

POLITICAL.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS.

The New York republican state convention met at Richfield Springs, N. Y., on the 19th.

E. G. Lapham was unanimously chosen chairman. After appointment of the usual committees and transaction of routine business, the convention took a recess until 3 o'clock.

H. H. Hall moved the unanimous nomination of Gen. Jas. B. Carr for secretary of state. Carried unanimously. [Applause.]

Kisenburgh moved the adoption of the resolutions, and they were adopted unanimously.

Ira Davenport was renominated for comptroller by acclamation.

The ticket nominated is as follows: Secretary of state, General Joseph B. Carr; comptroller, Ira Davenport; state treasurer, Pliny I. Sexton; state engineer and surveyor, Silas Seymour; attorney general, Leslie W. Russell.

Following is a synopsis of the platform adopted:

The republicans of New York hold that the record of the republican party in the past affords the best guarantee of the party's purpose and acts in the future—the preservation of national life; extension of freedom and equal rights; to embrace the keeping of national facts; promotion of national credit; payment of public debt; reduction of taxation; protection of home industries; elevation of labor; purification of the civil service, and in fine, an administrative policy based upon wise legislation that has given unexampled prosperity to the country and promoted the happiness and progress of the people.

The platform approves reduction of interest on the public debt, and payment of the debt as rapidly as may be without unduly burdening the people. Rejoice in the successful inauguration of civil service reform, the result of republican administration, and national progress; favors a system of tariff laws under which, while a revenue for the government is provided, American producers are not overtaxed, American labor elevated, and home markets are secured to home products for the advantage of the producer and laborer; favors removal of all unjust burdens upon American shipping, and awarding of ocean mail contracts to the lowest bidders among owners of American vessels, after open competition.

The platform advocates the surrounding of primary meetings as well as popular elections with security, honesty and purity as indispensable requisites to correct political action; declares the tendency to create monopolies requires checking by adequate legislation; that unjust discrimination should be prohibited; that taxation should be equalized and its burdens borne proportionately by real and personal property; the free canal policy of the state is commended; approves the plan of party reorganization in the city of New York, and recommends it be persisted in to the end, that it shall embrace all republicans in the city on equal terms and footing; believes in the wisdom of the people in deciding all questions pertaining to the public welfare, and would accede to the desire of a large body of our citizens to submit to the voters of the state a constitutional amendment in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors; says the reckless partisanship and insatiable greed for office of the democratic party brought it into public contempt; its special legislation is to make place for partisans, and its increase of the salaries list to reward favorites brought upon it public execration. The platform closes by stating it is the duty of the people to rescue the legislature from control of an incompetent, faithless party, and secure economical, efficient and satisfactory administration in the state department by the election of the ticket for state officers this day placed in nomination.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

The Massachusetts republican state convention was called to order at 11 o'clock on the 19th at Boston. Chairman Lodge, of the state central committee, was chosen temporary chairman, and after prayer by Rev. Orvin P. Gifford, he addressed the convention.

At the conclusion of Lodge's address the usual committees and permanent officers were appointed.

Charles R. Codman was chosen president, and on taking the chair addressed the convention at considerable length. His remarks chiefly had reference to the present governor. He reviewed the Tewksbury affair and said: "One man has led this crusade against the fair fame of Massachusetts—a man conspicuous always of great audacity, of ready wit, of voluble and copious speech, and of restless personal ambition—a man of national notoriety surely, if not of national reputation—who has often solicited and sometimes obtained votes—the people, but has never been able to retain them long; the legislator identified with congressional raids on the treasury; the politician, who proposed that the people were to repudiate their honest debts, and so to make their great and solvent country a by-word and a hissing among the nations of the earth; the major general, whose most valuable services were as provost marshal, and never as leader of men, and whose successes were those of Butler and not of the strategist." His references to Butler's political and military record and national notoriety were loudly applauded by the delegates. He was given three cheers when he concluded.

George D. Robinson was nominated for governor, receiving 906 out of 1,168 votes.

Oliver Ames was renominated for lieutenant governor.

Senator Dawes submitted a platform recommended by the committee on resolutions, as follows:

In presenting to the people of Massachusetts its candidates for state offices, the republican party does not deem it necessary this year to offer any formal statement of political principles. These principles have often been declared in national affairs. We believe in equal rights and a fairly counted vote; a thoroughly pure and reformed civil service beyond the reach of party conflicts; a sound currency, based on an honest specie dollar; a liberal but in no case extravagant expenditure; a largely reduced taxation, and wise and well matured laws to promote American industry and enterprise, both at home and on the ocean. We endorse the administration of President Arthur as wise, conservative and patriotic. This was unanimously adopted.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATS.

The Maryland democratic state convention assembled at Baltimore at noon on the 19th. Ex-Governor Philip Francis Thomas was chosen temporary chairman. Thomas addressed the convention, counseling forbearance, wisdom and regard for public interests in its deliberations. Committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions were appointed, and the convention took recess for half an hour.

The convention reassembled and the following ticket was nominated: For governor, Robt. M. McLane; attorney general, Chas. B. Roberts; comptroller, Gen. J. Frank Turner.

A Partially Dead Man.

The Morning Herald, Baltimore, Md., states: Major B. S. White, of this city, describes his miraculous cure as follows: "I have been a partially dead man for ten years. Doctors attributed my sufferings to the enlargement of certain glands. The quantity of medicine I took without relief would be sufficient to set up a first-class apothecary shop. Finally St. Jacobs Oil was recommended. I had my spinal column thoroughly rubbed with it. All those knots, kinks and stiffness have passed away, and I am myself again."

Waterproof Paint for Stone.

A waterproof paint for stone, etc., is prepared by fusing equal parts of aluminum palmitate and copolyphony, or mixing aluminum palmitate with wax and dissolving in caustic soda and water. A solution resembling soap is formed, which can be used with advantage for wall-painting and the like. After the paint is dry it is washed with a weak solution of aluminum sulphate to render it insoluble.

What Dyspepsia Does. It causes grievous pains by day and frightful dreams by night. It destroys the pleasure of a good dinner. It sours the disposition and makes its victim cross and petulant. It makes the breath bad, the eyes leaden, and the skin sallow. It makes the appetite capricious and unreasonable. It causes constant grumbling and complaining.

What "Brown's Iron Bitters" Does. It invigorates the weakened stomach, and enables it to digest. It promotes the enjoyment of a hearty meal. It enriches the blood, improves the liver, and cheers the mind. It purifies the breath, clears the eyesight, and makes the skin natural. It brings a regular and healthy desire for food at proper times. Your Druggist sells BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

VALUABLE TESTIMONIALS.

DUNN & SCHUBB, Boarding and Sales Stables, 148 East 24th St., bet. 3d and Lexington avenues. NEW YORK, Aug. 1, 1885. ELLIS SPAIN CURE CO. GENTLEMEN—We were having an occasion to put a valuable horse in condition for a race. In giving the horse his work, he threw out a curb, in consequence of which I would have sold him at that time for three hundred dollars (300) or less. Hearing of Ely's Spavin Cure Liniment, I tried it with good results. In two weeks the curb was gone, and he is now going sound. I put him in condition again, and in two months we sold him for many thousands as we valued him worth hundreds when he had the curb. The horse is at present boarding at our stable and being driven on the road every day. We can safely recommend your Spavin Cure Liniment for all bone diseases and callous lumps of any kind, if properly used. Yours with respect, DUNN & SCHUBB.

STARBUCK PLACE STOCK FARM, FULTONVILLE, N. Y. MONTGOMERY CO., N. Y., July 24, 1885. THE ELLIS SPAIN CURE CO. GENTLEMEN—Remedies received in good shape. I send you a glass sign by express, to Fonda, well packed, and I think it will come all right. Also sent me some of those cards with a horse-head and shoe on. I have taken off several curbs, one very bad cured a case of Sweeney and Navicular disease with the Spavin Cure, and restored several worn-out horses with the Powders. Yours respectfully, CHARLES QUINN, V. S.

J. H. Whitson & Son, 216-218 E. 5th St., N. Y. We have used Ely's Spavin Cure in our stables for two years, and have tried it on the following with perfect success: Splints, curbs, ring-bones, bunches on the neck, swollen ankles; also quinsy sore throat; and for general stable liniment it is the best article we have ever used.

I would gladly recommend your Spavin Cure to all with perfect confidence as to the result," writes, L. C. Perry, V. S., Boston.
