When Weather Prohibit Pague gave a lecture on atmospheric jugglery before the normal class of the Girls' High School on Wednesday the young ladies made personal intercessions for fine weather on Friday. The rain plot readily promised a balmy day for their Midwinter Fair celebration, and he kept his word.

Bright and pretty girls, each with a corsage bouquet of eschscholtzias and a badge of gold ribbon worn at the throat, with their teachers, graduates who had preceded them and their friends, to the number of 1200, were out at Sunset City yesterday. They comprised the most attractive exhibit at the fair, and every other was deserted when the young ladies gathered on and about the steps of the Administration building. The cadets of the Boys' High School, who had come out in honor of the young ladies, marched past in review, preceded by the Midwinter Exposition band.

Then the young soldiers marched down to the recreation ground. In presence of hundreds of admiring girls the cadets repeated the military evolutions given a week ago. The spectators were especially interested in the sham battle. The drill continued for an hour, which was long enough for the cadets to win golden opinions from a group of army officers who watched them.

Then the young women and their friends went over to Festival Hall, filling the large auditorium to the doors. Here the principal exercises of the day took place. Yesterday was the thirtieth birthday of the Girls' High School, and pupils and graduates united in a joyous celebration of the anniversary. The uniformed cadets acted as ushers, and earlier in the day had assisted the girls in decorating the hall with yellow eschscholtzias, representing the California flag.

A march, "Our High School Girls," composed by Aug. Bierichs and dedicated to the class of '94, was played by the Exposition band. Then Principal Elsie Brooks gave a breezy speech of welcome. The young ladies occupying chairs, which collectively covered the whole of the front stage, gave a cheer for the speaker as a prelude to the address by John Swift, Superintendent of Occidental Seminary. He recounted the movements of some of the distinguished graduates, and his remarks were principally anecdotal and greatly enjoyed by the audience.

The principal address was made by Professor Bernard Moses of the University of California. He spoke of the education of women, and sarcastically combated the idea that their intellectual development is a mistake. He said that the history of women through the ages from the bronze to the iron age, and that the history of the sex from the harem to the university. Speaking of a higher education he said it is the same sentiment which kept Eastern women shut up as slaves which binds the women of Occidental Seminary to the university today, a fear of losing social caste.

Professor Moses drew a word picture of the education of women in the twentieth century. He spoke of the continuance and development of the plan for coeducation of the sexes. Only in the universities, he said, could the highest education be allowed, and as no state would duplicate the advanced classes of Occidental Seminary by the side of men. He said that in San Francisco a peculiar condition prevails, and that women are more cultured than the men. We are drifting toward a state of affairs which in the days of the California Base Ball League. Phelan is charged with playing in the matches of the Central League. A meeting of the Board of Control, composed of two players from Oregon and two from California, was held at the Midwinter Fair, when the complaints will be acted upon.

Among the visitors to the fair yesterday were General Schofield and Robert T. Lincoln, who came as the guests of Russell J. Wilson and Major J. L. R. Boone. Many special events have been scheduled for to-day and an unusual amount of entertainment, even for Saturday, has been provided. There will be a double athletic event on the recreation grounds this afternoon. At 1 o'clock the baseball game between Santa Clara and Sacred Heart Colleges will begin, and at 3 o'clock these games will be resumed by the lacrosse players from the British Columbia. The third of the series of matches will be decided. The first was a draw and the Mainlanders won the second. If the Islanders should win to-day, their victory will leave the supremacy to the teams in doubt. In that event a final "play-off" will be necessary on Sunday.

The celebrated Swedish Quartet, which created such a favorable impression at the Prater club concert, has been engaged by the Vienna Prater. The first appearance will be made this afternoon in Kaiser Franz Joseph Hall. The quartet will also sing this evening and on Sunday afternoon and night.

The glee club of the State University will sing at the college section in the Manufactures building every Saturday afternoon hereafter, with a view to making the concert agreeable to the university people. The concert will begin at 3 o'clock. The Palace of Viticulture will formally be opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock. This annex to the Horticultural and Agricultural Department undoubtedly contains the finest exhibit of California wines ever made. To-day's opening is for the benefit of invited guests only, but the entire exhibit will be thrown open to the public on Monday next. An interesting programme of exercises has been arranged for this afternoon. A contract has been let for the construction of a large tank 250 feet in length, 50 feet in width, just inside the cinder track on the recreation grounds at the exhibition, on which the grand fly-casting tournament is to take place on May 4 and 5. This will be a grand fly-casting tournament, and anglers from all over the Pacific Coast are taking great interest in it. On May 4 the anglers' convention is to be held in Festival Hall and on May 5 there will be a grand banquet at which the winners in the tournament will be feted. Los Angeles County has added a magnificent case of crystallized fruits to her exhibit in the Southern California Building. The crystallization of fruits has been gone into extensively in the county and the manufacturers have met with great success even where brought into competition with the imported glass fruits. The exhibit, though small, is very attractive and comprises fancy boxes of cherries, figs, pears, apricots and other varieties of deciduous fruits. The exhibitor is F. F. Stetson of Pasadena.

Y. M. I. Day. A rousing meeting of the general committee of the Young Men's Institute for the purpose of properly celebrating Y. M. I. day at the Midwinter Fair on June 4 was held at their headquarters last evening. Chairman Frank J. Murasky infused enthusiasm into every member of the committee in his opening address in calling the meeting to order.

TWO JURORS NOW

Will Give Fredericks a Fair Trial.

TEN MORE ARE REQUIRED.

The Young Murderer Submits to an Operation.

HOPES OF SAVING HIS EYESIGHT

Objects to Taking Chloroform Because Afraid of Being Assassinated.

Sooner than was expected, two jurors had been accepted to try William A. Fredericks for the murder of Bank Alex. A jury of ten more are required. Cashier William A. Herrick. Their names are Peter Van Pelt, accountant, Fremont street, and A. Herriman, of 202 Front street.

Visitors to Judge Levy's courtroom yesterday were somewhat astonished by the apparition of a Deputy Sheriff in front of the door brandishing a wand and exhorting the eager crowd to find quarters in the gallery above. Even then the place was packed to suffocation, and the ventilation was anything but the best.

When the case was called Attorney Colwell on behalf of the defendant asked for a continuance on the ground that Fredericks was about to undergo an operation upon his damaged eye, and he was suffering such intense agony that it would be a hardship to expect him to remain in court. District Attorney Barnes, however, represented that a number of jurors had been compelled to attend, and it was understood that Fredericks would not be wanted until 4 o'clock, so that some little headway might be made.

Mr. Colwell again reserved his application for a change of venue, and said he was collecting evidence. A further challenge was presented by Mr. Colwell put in another objection. He challenged the panel on the ground that Sheriff McDade, to whom the summoning of jurors was entrusted, was prejudiced. A further challenge was presented by Mr. Colwell put in another objection. He challenged the panel on the ground that Sheriff McDade, to whom the summoning of jurors was entrusted, was prejudiced.

William S. Gage had read the newspapers and formed an opinion. He was excused. The same fate befell John Mangels, Solomon Wasserman, Charles P. Rasmussen, F. A. Lutz, Thomas J. Ford and Thomas L. Norton. Lippmann Elias, who was excused from service on the previous day, but who nevertheless answered to his name once more, said he had not read the papers.

THE KRELINGS AT PEACE.

Agreement Signed for Distribution of the Estate.

After many days the Kreling family disputes are at an end. The settlement of the estate is distributed to the satisfaction of all the parties was signed yesterday. The terms of the agreement are similar to those originally proposed, and the result is that Mrs. Ernestine Kreling remains in sole and undisputed possession of the property.

The terms of the agreement are similar to those originally proposed, and the result is that Mrs. Ernestine Kreling remains in sole and undisputed possession of the property. The property consists of the Guerrero-street factory of F. W. Kreling & Sons, lots on Forty-third avenue, Grand avenue, Divisadero and San Rafael, while the only piece of property which Mrs. Kreling takes in addition to the Tivoli consists of a stable and brick building on Glasgow street, being in a monthly rental of $500.

Shortly after the adjournment Fredericks was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Drs. Somers and Kischl probed and drained the wounded eye. Cocaine was first administered, but it hurt the patient too much, and it was some time before the slayer of Herrick could be persuaded to take chloroform.

SHE FOUND OPIUM.

First Seizure of the Drug by a Female Inspector.

The proud distinction of being the first female inspector to seize contraband opium belongs to Mrs. J. E. Adams of the Occidental house staff. Mrs. Adams' specialty is searching goods concealed in the garments of lady travelers, but like all other inspectors she is expected to keep her eyes open for smuggled goods hidden on the vessels to which she is assigned for duty.

FOUNDED ON WIND.

Furnald's Attempt to Break Jail.

Larry Kip's Danger. The account of Walter Guy Furnald's attempt to escape from the County Jail, and his subsequent incarceration in the tanks, which appeared in a morning paper yesterday, was slightly inaccurate. There are no tanks in the County Jail and the escape was a fiction. His case will be called in Judge Dalgren's court this morning. He says that he is going to have a lawyer and will be ready to go to jail.
