tents being borrowed from the National Guard.

A beautiful piece of World's Fair tapestry, representing the landing of Columbus, hangs on the wall at headquarters. It was donated to the Midwinter Fair by E. H. Ehrenfort, of the medium of George Schmitt of the finance committee.

The cash receipts yesterday amounted to $1272 50, making the total to date $133,646 06.

During the last Paraguayan war it was noticed that the men who had been with the army for three months and who had been wounded, however slightly, during their wounds because they would not heal.
