

LOCKED HER UP.

Treatment of a Business Man's Wife.

THE HUSBAND WAS DECEIVED

Discovered That She Was Fond of Company.

SO HE PUT HER UNDER GUARD.

But She Escapes and Has Her Husband Arrested for Non-Support.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Society is engaged with the domestic troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Kellogg. Mr. Kellogg is the head of the Kellogg Iron Works, a large establishment which recently became embarrassed. About ten days ago a receiver was appointed for the works. Two weeks ago Mr. Kellogg returned from a business trip. His children told him that strange happenings had been going on in his absence, and they left the house and went to live with friends.

Mr. Kellogg determined to learn for himself, so he announced that he was going away for a week. He returned unexpectedly and was denied admission to his house. He broke in the door and, according to his story, found men there with his wife and the housekeeper and wine flowing. He drove the intruders out and discharged the housekeeper. Then he brought to the house a private detective, gave him the keys and told him to see that no one called on Mrs. Kellogg and that nothing was taken away from the house.

Mrs. Kellogg remained under guard for more than a week. The butcher and the grocer stopped coming to the house because Mr. Kellogg had failed and owed them money, and Mrs. Kellogg alleges that she has been nearly starved to death. In the meantime the housekeeper, whom Mr. Kellogg holds responsible for most of the trouble, was doing everything possible to secure Mrs. Kellogg's release, but without avail. Finally Mrs. Kellogg got out on Saturday while the guard was eating. She went to the Police Court and swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband, charging him with non-support. The warrant was served last night and Mr. Kellogg will be arraigned to-day.

Mrs. Kellogg declares that her husband has shown signs of insanity and accuses him of a terrible crime against a member of his family. She will bring suit for separation.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

The Hot Spell Favored the Raisin-Growers.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 24.—Director Barwick of the California Weather Service, in his report for the week ending September 24, summarizes as follows: The average temperature for San Francisco was 66 deg., Eureka 56, Red Bluff 82, Sacramento 77, Fresno 80, Los Angeles 68 and San Diego 68. As compared with the normal temperature there is an excess of heat shown at all points north of Tehachas 1, while south of that point a slight heat deficiency is reported, being 1 deg. at both Los Angeles and San Diego. The excess at San Francisco was 4 deg., Eureka 2, Red Bluff 10, Sacramento 8 and Fresno 6. This excessive heat and constant sunshine has made the week's weather all that could be desired for the raisin-growers in the great raisin districts of the San Joaquin Valley and the crop is being harvested as rapidly as possible.

Generally all crops are secured, excepting the raisin grapes, the bean crop and a few late varieties of fruit, which are now being gathered. Preparations are being made in the great wheat counties of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys for seeding grain on the summer fallowed grounds. Hop is about all picked, baled and stored, waiting an advance in the price, although some few growers have shipped a portion of their crops. The highest temperature was 108, at Huron, Fresno county, and the lowest 31, at Adin, Modoc county.

AN EX-POLICEMAN KILLED.

Fatal Termination of a Feud Between Brothers-in-Law.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Joe Corcan, an ex-policeman, was shot and killed to-night by his brother-in-law, another ex-policeman. Valenzuela surrendered himself after the killing, and claimed it was done in self-defense. The cause of the trouble originated over two years ago, when Valenzuela was accused by Corcan of chastising his little boy. Ever since the incident of Valenzuela punishing his child there has been bad blood between the men, although they and their families reside side by side on Boyle Heights. They met on the road to-day and had some words. Valenzuela claims that his brother-in-law struck him, when he drew his revolver, firing two shots, both taking effect in a vital spot. No weapons were found upon the dead man's person, and it is thought he had nothing with which to attack Valenzuela.

Last night she went home and her husband tried to get her in the house, but she fled back to the Nash house. Dunn followed her, and she sought refuge with neighbors. The police were called and found him on the rear porch of Nash's residence with a gash in his throat. He will survive. VERY RAW WORK.

Jockeys Walked Their Horses

BEFORE A JEERING CROWD.

Neither Judges Nor Owners Protested.

RAN DOWN THE HOMESTRETCH.

How the Race Between Banquet and Sir Excess Degenerated into a Farce.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—This was a discouraging day at the opening of Jerome Park. Only twenty out of forty-two entries went to the post. In the handicap all were scratched but Banquet and Sir Excess, with the former a strong favorite. When the flag fell the two went away at a very slow pace, amid the jeers of the spectators, and when they reached the grandstand in the backstretch, the hooting was louder than had been heard on a track in years. It had no effect on the jockeys, for they fairly walked their horses around the clubhouse turn, and never tried to race until the stretch was reached, when both made a rush, and they finished with Sir Excess three-quarters of a length in the lead.

Then came the match between Harry Reed and Gotham, in which the former was an odds on favorite. On the turn under the clubhouse Gotham tried to bite Harry Reed several times, but could not reach him, and then Simms rode close to Gotham and Taral had to pull back for fear of going over the fence. Gotham never got to Harry Reed to the end. Loud shouts of "Foul" were heard everywhere, and the stewards finally disqualified Harry Reed, charging him with foul play. Then, to complete their work, the stewards fined Simms $200 and suspended him for the rest of the meeting.

In the opening race Stonewall was a prohibitive favorite, and won without being pushed. In the second race came another Dwyer victory. Kennet won from the favorite, Manchester. Four out of twelve entries went to the post in the fifth race, and St. Michael was the favorite. He could not negotiate the turns, and finished third. Five furlongs, Stonewall won, Blackhawk second, Partisella third. Time, 1:02. Five and a half furlongs, Kennet won, Manchester second, Tucson third. Time, 1:10. American Jockey Club handicap, nine and a fourth furlongs, Exacto second. Time, 2:24. Jerome stake, five and a half furlongs, Gotham won, Harry Reed lost on a foul. Time not given.
