THE KEYSTONE BOYS

Are Given a Warm Reception Here on Their Way East.

MEMBERS OF HARVEY DIVISION NO. 95

And a Number of Hundred Citizens Join in a Reception to Pennsylvania Conductors Passing Through McCook.

The belated Pennsylvania delegation to the biennial convention of the O. R. C. in Los Angeles, Cal., passed through McCook, Sunday morning last, between the hours of eight and nine, on their return east. They had been detained at El Paso, Texas, for five days by extensive wash-outs and extraordinary high waters in the Rio Grande. The delegation was composed of 81 members, 46 conductors of the various Pennsylvania lines, and 35 wives, sisters and sweethearts. They traveled in a special of three Pullmans, with diner attached. As the special pulled into this station they were greeted by music from the Brigade band and were welcomed by citizens to the number of two or three hundred that had assembled at the depot. The band played a number of choice selections, both surprising and charming to the easters with the excellence of their music.

Different members of the delegation made short speeches, expressing their pleasure and gratification at the reception accorded, stating that in all their journey of 6,000 miles they had not received a warmer or more spontaneous ovation than was given them here; and they promised to carry home to the Keystone state pleasantest remembrances of the happy time spent in McCook on the bright Sunday morning of June 6th.

A delegation from Harvey Division No. 95, O. R. C., accompanied the special as far east as Hastings, namely, Conductors and Mesdames C. E. Pope, V. H. Soliday, Frank Kendlen and C. W. Bronson, the train being in charge of the latter. The division provided each of the delegates with neatly printed badges, and altogether the members of No. 95 did themselves, the Western division and McCook proud.

Engineer Fuller with locomotive 317 brought the special here from Denver. Engineer Sanborn with 232 took it as far as Hastings, where Conductor Chase assumed charge and Engineer Batty at the throttle of 227 pulled it to Pacific Junction.

At Omaha, the entire party was given a free street car ride over the city. Conductors Pope and Bronson went as far as Creston, Iowa, with the party.

Joyous Wedding Bells.

One of those events which always excites a deep interest in social circles, a wedding, occurred in our city at 10 a. m. this morning. The contracting parties were Charles Burton Godwin and Miss Vera Grace Waldo, both residents of Sheridan. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother in the presence of relatives and a number of intimate friends. Miss Lizzie Ritchie acted as bridesmaid and Walter Hanson as groomsman, and Rev. Evans, pastor of the Baptist church, pronounced the words that transformed the bride and groom to the happy state of man and wife. The bride is one of Sheridan's fairest daughters and is esteemed and beloved by a large circle of friends who admire and respect her for her full measure of excellent qualities of both heart and mind. During the past two years she has been the teacher in the first grade of our Sheridan schools in which capacity she not only proved efficient but won the respect and esteem of her pupils, who, while they rejoice at her present happiness, regret that she is no longer their teacher. Mr. Godwin is well known as one of the popular engineers on the B. & M., and is not only popular among his railroad associates, but is highly respected by all as an honest, upright citizen. The happy couple started out today on the Burlington Flyer and will make a short wedding journey to Hot Springs, Deadwood, Spearfish and other Black Hills points, returning about the 15th of this month when they will settle in a pleasant home at Sheridan. The Journal extends most hearty congratulations expressing the utmost hope that Engineer Godwin in his sojourn through life with his fair bride, may always find a smooth clear track and an easy grade with the throttle wide open to future success and prosperity, with a watchful eye ever in front to catch any danger signal that might mark the approach of care, sorrow or distress for his household, and be ready to put on the brakes to protect and save his loved ones in all the years to come.—Sheridan Journal.
