

SUTRO LOVES ART.

Sale of the Noted "Palm Sunday Mass."

TOWN LOTS FOR HIGH ART.

Mr. Alexander Wants to Get His Commission

AND WILL SUE TO RECOVER.

The Man Who Was "a Daisy" and Who Could Sell Pictures to Anybody.

When George de Sosnowski, chief of the Polish art display, gets back to the land of his birth he will have a hard time convincing Jasloski, the painter of the "Palm Sunday Mass" that the town lots in San Francisco are as good as the rubble of the realm.

It appears that the Polish Art Society placed the pictures of its artists in the hands of Sosnowski, who in turn fell into the hands of Mr. Alexander, a gentleman who insinuated himself into the good graces of the Polish representative by promising to sell his pictures at good Pacific Coast prices for a reasonable commission.

George de Sosnowski.

me to get to work, why the pictures are as good as sold. As a negotiator in fine art I am a daisy. Then, again, we can sell a barrel-full of photographs every day. Just let me get at it and I'll show you how to get some stiff prices from the jumb.

Mr. Alexander's assurance that he was everything a man ought to be to make cash rates seemed to be sufficient, and they permitted him to go ahead. He sold a good many photographs, and excitement over a little success ran high, but when he got down to selling the originals his speed slackened a knot or two.

This vision was scoffed at by the Poles, who had taken his secretary, Mrs. Niedziedzinski, in as an advisor and assistant, the latter gentleman adding to the scoffing.

"Well, then, I'll get Adolph Sutro down here to look at the 'Palm Sunday Mass,'" said Alexander, "and see if we can get $2500 out of him. Ah! gentlemen, there is a patron of the arts. There is a man who will rave and tear his hair over that picture. The minute he gets a glimpse of the frame he is gone. Just let me get him down here for about ten minutes and I'll hit him for $2800, taking $300 for myself. Don't say a word, but let me engineer this deal. I tell you, gentlemen, I am a daisy."

In a few days Mr. Alexander, true to his promise, brought Mr. Sutro to see the picture. He laid his hand on the capitalist's arm with a "Did you ever see such a work in your life? Don't it beat anything ever exhibited in this country? Just look at that atmosphere, that light, that light ground, the rich robes, that shaft of light as if coming from heaven, and the perspective. Why, Sutro, it is an inspiration."

Mr. Adolph Sutro, who is something of a critic himself, and knows a good thing when he sees it, managed to keep cool during the outpouring of soul from Mr. Alexander, and finally inquired the price.

"Well," Mr. Alexander answered, assuming a studied expression, "you can have it way down low—say $2800."

"What? That is more than it is worth. I'll give you two town lots on the corner of First avenue and California street, with $200 cash to boot."

Alexander scratched his head and the Poles looked at him with an inquiring glance. Presently he found his tongue.

"That's just the proper thing, gentlemen. Those lots will be worth a mint of money in a year or two. Take him up on that, by all means. You'll never get another chance at these lots like that. For heaven's sake, get it."

A short parley ensued, which was frequently punctuated by real estate reviews by Alexander. One of the Poles was willing to accept the terms at once, but the other held out a few moments before coming over to the plan. Finally the trade was completed and the transfers were made.

As soon as the business was completed the Custom-house authorities swooped down on Mr. Sosnowski for the duty and gathered in the $200, which amount Alexander was trying to get his hands upon also. The Poles found that the lots were worth but $900 at present, and have concluded that they cannot wait for them to increase in value.

The way things have shaped themselves

A RABBI RESIGNS.

Sonneschein Leaves Ohabai Shalome.

HE WAS TOO PROGRESSIVE.

That is One Reason Assigned for the Change.

SINGULAR RETICENCE OBSERVED

He Once Held a High Position at a Large Salary in St. Louis.

The members of the Ohabai Shalome congregation were treated to a sensation yesterday morning at their temporary place of worship, the Golden Gate Hall on Sutter street. This orthodox congregation was celebrating the second day of its services on holidays, and most of our members prefer to do so.

"Do you intend to build a new synagogue?" "Well, I really cannot say. It is, to tell the truth, a matter of dollars and cents. We are not a wealthy congregation, and cannot afford to build just now."

Rabbi Sonneschein was "not at home" to press representatives last evening. DAVID WOOSTER'S WILL. An Eccentric Document With Some Eccentric Provisions.

The holographic will of the late Dr. David Wooster was filed for probate yesterday. The estate is valued at $10,000 only, all consisting of real estate in this city and in Sonoma County.

The testator bequeaths his whole estate to his widow, Frances Helen, the real property in trust for her use during her life, with the residue to three daughters, Mrs. Blanche Weems of Sonoma, Mrs. Jean Margaret Taylor and Mrs. Frances Elizabeth Burtis of San Francisco.

The testator's friend and relative, Rev. Joseph "Wooster," of San Francisco is requested to act with Mrs. Wooster in the administration of the estate. A request is also made that Judge Hamilton be employed as attorney, and failing him, Hyland Wallace, son of Judge Wallace, act in this capacity.

Then follows an unusual request: "I wish my body to be cremated under the direction of J. C. O'Connor & Co., and my remains to be taken to the crematory in a plain rectangular redwood casket, unadorned and unpolished. No flowers at my funeral."

Rev. Joseph Wooster is to conduct the religious services, "if my friends desire religious services."

The conclusion of this singular document is as follows: "I hope for a conscientious life after death, and am satisfied to trust myself to the Supreme Ruler of all things. And do not expect to ask of him any special ruling in my favor."

"Died" at three o'clock and ten minutes (3:10) in the afternoon, Friday, May 4, 1894. DAVID WOOSTER. (Son of John of Edward of Abraham, son of Abraham of Edward, the first Wooster in America.)

Attached to the will is a codicil: "I do not wish any real estate sold until after the expiration of ten years and one day after my death." DAVID WOOSTER. "September 4, 1894."

Judge Noble Hamilton has applied for letters of administration upon the estate on behalf of the executor and executrix.

DICK STILL SICK.

His Trial Is Once More Continued.

Judge Murphy Not Satisfied With Counsel's Explanations, and Wants to See the Physician.

Yesterday was the day set for the trial of R. H. McDonald Jr., Hiram T. Graves, Charles Montgomery and A. L. Jenkins for embezzlement of the Swanberg securities from the People's Bank. But once again has Judge Murphy been compelled to grant a continuance on the ground of the severe sickness of Dick McDonald.

When the cases were called yesterday morning Attorney Livernash stated that his client through sickness was unable to appear. He was in the hands of a physician at the County Jail, and was at present unable to leave the room. It would be necessary under the circumstances to ask for a continuance of the case.

"Where is the physician in attendance upon Mr. McDonald and who is he?" impatiently asked Judge Murphy. "It is Dr. Davis, your Honor," replied Livernash. "Dr. Davis gives it in his opinion that Mr. McDonald is quite unfit to appear."

"I must have Dr. Davis here so that I may judge for myself. Adjourn the case until 2 o'clock this afternoon and have Dr. Davis here by then."

When 2 o'clock came the parties reassembled in court, but Dr. Davis was not forthcoming. Instead, Mr. Livernash produced a certificate signed by the physician declaring Mr. McDonald unable to leave his room.

"It won't do," again remarked Judge Murphy. "I tell you that I desired to have the physician in attendance, in order that I might question him myself and find out the extent of Mr. McDonald's illness. I want to find out when this trial is likely to proceed."

"Your Honor," pleaded Livernash, "Dr. Davis would have been here but the notice served upon him was too short."

"Well, let him come to-morrow morning, then," and with that Judge Murphy adjourned the case of the People vs. R. H. McDonald et al. until this morning at 10 o'clock. Of the other three defendants it is said that Charles Montgomery chafes most at the delay. He is strong in the conviction that he will be soon able to show matters up in an entirely new light.

To Lecture on Socialism. Rev. Dr. Scott, moderator of the Presbyterian Synod, will lecture to-night on the subject of "Christian Socialism," at the Temple, 115 Turk street.

SHE SKIPPED OUT.

A Wealthy Grocer's Wife Disappears

ALONG WITH HIS COIN

And All of His Valuable Bonds and Papers.

IN LOVE WITH A CONDUCTOR.

Mrs. Stelling Gives Her Husband the Slip and Takes With Her a Fortune.

Charles Stelling, grocer and capitalist, is out $5000 in cash, all his deeds to valuable property, and a pretty brunette wife, who has deserted him for one Alexander McNeil, a car conductor on the Castro-street line, who won the fair Mrs. Stelling's affections, and incidentally all of Capitalist Stelling's coin.

Bonds, papers, everything disappeared from the Stelling residence at 819 Seventeenth street, and now there is a whole lot of woe bespreading the countenance of Charles Stelling, who was so foolish as to let his wife into all of his financial secrets and to sign over to her all his property, valued at nearly $90,000.

Mrs. Stelling became fascinated with McNeil a number of months ago. She often rode in with him on the Castro-street cars and listened to the winning way with which he called for "fares, please." There was a fascination for her in the very jingle of the bell and the clanging of a bell, when said sound emanated from the car driven by her own dear Alexander.

Charles Stelling, though extremely eccentric, was not unkind to his spouse. He reposed the greatest confidence in her and one day told her that he had stowed away in a certain large chest a big pile of gold and currency "for an emergency," he explained. The emergency came, so far as Mrs. S. was concerned, and she did not hesitate to lower the fortune by means of a clothesline to the anxious Alexander, who, on last Wednesday night, stationed himself beneath a rear window of the Stelling mansion to receive both the money and the fair female who sidled down after it.

Stelling is proprietor of two grocery stores in Eureka Valley, owner of a coal-yard and of property in various parts of the city. When he married his wife it is said that he made over to her a piece of property on Clay street valued at nearly $25,000. Later he bequeathed her his entire estate for a reason best known to himself and which has not been explained.

He had not the faintest suspicion of the woman whom he had chosen to be his partner for life. He was too intent upon making money to pay any heed to the stories that were floating about regarding the intimacy of McNeil with the lady. It was not until he woke up last Thursday morning that he realized that she had gone and that she had left him almost penniless. Even the store that he now conducts stands in the faithless one's name, and Stelling is at a loss how to recover possession of any of his valuable worldly possessions.

Martin Stelling, brother of Charles, was appointed manager of the grocery store on the corner of Seventeenth and Church streets some time ago. This was done to further a business scheme of the keen Charles, who is said to have sold letters and tickets in addition to groceries. He always feared arrest and did not care to let the authorities know that he was a wealthy man.

Stelling is not handsome, though his ex-wife is. He is a hard-working man and his fortune was accumulated after years of saving and diligent attention to the making of the almighty dollar.

McNeil and Mrs. Stelling are supposed to have taken the $5000, which was hidden in a big chest, and started for the East or for Australia. Stelling is looking for them with a gun, and swears that he will get even for the trick that has been played upon him.

The quiet neighborhood of "Eureka Valley" is greatly wrought up over the affair, as no man is better known than Charles Stelling.

ALMOST COMPLETE.

The portfolio of "Picturesque California" that will be issued next week will complete the entire set of THE CALL'S great premium. There are still a few back numbers in stock that can be obtained at the regular price—ten cents and one coupon.

A STRANGER BUNKOED.

Joseph Koschts From Salt Lake Parts With $35. Joseph Koschts is a cook from Salt Lake City, and has been here only a few days. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock he made the acquaintance of a nice dressed young man, who steered him into a back room of the saloon, 411 Taylor street, where two other men were enjoying a game of cards. He was invited to join the game, and in a few minutes lost $35.

He told Policeman W. Dinnan of his loss, and yesterday afternoon he pointed out a young man who was one of the three that won his money. Dinnan placed the young man under arrest and took him to the City Prison, where he was booked on the charge of obtaining money by false trick and device. He proved to be H. L. Walters, alias Williams, a well-known bunko man from the East, who has made the acquaintance of the police on several occasions.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE SEASON.

Four choice upright pianos are offered at special prices this week at the well-fitted warehouses of The J. Dewing Company, second floor, Flood building. The cases are elegant, the tone musical, action perfect, altogether extremely desirable instruments. You must be quick, if you wish to pay for them at the special price. It will pay you to do so now. Better call at once.

HIS PURSE WAS EMPTY.

A badly decomposed body was found in the bay, near Powell-street wharf, last night. The remains were those of a man apparently about 35 years of age. He had black hair and mustache and wore a neat worsted suit, white shirt, standing collar, black cravat and black-brown underclothes. An empty purse was in his pocket.

INCLINE—RECLINE—DECLINE.

Furniture experts are inclining to the belief that the elegant "Big Man" Reclining Chairs (upholstered in plush) which have declined in price from $30 to $20 are wonderful cheap. Closing-out sale of Chicago Clock Company, 1622 Market street.

DEATHS OF SEPTEMBER.

The report of the Board of Health for September shows a mortality of 494, against 468 for the same month last year. There were fifteen suicides, five fatal casualties and one homicide.

SHE SKIPPED OUT.

A Wealthy Grocer's Wife Disappears

ALONG WITH HIS COIN

And All of His Valuable Bonds and Papers.

IN LOVE WITH A CONDUCTOR.

Mrs. Stelling Gives Her Husband the Slip and Takes With Her a Fortune.

Charles Stelling, grocer and capitalist, is out $5000 in cash, all his deeds to valuable property, and a pretty brunette wife, who has deserted him for one Alexander McNeil, a car conductor on the Castro-street line, who won the fair Mrs. Stelling's affections, and incidentally all of Capitalist Stelling's coin.

Bonds, papers, everything disappeared from the Stelling residence at 819 Seventeenth street, and now there is a whole lot of woe bespreading the countenance of Charles Stelling, who was so foolish as to let his wife into all of his financial secrets and to sign over to her all his property, valued at nearly $90,000.

Mrs. Stelling became fascinated with McNeil a number of months ago. She often rode in with him on the Castro-street cars and listened to the winning way with which he called for "fares, please." There was a fascination for her in the very jingle of the bell and the clanging of a bell, when said sound emanated from the car driven by her own dear Alexander.

Charles Stelling, though extremely eccentric, was not unkind to his spouse. He reposed the greatest confidence in her and one day told her that he had stowed away in a certain large chest a big pile of gold and currency "for an emergency," he explained. The emergency came, so far as Mrs. S. was concerned, and she did not hesitate to lower the fortune by means of a clothesline to the anxious Alexander, who, on last Wednesday night, stationed himself beneath a rear window of the Stelling mansion to receive both the money and the fair female who sidled down after it.

Stelling is proprietor of two grocery stores in Eureka Valley, owner of a coal-yard and of property in various parts of the city. When he married his wife it is said that he made over to her a piece of property on Clay street valued at nearly $25,000. Later he bequeathed her his entire estate for a reason best known to himself and which has not been explained.

He had not the faintest suspicion of the woman whom he had chosen to be his partner for life. He was too intent upon making money to pay any heed to the stories that were floating about regarding the intimacy of McNeil with the lady. It was not until he woke up last Thursday morning that he realized that she had gone and that she had left him almost penniless. Even the store that he now conducts stands in the faithless one's name, and Stelling is at a loss how to recover possession of any of his valuable worldly possessions.

Martin Stelling, brother of Charles, was appointed manager of the grocery store on the corner of Seventeenth and Church streets some time ago. This was done to further a business scheme of the keen Charles, who is said to have sold letters and tickets in addition to groceries. He always feared arrest and did not care to let the authorities know that he was a wealthy man.

Stelling is not handsome, though his ex-wife is. He is a hard-working man and his fortune was accumulated after years of saving and diligent attention to the making of the almighty dollar.

McNeil and Mrs. Stelling are supposed to have taken the $5000, which was hidden in a big chest, and started for the East or for Australia. Stelling is looking for them with a gun, and swears that he will get even for the trick that has been played upon him.

The quiet neighborhood of "Eureka Valley" is greatly wrought up over the affair, as no man is better known than Charles Stelling.

ALMOST COMPLETE.

The portfolio of "Picturesque California" that will be issued next week will complete the entire set of THE CALL'S great premium. There are still a few back numbers in stock that can be obtained at the regular price—ten cents and one coupon.

A STRANGER BUNKOED.

Joseph Koschts From Salt Lake Parts With $35. Joseph Koschts is a cook from Salt Lake City, and has been here only a few days. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock he made the acquaintance of a nice dressed young man, who steered him into a back room of the saloon, 411 Taylor street, where two other men were enjoying a game of cards. He was invited to join the game, and in a few minutes lost $35.

He told Policeman W. Dinnan of his loss, and yesterday afternoon he pointed out a young man who was one of the three that won his money. Dinnan placed the young man under arrest and took him to the City Prison, where he was booked on the charge of obtaining money by false trick and device. He proved to be H. L. Walters, alias Williams, a well-known bunko man from the East, who has made the acquaintance of the police on several occasions.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE SEASON.

Four choice upright pianos are offered at special prices this week at the well-fitted warehouses of The J. Dewing Company, second floor, Flood building. The cases are elegant, the tone musical, action perfect, altogether extremely desirable instruments. You must be quick, if you wish to pay for them at the special price. It will pay you to do so now. Better call at once.

HIS PURSE WAS EMPTY.

A badly decomposed body was found in the bay, near Powell-street wharf, last night. The remains were those of a man apparently about 35 years of age. He had black hair and mustache and wore a neat worsted suit, white shirt, standing collar, black cravat and black-brown underclothes. An empty purse was in his pocket.

INCLINE—RECLINE—DECLINE.

Furniture experts are inclining to the belief that the elegant "Big Man" Reclining Chairs (upholstered in plush) which have declined in price from $30 to $20 are wonderful cheap. Closing-out sale of Chicago Clock Company, 1622 Market street.

DEATHS OF SEPTEMBER.

The report of the Board of Health for September shows a mortality of 494, against 468 for the same month last year. There were fifteen suicides, five fatal casualties and one homicide.

SOL H. SONNESCHIN.

[From a photograph taken in St. Louis.]

MASTER AND MAN.

An Employer's Liability Defined.

The Circuit Court of Appeals Holds That He Must Provide for the Safety of His Men.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals rendered a decision yesterday that will deeply interest employers and workmen. The case was that of the Alaska Treadwell Mining Company against Patrick Whelan, an appeal from the District Court of Alaska. Whelan was employed by the company in its mine on Douglas Island, and was severely and permanently injured by being drawn through a chute. He was working on a heap of rock at the mouth of the chute. He had to break rock and get it ready to go through chutes to be loaded for conveyance to the mill. It was the fireman's duty to tell him when the chute would be drawn, but in this instance the fireman failed to notify him and he went down with the rock.

In the lower court the company moved for dismissal on the ground that Whelan's injuries had been caused not by their negligence but by the negligence of his co-employee, the fireman. Judge and jury took a different view of the matter, and Whelan was awarded a verdict of $2500 and costs. The lower court held that the fireman could not be regarded as a fellow servant with Whelan, but that he was a representative, and any negligence on his part must be regarded as negligence of the master. The Court of Appeals took the same view and approved the verdict of the lower court.

The Supreme Court of the United States, it is said, has repeatedly declared that a master in employing a servant impliedly engages with him that the place in which he is to work and the tools and machinery which are furnished him, or the instrumentalities by which he is surrounded, shall be reasonably safe, and that a failure to discharge this duty exposes the master to liability for any injury caused thereby to the servant; that it is wholly immaterial how or by whom the master discharged that duty, and that the master's liability is not made to depend in any manner upon the grade of service of a co-employee, but upon the character of the act itself and a breach of the positive obligations of the master.

"It was the master's duty in the present case to provide a reasonably safe place for his employees to work, to keep the chutes through which the quartz was drawn in reasonably good condition and repair; to employ competent persons in the management thereof, and to notify the workmen engaged in breaking rock in the pit when the rock in the chute would be drawn. Plaintiff, by his contract of service, did not assume the risk that this duty would not be performed."

GRATEFUL TO BALDWIN.

Ezeta Gives Thanks to the United States Marshal.

General Antonio Ezeta, formerly of San Salvador, now of Mexico, has sent the following acknowledgment through his attorneys, to United States Marshal Baldwin: "Hon. Barry Baldwin—DEAR SIR: Owing to our hurried departure from San Salvador our ourselves were able to thank you for your exceeding kindness to us. The general desires to say that he can never thank you sufficiently for your kindness to him, which made the period of his detention one of pleasure rather than incarceration. For us we can, perhaps, better than any one appreciate the time spent for our friends and ourselves, and hope that we may again meet to express our obligations and gratitude. I am, Sir, yours truly, GONZALO DE QUESADA."

GRATEFUL TO BALDWIN.

Ezeta Gives Thanks to the United States Marshal.

General Antonio Ezeta, formerly of San Salvador, now of Mexico, has sent the following acknowledgment through his attorneys, to United States Marshal Baldwin: "Hon. Barry Baldwin—DEAR SIR: Owing to our hurried departure from San Salvador our ourselves were able to thank you for your exceeding kindness to us. The general desires to say that he can never thank you sufficiently for your kindness to him, which made the period of his detention one of pleasure rather than incarceration. For us we can, perhaps, better than any one appreciate the time spent for our friends and ourselves, and hope that we may again meet to express our obligations and gratitude. I am, Sir, yours truly, GONZALO DE QUESADA."

GRATEFUL TO BALDWIN.

Ezeta Gives Thanks to the United States Marshal.

General Antonio Ezeta, formerly of San Salvador, now of Mexico, has sent the following acknowledgment through his attorneys, to United States Marshal Baldwin: "Hon. Barry Baldwin—DEAR SIR: Owing to our hurried departure from San Salvador our ourselves were able to thank you for your exceeding kindness to us. The general desires to say that he can never thank you sufficiently for your kindness to him, which made the period of his detention one of pleasure rather than incarceration. For us we can, perhaps, better than any one appreciate the time spent for our friends and ourselves, and hope that we may again meet to express our obligations and gratitude. I am, Sir, yours truly, GONZALO DE QUESADA."

"In what regard is he in discord?" was asked. "Well, he is too reformed and progressive. It is known that the rabbi is not in sympathy with our holding two days

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE. The best or all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

DRY GOODS. MOURNING AND BLACK DRESS GOODS! We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of our complete stock of FOREIGN BLACK AND MOURNING DRESS FABRICS for Fall and Winter 1894. The assortment is the most complete ever shown by us and includes the very latest London and Paris styles. 150 Novelty Dress Patterns $5.25 Each, 200 Novelty Dress Patterns 7.00 Each, 125 Novelty Dress Patterns 8.75 Each, 100 Novelty Dress Patterns 10.50 Each, 175 Novelty Dress Patterns 12.25 Each, 50 Novelty Dress Patterns 14.00 Each, 25 Novelty Dress Patterns 16.00 Each, 20 Novelty Dress Patterns 21.00 Each, 15 Novelty Dress Patterns 25.00 Each. SPECIAL! 25 pieces Black GENUINE SCOTCH CHEVIOT 75c Yard, 40 pieces BLACK VIGOGNES, Rough effects, $1.00 Yard. Ladies are cordially invited to call and inspect the above goods, which in point of value are positively without equal in this city. O'Connor & Moffatt INCORPORATED 1892. 111, 113, 115, 117, 119, 121 POST STREET. 6023 S. W. W. ST.

STOP THAT LEAK. Are you aware that your yearly income has a serious leak? It's not what you expend legitimately or extravagantly—both are within your control—but what you waste without knowing it. Take the retail price of SHOES—one or two dealers' profits are added to the FACTORY PRICE. What you pay to cover those profits is entirely wasted. STOP THAT LEAK! Come to the factory RETAILING AT FACTORY PRICES. The latest—DR. BERGER'S PERFECTION CORN FILE—Here or at druggists.

THOS. H. B. VARNEY, RAMBLER BICYCLES, 1325 Market Street, Bet. Ninth and Tenth. $100! $100! $100! 1894 RAMBLER BICYCLES Reduced to $100. Now is your chance to get the best Bicycle in the world for $100. 1894 Ramblers, guaranteed for one year against flaws in material and imperfections in workmanship. $100! $100! $100! This price applies to such stock as I have on hand and after these are sold you can get no more.

A CHANCE TO OBTAIN A Lot for $4, Near Oakland. Join Ross Tract Lot Club No. 2. Roll now ready for signatures. Send for circulars, map, etc., which give a full description of the property, the system of drawing, the names of those who have been successful in drawing lots in Club No. 1. Address, E. WARREN, Tribune Office, Oakland. 507 2nd St.

ROSENTHAL, FEDER & CO. WHOLESALE SHOE MANUFACTURERS, 581-583 MARKET ST. NEAR SECOND. Open till 8 P. M. Saturdays Till 10. FOR STYLISH CAPES Good-Fitting Jackets, Tailor-Made Suits, Lovely Fur Capes, The Cheapest Place in the City IS AT ARMAND GAILLEAU'S 46 and 48 Geary Street. COAL! COAL! THE LEADING FAMILY AND BUSINESS HOUSE IN SAN FRANCISCO. Rates $1 to $1.50 per day. The house has recently been remodeled at an expense of $50,000. RING, WARD & CO. Proprs.