REGENTS CONFER. BROTHERS AT WAR

Affairs at the Berkeley University.

The President Declares That the Institution Was Never More Prosperous.

The monthly meeting of the State Board of Regents was held at Hopkins Institute yesterday afternoon. Regents Phelps, Miller, Marye, Bartlett, Martin, Houghton, Anderson, Waymire, Rowell, Crocker and President Kellogg were present.

Bills to the amount of $49,000 were approved. The regents received from the National Government $20,000. This comes from a fund known as the moral aid fund and the money will be used in educational lines to defray the expenses of teaching moral philosophy and kindred subjects.

Mr. Waymire, chairman of the committee on internal administration, announced the appointment of Professor W. A. Merrill of the Indiana State University to the chair of Latin language and literature at Berkeley. Mr. Waymire had nothing but words of praise for Professor Merrill. The new professor is right in the prime of life, being only 34 years of age, and is a graduate of Amherst College. He comes to the university very highly recommended.

President Kellogg warmly seconded the words of Mr. Waymire and said that he was heartily in favor of ratifying the appointment of the committee, as it was an excellent one in every respect. Mr. Merrill is a man of energy and vigor, and possesses a good deal of scientific ability, he having already written a number of books which pertain to his line of work. He congratulated the committee upon having made so excellent an appointment and said it augured well for the university across the bay.

The regents present seemed to be pleased with the choice of the committee and it was at once ratified. In speaking of the University of California President Kellogg spoke encouragingly of the future of Berkeley. This year there was to be the largest freshman class in the history of the institution, and everything seemed very promising.

Professor Le Conte is attending the Society for the Advancement of Natural Science, which is now in session at Washington, but will be back to take up his work in a few days.

Five thousand dollars was given to the university for the purpose of helping it to make an exhibit at the Midwinter Fair. President Kellogg reported that it took only $400 to make a very creditable showing of what the university was doing for California and consequently there was a balance of $1000 on hand, which was left to the finance committee of the regents to look after.

Mr. Phelps, chairman of the Lick Observatory committee, asked that an additional sum of $200 be added to the regular appropriation from the Lick fund. He said that forest fires, repairing of equipment had incurred extra expenses which the regular appropriation did not cover. The request was referred to the finance committee.

SHE IS DISABLED.

Why the Bennington Is So Slow.

ONLY ONE ENGINE WORKING

The Tug That Is Watching and Waiting Outside.

EZETA'S QUARTERS ON BOARD.

A Description of Them and a Story About a San Salvadorian Bluff.

The United States cruiser Bennington had not arrived off San Francisco harbor to a late hour yesterday afternoon, according to a dispatch sent from this city to the authorities in Washington by one of the persons detailed to keep a close watch for her. A tug chartered by the Government left here Saturday evening with orders to intercept the cruiser, and present to Captain Thomas instructions from Secretary Herbert to remain outside of the whistling buoy, which is nine miles from Fort Point.

The tug is one of the Red Stack Company's vessels. It is said, but Captain Gray of the Merchant's Tugboat Company has very cleverly and carefully concealed this fact, as, of course, he was justified in doing, from the press.

Captain Gray managed the affair so creditably that not even the lookout at Point Lobos noticed anything strange about his tug's absence, for it is nothing unusual for the vessel to remain outside on a cruise after ships two or three days at a time.

The Bennington had not been sighted for a very good reason; one of her engines is disabled, and she is crippled so that she is obliged to work her way homeward very slowly.

Captain Wallace of the steamer Walla Walla, that came in from Puget Sound in the morning, reported that a stiff northwester was blowing all the way along the coast. This wind probably increased in force, rather than diminished, as it blew southward. With only one engine working and a gale to boot, the Bennington has perhaps not made more speed than an ordinary sailing craft.

Just what the damage is to the cruiser's machinery is not definitely known; but the news of her being operated with only half her power come from an official source. Mr. de Quesada, one of Antonio Ezeta's attorneys, verified the story of the warship's disabled condition.

"What sort of a vessel is the Bennington and what kind of a man is Captain Thomas?" was asked of a gentleman familiar with the cruiser now made famous by the part she has taken in the San Salvadorian complication.

Captain Thomas is a splendid officer and a man of very pleasing disposition. The Bennington is a good boat and a pretty swift one when in good trim," was the answer.

Antonio Ezeta has been assigned quarters in the wardroom, it is learned, his companions being accommodated in that part of the ship also. Every comfort of the vessel is tended by the crew, and while lying at La Libertad it is said that although Antonio complained of the injustice of his detention he praised highly the treatment received by himself and generals at the hands of the Bennington's officers and crew.

The ship that has been the compulsory home of General Antonio for over two months is of the unprotected gunboat class. She is rigged like a three-masted schooner and protected by a battery of six 6-inch guns and a supplementary battery of rapid fire cannon and machine guns.

The wardroom, Ezeta's prison, is a comfortably appointed space, finished in hardwoods and tastily upholstered. The cruiser's main deck is spacious and there, it is told, Antonio paced restlessly about, while the Bennington was at La Libertad, watching the launches flitting backward and forward from the shore, some filled with armed men who were stationed to watch every movement of the fugitive ruler.

The San Salvadorians cursed the Bennington. They tried to run a bold bluff on Captain Thomas when the first boatload of insurgents touched at the vessel's companion-ladder after the refugees had been securely hidden away on board.

The officer of the barge, a dilapidated-looking chap, with a red uniform trimmed with gold and a sword at his side, stepped up to Captain Thomas and demanded the surrender of the fugitives.

The story is told that Thomas politely refused to listen to their demands. The officer grew indignant and was not exactly courteous. Then again the American commander gave him peremptory notice to decamp in a tone that meant business, and caused the pompous official to disappear over the Bennington's side in an ungraceful but speedy manner.

A dispatch from Washington received last evening stated that the cruiser would not be alone until some time at noon today, and that the vigilant watch outside the Golden Gate was relaxed for a few hours. The weather seems to have been standing in with the Government, for fog has persistently veiled the ocean so that nothing can be seen from Point Lobos further than four miles off.

Ezeta's enemies are criticizing the actions of Consul Yrigoyen, who went on to New York at a very convenient time, leaving no one in his place to act. His sudden move is alleged to have been instigated by a desire to keep out of the way so that a complaint could not be sworn on telegraphic information, which could have been done had he been here.

ESTATES APPRAISED. The appraisers of the estate of the late John Roach, brother of Philip A. Roach, filed their report yesterday in the Probate Court. The total value of the estate is $88,312, consisting principally of money, $75,000, and undivided interest in the estate of Philip A. Roach, $5000, and land in Monterey County, $6000.

Mary E. Dutton's estate has been appraised. It consists of a stock of corporations, money in bank and real estate.

He Was "Dead Broke." E. Calhoun, an ex-saloon-keeper of Santa Cruz, was arrested yesterday by Detective Anthony. He was seen with a valuable blue buggy robe, with red stripes, which he pawned. He told the detective he had picked it up on the street, but the police believe he stole it, as he confessed he was "dead broke."

Will Pay Copeland's Note. Judge Coffey made an order yesterday last morning in E. Stanford, as executor of the estate of the late Leland Stanford, to pay to J. S. Copeland $500,000 due on a note dated November 15, 1893, the same being secured by a mortgage on land in Tehama County.

THREE MEN LOST.

From a Sealer in Japan—Water Front Notes.

The sealing schooner C. G. White arrived yesterday, thirty-six days from Hakodate. The White transferred her skins in Japanese waters. Three of her crew were also transferred to the sealer Hermann, which is reported to have gone hunting in the vicinity of Copper Island.

The reason for the Hermann having secured the White's spare men was to fill the vacancies in her made by the death of three of her regular hunters and boatmen during an accident to one of her boats.

The craft containing the three men captured during a squall, and her occupants sank before assistance could be rendered them.

Mrs. Chris Evans and the remains of the Evans and Sonnet theatrical combination came down from Portland on the Columbia yesterday. During the voyage Mrs. Evans created a scene in the dining-saloon by inviting a steamer passenger to dine with her. The passenger, an auxiliary of the "company," took his seat at the table, was discovered and unceremoniously hustled below, notwithstanding the protests of the waiter.

Captain Hanna and Superintendent J. D. Bennett of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company are expected back from their trip to Tokyo today.

Captain Hanna will sail in command of the steamer Pomona for Eureka next Saturday.

Cartledge, mate of the British ship Forteviot, was credited with having indulged in reckless practice with a pistol at Long bridge last Friday night. The story was told by a number of persons on the boat, but there was not a line of truth in it. Mr. Cartledge is an able officer, sober and attentive to business at all times, and the story of his great injustice is a disgrace to Chief Wharfinger James Doobar who returned from Seattle, where he has been enjoying a well-earned vacation.

Mr. Doobar has been mentioned by outsiders once or twice in connection with the water-front belt-line grab. The chief's business is similar to that of the State's attorney, in that he is only justice to acknowledge the services of an honest official by saying that his administration has been one of credit and is above reproach.

The agitation against the Southern Pacific's grab and the Harbor Commissioners' present to the municipality of the State front is growing in popular favor daily.

UNDER NEW RULES

Important Custom-House Changes.

An Effort to Make Smuggling Difficult—Removal of Jerome and Tobin Deferred.

A portion of the report made by the special agents who recently investigated the Custom-house was received by the Collector from Washington yesterday.

The report that advises the removal of Deputies Jerome and Tobin will be held at the capital until Hamlin's arrival from Alaska. It will then be referred to Collector Wise for action.

The following recommendations of the special agents have been approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, and the changes which they will be adopted as soon as possible:

A thorough probing of sugar, rice and vegetable oils, and the removal of the requirement that the packages of imported Chinese goods under one mark often be sealed by the collector, and to examine required to have consecutive numbers, or otherwise all should be examined.

The presence of a suitable revenue boat is required to prevent smuggling of opium at San Francisco, together with a steam launch with a motor launch and a tug.

Two inspectors should be stationed at the Southern Pacific sheds and one at the Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office in the city to examine freight arriving from the vicinity of Puget Sound as domestic freight.

To prevent the use of a room for the storage of opium, the collector should be required to submit to an appraising officer and only a record is made of registered packages. A full record of the packages should be kept, with the address, description of the merchandise, value rate and amount of duty.

The report of the collector is not required to swear to his entry at the time he makes it. He may make his declaration at any time within thirty days of the date of entry, contrary to the regulations. The oath should be taken when the entry is first presented.

To prevent the use of the fraudulent use of certificates of exportation issued at San Francisco covering bags shipped to other ports, the collector should be required to issue certificates for the entire lot of goods, and not for individual bags.

It is understood that Deputy Jerome's action in permitting the withdrawal of the rails referred to in the paragraph of the report was due to the reasons given for his removal.

MRS. KEATING'S FUNERAL.

Widow of the Late Superintendent of the Almshouse Buried. Yesterday the funeral of Mrs. Mary Ann Keating, widow of the late M. J. Keating, for nearly twenty years superintendent of the City and County Almshouse, took place from her late residence, 830 Green street. The ceremony was also connected with the Almshouse as matron and together with her husband was very popular among the inmates.

The funeral was held in accordance with the wish of the deceased. Father Coulan performed the services at St. Francis Church, whence the remains were taken to Green Hill Cemetery. The pallbearers were: Dr. Simpson, F. P. Callahan, Stewart Mezzies, Dr. Barger, H. Black and Peter Keitcher.

Mrs. Keating's death last Monday was the result of a complication of disorders. She never really recovered from the grief of her husband's loss four years ago and her health had lately been continually falling.

Will Pay Copeland's Note. Judge Coffey made an order yesterday last morning in E. Stanford, as executor of the estate of the late Leland Stanford, to pay to J. S. Copeland $500,000 due on a note dated November 15, 1893, the same being secured by a mortgage on land in Tehama County.
