

ARNOLD A GOOD TRADING POINT.

It is surrounded by a Rich Farming and Grazing Country.

Despite the fact that Arnold has no railroad after so many efforts to get one have failed, she's still a good town and continues to forge ahead.

Arnold has four general stores, a drug store, a hardware store a first-class hotel a barber shop and restaurant and a blacksmith shop.

Among the live business men of the place is A. G. Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman formerly conducted a bank at Arnold, and three years ago entered the mercantile business.

The Kingman Hotel is run by J. C. and Mrs. Robinson. The Kingman is well worthy the popularity it has won with the traveling public.

Most of the farmers around Arnold are early settlers. There's J. H. McGuire, a thrifty farmer up in Powell canyon. On nearer the head of the canyon are C. B. Pearce, H. M. Graham and J. A. Schaad—all of whom are good farmers and more or less interested in the stock business.

Down in the valley of the South Loup are D. B. Simms, Lewis Kimberling, Wm. Lewis and Just Morrow, all of whom are well-to-do and successful. Nearer the river is the farm and ranch of Mrs. J. E. Logan.

Over in Mills valley Ira P. Mills has an excellent farm and ranch. The improvements here are among Custer county's best.

W. H. Thompson has a fine farm northwest of town. He is a hustling and enterprising farmer.

Across the river from Arnold is A. H. Needham, and old settler and a thrifty farmer. Among other excellent men and farmers who trade at Arnold are W. H. Moffitt, H. B. Black, A. S. Gamble, S. Edwards, J. W. Maxon, Wm. Shuck and J. H. Melton.

Our Exchanges.

Miss Effie Wright went to Broken Bow on Tuesday to visit for a few days with the family of James Whitehead.

Arthur Cornish's field of corn was visited by a hail storm on the night of the Fourth, and since then the hoppers have added their help.

Howard Yoder left this morning for his home near Lexington, where he goes to assist his father in the harvest field.

Corn generally is quite green, although some fields show that they have been sadly neglected. When our farmers learn to put in no larger crop than they can properly attend, they will not have so much cause to growl on account of hard times.

Isaac Clark, the Westerville miller, is having plank and piling hauled out for the dam this week.

T. J. Leech, one of the prominent farmers living near Westerville, marketed a bunch of twenty fine hogs at this place Wednesday.

Mrs. Thos. Williams came home Saturday night for a fortnight's visit with friends and relatives. She and her husband are located at Troy, Kan. Mrs. Williams says that they are thinking of returning to old Custer this fall.

Edward Miller of this place has announced himself a candidate for the nomination for register of deeds on the populist ticket.

The pay car went up the line yesterday, causing 2x4 smites to appear on the faces of the railroad men.

John Carter caught two carp Wednesday that weighed 134 pounds. This is a fish item, but it is true.

Dan Hagin, Tom Varney and W. T. B. Lawson drove to Broken Bow to witness the ball game between Brewster and Broken Bow nines.

The Anseley Electric Light & Power Co. have dropped the idea of moving their plant to Ravenna. The plant has been overhauled and put in fine shape and will soon illuminate the town again.

Major Elison and E. Clark took a drive to their farms at Algerton, Thursday morning to look at their crops. They say that the corn is holding its own remarkably well, in spite of the hot winds; that chinch bugs are doing very little damage; winter wheat good and rye immense; that oats and corn need rain, of course.

Catholic Schools.

The Roman Catholics have established a Convent of the Holy Child Jesus, and a high school in Lincoln for the educational advantages of their youth.

The St. Theresa Academy lays claim to being one of the best parish schools in the country. Its curriculum embraces primary, grammar and high school branches. The building is a handsome three-story brick structure, with brown stone trimmings. It contains seven finely arranged class rooms, a large hall used by the pupils of the school and the parishoners of St. Theresa's cathedral for entertainments, meetings and gatherings of every description.

Pupils who have completed St. Theresa's course are admitted to the State University or Creighton College. The school is under the direct control of nine Sisters of the B. V. M. The number of pupils attending St. Theresa's school is 320 boys and girls.

Anselmo.

Rev. Haney preached to a fair sized audience Sunday evening.

Billy Lutz is kept busy these days selling lumber and buying hogs.

Anselmo is not a "dry town," but still it is very dusty. Oh! for a rain.

Wm. Moore moved Monday into the Smith residence, which he bought some weeks ago.

Blanche Atkisson went to Cowles, Neb., Sunday night for a few weeks' visit with relatives.

The Christian Endeavor is prospering in membership and attendance, considering the hot weather.

Geo. Sims and Miss Nettie Hannawald are the teachers chosen for the Anselmo schools for the coming year.

Jim Judge, Roy Atkisson and Joe Moore made a two days' stay at the county capital last week, they being interested in the ball games there.

Farmers are beginning to cut their grain, but they find it quite light under the combined influence of the chinch bugs, grasshoppers and dry weather.

Mrs. Blanche Cornell, of Ord, visited her mother, Mrs. Tupper, last week. Friday morning they both went to Denver for a few days' visit.

Bert Elder has purchased a merry-go-round and set it up on the vacant lot next to Mrs. Thompson's building, and a merry crowd of children and young people can be seen there of evenings.

Charlie Smith and wife and Harvey and Daisy Smith will start Wednesday, by wagon, for the west to see the country and find a location. Their mother, Mrs. Emily Smith will go later by rail.

Ortello News.

G. O. Joyner cut his field of nice winter wheat last week.

Ortello was well represented at the Old Settlers' picnic.

We hope to be able to report at least two inches of rain next week.

Frank Edwards will start his threshing machine the last of this week to accommodate those who have rye.

Masters James and Lyle Cornish are spending a couple of weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fodge.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cornish and little sons, of Lodi, came over last Tuesday. They attended the Old Settlers' picnic while here.

Everybody is watching eagerly for some signs of rain, and though we see cool, refreshing looking clouds, none of them come near enough to give us moisture.

The people here met last Sunday evening to take the first steps toward erecting a church. Several committees were appointed for the different parts of the work.

Guy Ashbaugh, Mrs. Ashbaugh and Miss Ethel made a business trip to Broken Bow last week. It was their first trip to the county seat, and it is needless to say that they were well pleased with the town.

The chinch bugs and grasshoppers have destroyed most all the small grain and are now beginning on some of the corn. Some farmers are cutting small grain while green, in order to save the straw for feed.

Comro.

Josh Woods branded his calves Friday.

Aaron Ross lost a valuable horse last week.

A. T. Morgan had business in Sumner Monday.

Miss Ethel George was shopping in Sumner Tuesday.

Mrs. Abbie George visited Mrs. Al Morgan first of the week.

Lewis Hammer, of Omaha, was the guest of Josh Woods Friday.

Mrs. Abbie George has returned to her home in Kearney, after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Pigman.

Mrs. Emma D. George and Mrs. Walt George were entertained at tea by Mrs. McGeorge Wednesday last.

Gracie Mason had the misfortune to fall from a wagon recently and break her arm. The fracture is mending very slowly.

Ryno.

Ryno, July 18, 1901.

Two full moons in July.

B. O. Stodd lost a valuable mare last Saturday night.

One man has some grasshopper fungus and it will be given a fair test.

G. A. Griffith is building a 12x24 ft. addition to his frame house. E. G. Empfield is doing the work.

Messrs. Pickett and Pelkey are preparing to move their thresher to Polk county, where they expect to find plenty to do.

The weather continues very hot with mercury 98 to 105 in shade. With timely rains corn will be a fair crop, barring insects. Bugs and hoppers have destroyed all small grain and alfalfa and have commenced on corn. Several farmers are trying to destroy them. Shuman is catching them; Pickett is floating them down. Pickett says he is killing many. Some have almost concluded to burn the small grain. This would endanger the pastures

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, rubbers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while gases and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the affected parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use. and hay, with no destruction to insects. Mr. Griffith informs us there are many flocks of young chickens, quail and song birds now on the prairies which are killing more insects than could be reached with fire. We suggest that heavy floats be made and taken over the corn where the bugs have been at work; then plow and float or roll down soil.

Letter From Julius Ottun.

Boycoville Wis., July 8—I came here on March 10th. It was still good sleighing and lasted to the 1st of April. There was sleighing here for 145 days last winter. There are lots of timber and creeks here, so there is wood and running water on nearly every farm. What an advantage these would be to Nebraska. But this is no paradise; the soil is very poor compared to that of Nebraska. It is hard to open a farm here. There are pine stumps on the land that are 75 years old and remain as hard as ever. Nearly all the large timber around here has been cut, but there were 2,000,000 feet of lumber sawed and hauled to Boycoville for shipment. Some of it is worth $60 per thousand, it being clear oak and is used in making implements.

Business is fair and the prospects of the place are good. They raise all kinds of grain around here, but the fields are small and farming is but in its infancy. Tame grasses do well and many are going into the dairy business. There are a number of cheese factories and skimming stations in this section.

There was a big fire here on the night of July 4th, burning a large hotel, the only one in town; a saloon, an implement house and a confectionery store. There was a dance, and a large crowd in town or the whole place would have went up in smoke. That same day a young man lighted a large fire-cracker and threw it, striking a small boy in the back, breaking one rib and tearing a hole in the fleshy part of the back. The boy was seriously hurt, but is around again. The section boys here went up to St. Paul to have his teeth fixed and returned last night. He rode on the engine of a fast passenger which does not stop here, and the engineer promised to slow up for him to get off. In getting off he missed his footing, the steps of a passenger coach caught him and threw him under the wheels, cutting off one leg and otherwise injurying him. He was taken to a hospital at Chippewa Falls. His recovery is doubtful.

I wish someone in Round Valley and also from Somerford would send in some item to your valuable paper. Yours truly, JULIUS OTTUN.

It isn't the material that goes into your repaired watch that results in a perfect job, it's the know how that does the business, any bungler can buy the fine kinds of material that I use in repairing; but skill is the most valuable material that can be used in watch repairing; and the bungler can't buy it. I sell my skill for what it is worth and it will cost you less than bungling at lower prices. F. W. HAYES, Jeweler and Optician. West side of square.
