PERSONALS AND BRIEFS.

Notes of Happenings and People You Know.

Though the day of my destiny's over, And the star of my fate hath declined, Thy soft heart refused to discover The faults which so many could find; Though thy soul with my grief was acquainted, It shrunk not to share it with me, And the love which my spirit had painted It never hath found but in thee.

The first Fair banner spans the street from the Herald Office to the Armory.

The ladies of Johns Memorial Church will hold their annual bazaar about November 15th.

Miss Emma E. Blanton left Tuesday for Ashland, where she will teach for the coming session.

The granolithic on the east side of Virginia street, between 2nd and 4th, is progressing finely.

Mrs. Eugene Gill is at the old home again after a pleasant summer spent in the mountains of Virginia.

Miss Sinecock rendered two delightful solos at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

Mr. Jack Burton is out again after a brief illness, and has been warmly greeted by his friends.

Mr. John Booker improves steadily and it is hoped will soon be at his post of duty again.

Miss Frankie McKinney has been on a recent visit to her friend, Miss Nanie Nicholson, of Crewe.

Mrs. A. F. Howard returned yesterday from a visit to her cousin, Miss Ellen Glasgow, of Richmond.

The walkway leading from the front gate to the front door of Mrs. J. Y. Phillips' home is fringed by a bowyer of beauty.

Mrs. F. H. Hanbury, of Norfolk, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blanton, has returned home.

Watch the voting and don't be satisfied unless your name is top. Always remember that the second never wins the first prize.

Prof. McDonald, after a delightful summer at Warrenton has returned and resumed his duties as principal of the Farmville high school.

Judge Crute has "Jenny Mare" in hand again and seems to enjoy holding the reins. It is a noble animal and one for whom we feel tender affection.

Mrs. Collin Stokes and Mrs. Geo. E. Cox were delegates to the Woman's Missionary Institute held at Crewe, Sept. 8th. They report a pleasant and profitable time.

Miss Sallie Page Johnson, of Cumberland, has been a recent guest of Miss Carrie Morton. She has now gone to Waynesboro where she will teach the coming session.

There is special need that one should be an old fogy and there is no sense in being a faddist. Common sense, next to faith in God, is among man's most precious gifts.

Hon. S. W. Williams, candidate on the Democratic ticket for the position of attorney general will address the voters of Prince Edward at the Courthouse on next Tuesday at 1 p. m.

Sunday afternoon driving on Farmville's best boulevard is growing in popular favor, and some of the traps have New York features about them, while the steppers are proud and fleet.

Don't forget the mass meeting of citizens of Farmville called for this evening, at the Courthouse, to consider the important question of the town owning and working the public utilities.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wall and Mr. Warren Wall returned to Farmville last week after a charming sojourn at Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs. From there they visited Healing, Warm and Hot Springs.

Don't forget that the circus is coming. If you want to see the show get your money ready. And it is well to remember that it costs as much to see the animals as it does to take in the whole show.

Major Venable showed us a specimen of the Gold Standard corn which is said to produce 120 bushels to the acre. The Major paid $4 a bushel for the seed, and if he can make the 120 to the acre and then sell it for $4 a bushel he will not regret his investment.

Miss Reader is in charge of the Thackston home. What name shall we give to this annex to the Normal? Send in your suggestions to the Herald and we will have a competent committee select the best. We will send the Herald for one year free of cost to the winner of the prize.

The night services at the Methodist Church in the future will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Capt. and Mrs. S. W. Paulett are at home again after a pleasant stay on the sea coast.

Mrs. John Gills, of Huntsville, Ala., is guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Scott.

Mrs. W. E. Hill and the younger members of the family circle reached Farmville on Tuesday and are already at home in the Manse.

The ladies of the Methodist church announce that during the first week in December they will conduct their annual sale of fancy articles.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will meet next Thursday afternoon, September 23d, at four o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. L. White.

Mrs. Wallace Burnett left for her home in Savannah on yesterday, but will stop over for a few days with friends in Richmond and Norfolk.

The ladies of the Methodist Church will entertain the young ladies of the State Normal who attend the Methodist Church on this evening from 7:30 to 10:30.

Mr. T. A. Baughan, of Buckingham, was in town on Tuesday and left at the Herald Office a specimen of apples which in our opinion are superior to even the Albemarle pippin.

Evangelistic services at Armory Hall are increasing in attendance and interest. The subject of next Sunday night's sermon will be "Second Coming of Christ." All are cordially invited.

"When some people arrive at a conclusion, they want to sit down and rest." Let this not be said of Farmville. We as a people have reached some happy conclusions, but there are others just ahead.

How about some joint discussions in Farmville during the present canvass? We are "spilling" for a little fun in politics and would enjoy a spicy discussion. Let Chairman Dupuy take the matter in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Barrow have returned from a very enjoyable trip in the North where they visited Mauch Chunk, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Toronto, Canada, returning by way of Atlantic City and New York.

Dr. Geo. Tulley Vaughan, a leading surgeon of Washington, D. C., was selected by the Sutton family to perform the autopsy on the body of the late Mr. Sutton, whose death at Annapolis seems to be shrouded in mystery.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church will entertain all the members of the Normal faculty and the Normal girls of the Presbyterian faith in the lecture room of the church this evening. The Farmville Silver Band will furnish the music for the occasion.

Read the statements of our local banks to be found elsewhere in the Herald, (three of them in this issue, that of the Peoples National appearing in last week's) and be gratified to know that our financial institutions are keeping in line with the progress of the age, and more and more worthy of public confidence and support.

Mr. G. W. Buckberrough, who has been under medical treatment in Richmond for several months, is home again and able to resume his work. He wishes his friends and old customers to know that he can be found at his new place of business on North street ready to serve them as veterinary blacksmith. See his advertisement in another column of the Herald.

The 134th session of Hampden-Sidney opened on Wednesday at 4 p. m. with an address from Mr. J. Stewart Bryan, owner and editor of the Times-Dispatch, which was a scholarly, practical talk to the boys, and should be an inspiration to the young men as they enter upon the work of another session. The attendance of students at the opening was in advance of the last year, and the promise is for a decided increase in numbers.

E. H. HARRIMAN SINKS TO DEATH

Railroad King Succumbs After Brave Struggle.

FAMILY WERE AT BEDSIDE

Death Came Peacefully and His Mind Retained Its Integrity Almost to the End—Funeral Services to Be Held Sunday Afternoon—Estimates of His Fortune Vary From $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Edward H. Harriman, the greatest organizer of railroads the world has ever known, met the only lasting defeat of his active life at the hands of death. Secluded in his magnificent home on Tower Hill, at Arden, N. Y., and surrounded by the members of his family, physicians and nurses, he succumbed to an intestinal disorder after a fight against disease which will rank for ever as his most remarkable struggles in the financial world. He was sixty-one years of age. The funeral took place on Sunday, interment being made in the Episcopal cemetery.

Mr. Harriman died peacefully, and almost to the end his brilliant mind retained its integrity. After a relapse on Sunday he sank steadily, and on Thursday there came a relapse which marked the approach of the end. His wife, his two daughters, the Misses Mary and Carol, and his sons, Walter and Roland, who have been constantly with him, assembled at the bedside, and a carriage was hastily dispatched for Mrs. Simons, whose home is here in Arden, three miles from the Tower Hill mansion.

Driving hurriedly up the mountain side, Mrs. Simons entered the great silent house in time to be present at her brother's death. She joined the wife and children, who, with Dr. W. G. Lyle, of New York, and Orlando Harriman, a brother, and the nurses, formed a group at the bedside.

While the policy of reticence that prevailed during Mr. Harriman's illness was maintained by most of his relatives and associates after his death, Orlando Harriman, whose home is in New York, discussed the funeral arrangements briefly. He said that Mr. Harriman would be buried in the family plot in the little graveyard behind St. John's Episcopal church at Arden. He will rest beside his eldest son, Edward H. Harriman, Jr., who died twenty-two years ago, soon after the family first came to Arden. The service will be held at 3.30 on Sunday afternoon, and it is understood, will be strictly private.

Recent estimates of Mr. Harriman's personal wealth have varied all the way from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. He was, of course, a large holder of securities of the various corporations with which he was identified, including in addition to the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems, over a score of smaller or tributary properties, not only in this country, but in Mexico as well. Report credited him with large personal holdings in the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe road, Baltimore & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Erie, Illinois Central, New York Central and the Pacific Mail Steamship company. His holdings of Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock and bonds were very large a few years ago, and these have probably been increased in late years. He was reported to have been the largest individual stockholder in the Wells Fargo Express company, which only recently acquired a virtual monopoly of the express business in Mexico.

General Corbin Dies at Hospital.

Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin, U. S. A., retired, died in the Roosevelt hospital in New York, after an operation for a disease of the kidneys. General Corbin would have been sixty-seven years old in a few days. Mrs. Corbin and ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, his personal friend, were at his bedside when death occurred.

General Corbin had been suffering for two years from the malady which ultimately resulted in his death. Accompanied by Mrs. Corbin and the general's daughter, Mrs. Usher Parsons, of Ardsley, N. Y., he went to Carlshad for treatment on June 12 last. The waters there appeared to have improved his condition after two weeks stay and he returned to England, where his former trouble recurred, and he went to Paris to consult with physicians. The general's trouble developed more seriously while he was in Paris, and he determined to return to New York. He sailed on the steamer Rotterdam, which arrived here on Sunday last. The general was taken to the Hotel Martiniere in this city, and Dr. Frank Erdwurm was summoned. The physician advised that General Corbin be removed to the Roosevelt hospital, and he was taken there on Monday. The operation was performed Tuesday.

Following the operation, General Corbin revived and the work of the surgeon was regarded as a success, but later a weakness of the heart developed and death ensued a few hours later.

A Cold Blooded Murder.

Thomas Dwyer, steward at the Owls club at Harrisburg, Pa., was shot down in cold blood by Wells W. Detweiler, a member of the club, and died twenty minutes later.

Detweiler had been playing cards and drinking all night at the club, and he and Dwyer quarreled at times over small money matters. Detweiler went across the street and bought a .38-calibre revolver and five cartridges, loading it in the presence of the clerk.

Returning to the club, Detweiler met Dwyer's wife, who had come to clean the rooms. Seeing the revolver, she shouted, to warn her husband, who was in the lavatory, but before he could make a move to defend himself, Detweiler fired twice, both bullets going through Dwyer's abdomen.

As Detweiler turned away, Dwyer fell into the arms of his wife. "Kiss me; I'm dying," were his last words.

Police, hearing the shots, rushed in and arrested Detweiler, who offered no resistance, admitting, somewhat incoherently, that he had done the shooting, but offering no explanation. Detweiler is a brother of the late Meade D. Detweiler, who was head of the order of Elks in America and a prominent member of the Dauphin county bar.

We All Do Differ.

We call attention to Mr. Newman's card which appears elsewhere in this issue of the Herald.

Evidently Mr. Newman labors under the impression that the paragraph which appeared in the last issue of the paper having reference to the town's ordinance on the subject of Sunday selling was intended as a reflection upon him, and if so we beg to assure him that such was not true.

If all men agreed as to the construction of statute law there would be no further need for that useful and noble body of citizens known as lawyers. They live and move and have their being because of their difference as to construction of law, and especially statute law.

It would be interesting to witness a battle royal between two gifted lawyers over the ordinance under consideration. Mr. W. J. Barrow, a reputable and respectable business man of Farmville, construing the ordinance now under fire concludes that he is protected in the delivery of ice on Sunday under the "sickness and necessity clause," and has as much right to his opinion as Mr. Newman has to his, and further he insists that it is no more in violation of the ordinance to sell ice from his wagon than it is to sell it from his place of business.

The Herald is not the champion of either of the sellers of ice, and when it publishes Mr. Newman's construction of the ordinance it has the same right to give Mr. Barrow's construction of it, and in doing so should not be considered as reflecting upon either of the gentlemen.

If the town council will obtain the opinion of its regular attorney on the subject we will be pleased to publish it, and there the matter should end.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS

On the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott For the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.) September 26th, 1909.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.) Temperance Lesson. 1 Cor. x:23-33. Golden Text—Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification. Rom xv:2.

Verse 23—If a man could lawfully drink intoxicating liquor, in moderation, would it be a good thing to do, seeing so many thousands are being ruined yearly, by drinking, all of whom commenced to drink in moderation? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Is a man honest, either in money or morals, who always goes as far as the law will allow him and no further?

If the general influence of anything we do, which may be lawful in itself, is injurious to ourselves or others, what is our duty?

What is the general influence of the drink traffic?

Verse 24—Why is not all our duty to our neighbor fulfilled when he has succeeded in doing him no harm?

Does Paul mean that we are to devote more time and thought to adding to our neighbor's wealth, than we do to our own, and if not, what does he mean?

To how much of our respect is a man entitled, who cares nothing for the success of others, but is devoted wholly to his own?

Verse 25—In those days meat was offered to idols and afterward sold in the market for food, and some conscientious people objected to eating it for that reason. What did Paul advise in the circumstances, and why did he advise it?

Should we always pay the price demanded without question, or should we endeavor to buy for the lowest possible price?

Verse 26—If the earth is the Lord's why should not all real estate be public property?

How much of our property should we consider we own in our own right?

Verse 27—Is it right for a Christian to be intimate with worldly people, to attend their parties and to conform to their usages, when such usages are not actually sinful?

If wine is used at any party which a Christian attends, would it be right or wrong for him to drink it, and why?

Is it a Christian's right to do as he is "disposed" in any matter, or has God got a specific plan for him for all matters great and small?

Verses 28-30—Was the meat in itself any less good for having been offered to an idol?

Why does Paul here advise not to eat meat that had been offered to an idol, if any person calls attention to it who thought it wrong to do so?

Is it necessarily hypocrisy to do a thing behind a person's back, that you would not do before his face?

If no person ever got drunk, and if drinking was doing no harm, would it be right or wise for us to drink intoxicating liquor as a beverage?

Verse 31—Are all our actions taken by God as worship if they are done to his glory?

How is it possible for a Christian to do literally, everything he does, to the glory of God?

Verses 32-33—What should be our supreme desire in all our dealing with our fellow men?
