

THE PARKS NEW PLAY-GROUNDS.

TWENTY ACRES OF LAWN FOR THE BOYS TO PLAY BASEBALL UPON.

TWO DONKEYS BORN LATELY.

SEEDS OF THE BEAUTIFUL NIGHT BLOOMING CERUS PLANTED.

The work of converting about twenty acres of the old Midwinter Fair site into an immense lawn to be used as a baseball, football and general play-ground for boys in Golden Gate Park is rapidly progressing.

Superintendent McLaren says that fully two miles of eight, six, four and two inch pipe have already been laid. This, with the proper fittings, will constitute the irrigation plant for this commodious grass plot.

The small gate at the exit of the merry-ground in the children's playground has been replaced by two large swinging-gates. This is an improvement, as it will allow the hundreds of children to leave the inclosure without crushing and jamming as heretofore.

The popcorn and icecream making department has been removed from the basement of the dairy building to an addition built on the engine-house. This will enable the little ones to see how the confection they like so well is made and will act as a sort of guarantee of freshness.

The antics of two tiny donkeys which were born in the park not more than ten days ago are attracting a great deal of attention and furnishing any amount of amusement for the children and adult visitors as well.

These little fellows are to remain on the grounds, and in time will be trained and placed with the rest of the donkeys now being carried to the children's up and down the path for 2 1/2 cents a ride.

The squirrel cage is fairly alive with its many pretty little dwellers, some of which are quite tame, and when any one approaches they scamper to meet them and almost beg for a peanut or a piece of candy.

Most of the birds in the aviary are busy building their nests and from early morning till dark the air is resonant with their merry songs.

The buffaloes, "old brim" and the animals in the deer park seem to be getting along splendidly. The buffaloes especially are fat and lazy, and at almost any time may be seen slowly eating, as if with the object of killing time, rather than from necessity.

The fish pond in the conservatory has been emptied and cleaned, and four seeds of the beautiful Victoria Regina, or Night Blooming Cereus, have been planted here. These seeds are planted one in a glass. The first to sprout is given the preference, and as the others come up they are removed, as there is room for but one to grow in the pond at a time. Each flower furnishes about forty seeds, which must be kept in a bottle filled with water and tightly corked till the time for planting arrives. They are about the size of an ordinary pea.

GENTLEMEN TRAP-SHOOTERS

THE COUNTRY CLUB SPORTSMEN OPEN A SEASON'S GRASSING OF PIGEONS.

WHY FRED WEBSTER AND GEORGE CROCKER FELL OFF IN THEIR SHOOTING.

The Country Club opened its season's pigeon-shooting yesterday at the Oakland trotting park. The attendance was not large owing to the fact that a number of the members left on the afternoon's train for the club's headquarters at Point Reyes, where they will take advantage of the last Sunday of the open season for quail-shooting.

Among the most prominent of sportsmen who stood before the traps was the ex-president of the club, F. R. Webster, who as a pigeon-shooter ranks second to Fred Hoy, the American who has made some good races for prizes at the Monte Carlo tournament. It is said that Mr. Webster looks when at the trap like Mr. Hoy, and that when feeding his shooting he can easily pulverize his clever opponents. At yesterday's shooting Mr. Webster was a little careless at times, and as a consequence three birds escaped the leaden pellets and found their doom on the outside of the fence, while a regiment of small boys with cheap guns awaited the arrival of the feathered refugees.

Mr. Webster will be heard from later in the season in the most favorable light; he may possibly have been a little rusty yesterday, as rumor says he was among the number who enjoyed a pleasant outing on Friday at the club's headquarters near Olema.

George H. Crocker was disappointed by the score he made. Mr. Crocker figures in the logbooks of the club as being one of the most successful quail shots, therefore it is not at all surprising that he should have felt aggrieved yesterday at having missed five birds out of the twelve shot at. Austin Tubbs could not give any plausible reason for Mr. Crocker's poor score other than that he had been conversing dog with the champion snipe-shooter of the coast, H. T. Payne, and that he was very tired.

Edward Donahue and R. H. Sprague distinguished themselves by making clean shots without wounding the fact that some of the birds which were sprung to them were difficult to grass within the lines.

It was whispered about that the winners had been quietly practicing for this event for some time in anticipation of a close race with the champion snipe-shooter of the club, Sir William Kittle. The latter gentleman evidently surmised at an early hour what was in store for him, and to avoid any possible chance of defeat, quietly stole away to Point Reyes, from which place he is expected to return this evening with a nice bag of snipe and quail.

Considering that yesterday was the opening of the trap season the shooting was fine.

Trapper Rice introduced his new retriever—a black pointer of unknown pedigree—that made remarkably good service in retrieving dead and wounded birds. With the champion snipe-shooter of the traps, which he was sprung to them, at first. Toward the end of the shoot he caused no end of annoyance to the trapper by running deliberately up to the traps, pulling the strings with his teeth, and thereby liberating the imprisoned birds. The great kennel authority suggested as a remedy for bad field work that the dog receive fifty lashes each time he attempted string-pulling in the future.

The result of the shoot is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Name, Yards, Total. Lists names like R. H. Sprague, George Crocker, etc.

In the shoot-off at five birds for first prize Donahue defeated Sprague by one bird, having made a clean score.

The result of a six-bird sweepstake at $2.50 entrance was:

As will be observed by reference to the scores, Donahue and Sprague astonished their friends by their excellent shooting.

THEY ASK FINANCIAL AID. The Committee of Fifteen Issues an Appeal.

The following appeal to the citizens of San Francisco for aid in giving work to the deserving unemployed laborers of the city has been sent out over the signatures of Mayor Sutro, George K. Fitch and I. J. Truman, who were instructed to do so by the committee of fifteen:

A committee, organized for the purpose of relieving the distress among the unemployed men of employment, has ascertained that a great number, most of them having families depending upon them, though able and willing to do any kind of work, are at present unable to obtain employment of any kind.

This committee has, therefore, undertaken to devise ways and means for the employment of at least the most deserving and destitute of this number and is now able to place from 100 to 200 men to work cleaning the streets (which will give support to a far greater number depending upon them), in addition to those already so employed by the city.

The committee also asks the officers of all organizations, clubs and associations to assist in these efforts.

The appeal requests that contributions be sent to James R. Kelly, Hibernia Bank.

On the joint petition of J. W. Ingram and E. P. Colgan, State Controller, the Supreme Court has rendered a decision on the question whether or not the Legislature, in passing the coyote bounty act, appropriated necessary funds to pay the claims for scalps.

The objection to the payment of the claims was that the act made no appropriation for the purpose, and even if it had made appropriation as was held by the appellant, Ingram, the appropriation was void because of the uncertainty as to the amount.

The language of the act was cited in support of the theory of the appellant. It is that $5 for each coyote destroyed shall be paid out of the general fund.

The Supreme Court holds that the act does not create an appropriation.

IT IS MERELY A PROMISE OF THE LEGISLATURE TO PAY AT SOME FUTURE TIME.
