FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1902.

THE CRAWFORD-CAMPBELL CONTROVERSY.

An intelligent and appreciative reader of the Herald called at the office on last Monday to complain of our treatment of the above lamentable case. We do not care to reopen or prolong the disagreeable discussion and will dismiss it in one sentence.

Another has well said: There is no funeral so sad as the funeral of our own youth, which we have been pampering with fond desires, ambitious hopes and all the bright berries that hang in poisonous clusters over the path of life.

Newport News Press: "Torchlight processions look tame and enervating after the fireworks injected into the campaign by the Hon. Harry Maynard and the Hon. Joe Lawless."

The Norfolk Ledger says: "The fellow who has no kind things to say of the newspaper reporters, is the first to stand on the porch watching for the man with the papers." No use trying, you can't do without the newspaper.

The Republicans of Alabama are trying to brighten or whiten up their party, and Virginian Republicans are advised to go and do likewise.

Mr. Roosevelt will call the Senate in extra session for November to look after Cuban reciprocity affairs. The millionaires, who hold interests in the gem of the ocean, can't afford to wait for the meeting of a regular session as, may be, presidential fever needs looking after.

Do all men pray? Fitzsimmons is reported as saying: "I lay in my room just before the fight, and prayed God give me strength to win this battle and I will be thankful—Amen."

The farming class is the richest class after all. The lands, buildings and belongings to the farmers in the United States are worth twenty billions of dollars, while the total manufacturing capital is less than ten billions.

Mr. Bryan has said more than once that he will not be a candidate next term, and let us take him at his word and say no more about it. If we must express our choice this far in advance we will give the name of the author of the Jim Crow car law in Virginia, and we will be for him for the second term if he will proceed to have the law take in the depots.

In common with the law loving people of the State, we rejoice that the authorities, of Loudoun county, are making it uncomfortable for the lynchers.

Lawlessness must be controlled in Virginia, or else Virginia is not fit dwelling place for decent people. There was no shadow of excuse for the Loudoun lynching and punishment should be quick and severe.

A preacher who answered another's call, has said recently that a "continuous vaudeville" would have to be introduced into the churches to crowd the pews, and to keep the people awake. This is all "bosh" of the baser sort. As long as man's soul-wants remain unchanged so long will the pure gospel draw and Christ and Him Crucified satisfy.

Mr. Glass resigning his seat in the Senate, now that he will be sure to go to Congress, sets a good example. Holding on to two or three public positions at one and the same time isn't just decent.

THE COUNTRY.

It still remains true that "God made the country and man made the town," and yet it is also true that in this age of well high agonizing activities, the men who control in church and in State are trying to unmake the country and overmake the town.

Rev. Mr. Jones, of the M. E. Church, is conducting a revival at Bethel church this week, assisted by Rev. Mr. Driscoll. They are both devout men and hard workers, and it is to be hoped the meeting will be productive of much good.

Rev. M. L. Phillips, who is supplying the pulpits of Buckingham, New prefer the glare and glitter of the great metropolis to the quiet ways and walks among the valleys of the wide open country. The result is that legions of country churches have barred doors and brothers of our own kith and kindred are without the preached gospel. Teachers too are attracted by the larger pay to the city schools, and the government has the meanness to pay a country boy forty cents a day for longer hours and harder work than is required of the city brother in like department of work who is paid $2.50 a day.

A luxuriously appointed postoffice building is asked for by the city and the government readily responds to the demand, which the "country cousin" who pays as much for a postage stamp as the other fellow, has his mail served to him over a rude constructed counter and from behind a lattice work of undressed and unpainted pine. During his life time, the lamented Oley did have the boldness to offer a bill in Congress seeking the national aid for the betterment of public highways, but the country people could almost hear the chuckle of the political bosses over the wild and reckless project, while they were feasting and fattening on the rich things which had come to them from the National treasury in the form of tariff legislation, every dollar of which had been spent in crowded city places or the hard by suburbs, and yet but for the unselfish and unrewarded work of the country people, grass would grow on the streets of all our cities, and weeds would choke up their every avenue of trade.

Farmers, you have the power to correct this oppressive inequality and growing evil. Will you do it?

New Store News.

Buckingham county this summer has been in a state of extreme unrest. If the visitors to the county are seeking rest and quiet I fear they have not found it. The one great object of the people (not the humdrum, everyday country people who stay here all the time so much as those who have honored us with their presence) seems to be to go to as many places as possible and to get all the fun out of life that is in it.

Buckingham is a big, out-of-way backwoods county, "far from the madding crowd" usually, where, save on the one little branch railroad running out to White Hall from Bremo, the whiff of a locomotive never taints the air, or the telegraph and telephone are not accessible except along the railroad.

What has caused Buckingham to be so attractive as to have become the camping ground of such a multitude I do not know. Perhaps the hospitality of the people has something to do with it, but I have an idea that it is because the county boasts of such a large number of newspaper correspondents and is advertised so extensively. It matters not by what means the county has attained its popularity as a summer resort, we only know that it is true, and that like the population of the city of Constantinople, the crowds are kaleidoscopic in appearance, varied in manners and customs, and cosmopolitan in every respect.

A contrasting picture was drawn last week when the West Hanover Presbytery convened at Buckingham C. H., and a small crowd of perhaps only two or three hundred of the representative people of the county, not altogether Presbyterians, however, but representatives of every denomination, and a number of delegates, ministers and elders from the sister churches gathered together and for three days transacted the business of the churches and listened to some of the finest sermons and addresses that could be supplied by the talent of the Presbytery.

The good old-fashioned, blue-stocking hospitality of what is known as the "upper neighborhood" of this county, is proverbial, and all on this side who attended, came away delighted with the hospitality extended them by the genial people who occupy this unique little garden spot of the county and through whose veins courses the best blood of the old Commonwealth.

Dr. Harding, of Farmville tendered his resignation to the Presbytery on account of his health, and it is with a sincere feeling of regret that the people give him up, for all who have met and known him since he became a member of the Presbytery have been impressed with his zeal and usefulness, and feel that it is just such men as he that are needed in the churches today.

The entire meeting was characterized by order, cordiality and a spirit of reverence, and was altogether enjoyable. It is safe to say that the entire crowd went away not only well pleased but edified by the sound instruction received.

Among those from in and around Farmville who attended were Dr. Harding and Mr. Eugene Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Madison and Mr. John Swoope, of Cumberland.

Rev. Mr. Jones, of the M. E. Church, is conducting a revival at Bethel church this week, assisted by Rev. Mr. Driscoll. They are both devout men and hard workers, and it is to be hoped the meeting will be productive of much good.

Rev. M. L. Phillips, who is supplying the pulpits of Buckingham, New Store and Appomattox churches during the summer, preached morning and night at New Store Sunday. Quite a large crowd was present to hear him at both services.

There was a picnic at Willis' mountain Monday, given in honor of Miss Edith Duval, of Farmville, who is a guest of Miss Janie Crute.

The Buckingham Circulating Club met at the house of Mr. William Garnett Friday evening and held one of the most delightful meetings which has ever been held during its seven years' existence. Among those present were: Mrs. Garnett, Mrs. W. B. Morris, Mrs. Norvell Pollard, Misses Janie May Crute, who entertained the Club; Edith Duval, of Farmville; Bessie Allen, of Lynchburg; Eddie Pugh, of Charlotte; Mary Morris, of Albemarle; Lucy and Bessie McCraw, Andersonville; Minnie Jones, of Baltimore; Lucy Davis, Grace, Edna and Lucy Elean, Mammie and Emma Hooper, Florence Jones, Hattie Crute, Kate Verser, of Farmville, and Annie Jones; Messrs. William, John, Eddie and Joe Garnett, Mahen, Ernest and Joseph Jones, Miller and Ed. McCraw, Malcolm Morrison, Willie Bailey, Wiley Norris, Ed. Anderson, George Grigg, Joel and Gordon Elean, Henry (Chappell) and Willie Cox.

Miss Crute makes an ideal hostess, too much cannot be said in praise of the way in which she entertained her guests.

Games of various kinds were indulged in during the early hours, and delightful refreshments were served later on. The lawn was brilliantly lighted with Japanese lanterns making it very beautiful.

A prize, an autograph fan, was awarded to the lady who won the most games. Four ladies tied for the prize and the matter had to be decided by drawing lots. Miss Annie Jones was the fortunate drawer.

Misses Crute, Allen and Duval and Mrs. Pollard, and Messrs. John, Ed. and Joe Garnett, and Ranson added much to the pleasure of the evening by their vocal and instrumental music, which was both up-to-date and artistic.

All who attended voted the entire affair a most enjoyable one indeed, and the memory of a happy evening spent at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett, will ever remain with us all.

Miss Kate Verser is a guest of Miss Emma Hooper this week.

Messrs. Archer Ham, of Morrison; Marion Gilliam, of Richmond, and Owen Forbes, of Cumberland, are visiting at "Keswick," the home of Mr. L. D. Jones.

Miss Annie McCraw left last week for Kentucky, where she will teach the coming session.

DESCENT OF KING EDWARD.

Family Tree of the Sovereign of Great Britain is a Long One.

The following genealogy of the kings and queens of England was written during the reign of Queen Victoria, and by prefacing it with "Edward VII who was the son of Victoria," the reader will have the genealogy complete to William the Conqueror; Victoria, who was the niece of William IV, who was the brother of George IV, who was the son of George III, who was the grandson of George II, who was the son of George I, who was the cousin of Anne, who was the sister-in-law of William III, who was the son-in-law of James II, who was the brother of Charles II, who was the son of Charles I, who was the son of James I, who was the cousin of Elizabeth, who was the half sister of Mary, who was the half sister of Edward VI, who was the son of Henry VIII, who was the son of Henry VII, who was the cousin of Richard III, who was the uncle of Edward V, who was the son of Edward IV, who was the son of Henry IV, who was the cousin of Richard II, who was the grandson of Edward III, who was the son of Edward II, who was the son of Edward I, who was the son of Henry III, who was the son of John, who was the brother of Richard I, who was the son of Henry II, who was the cousin of Stephen, who was the cousin of Henry I, who was the brother of William Rufus, who was the son of William the Conqueror, who was the son of his mother.—Chicago Chronicle.

The proposed erection of a 20-story office building on the American plan in London has aroused vigorous opposition. The streets of the British capital are so narrow and dark under ordinary circumstances that to line them with skyscrapers would practically convert them into tunnels.
