Dedication Exercises Kent Club Hall

The dedication exercises of Kent Club Hall passed off in splendid style last Saturday night in the club room in Science Hall.

The Kent Club is a literary and debating society in the Law Department of Stetson University, and its members are all students of the University.

Dr. E. T. Allen has been elected president of the club for the year 1910-11.

While in Tampa on Friday an interview with Stewart—who poses as the judge of the Criminal Court of Record of Volusia county, and uses his official position to offset his dirty personal appearance and dirtier mouth—was published in the Daily Tribune.

While the interview gives nothing new—does not state any charges beyond what have already been settled by the Board of Trustees—it is evidently given with the view of reopening the subject, and to reflect on the personal character of Dr. Forbes.

He has outraged justice by using his official position to give credence to his libelous utterances.

In the opinion of THE NEWS, he is unfit to hold the position of judge of any court; he is unfit to preside as the justice of the peace in any justice's district.

He has for years been the cause of disturbance in Volusia county, and his actions have been condemned by the Supreme Court in unmeasured terms.

THE NEWS, on behalf of the respectable people of DeLand, all of whom condemn his action in this and many other instances that might be cited, demands of Governor Jennings that he suspend this man from the office which he has disgraced, and thus deprive him of misrepresenting the people of Volusia county through the official position held by him.

Personally the editor of THE NEWS has nothing against Isaac A. Stewart. Our business relations with him in the past have been pleasant. The above is written in the interest of the town, of the University, and of justice and decency.

The assertions made by I. A. Stewart in Tampa this week were nothing new—they were the same old stories told about the state last summer by Stewart. At that time, however, Stewart found no newspaper that would publish them.

When Stewart was taken to Tampa, however, he found a newspaper that was willing to act as his scavenger wagon, and the Metropolis of Jacksonville picked up the skimmings, without comment. No one who knows Governor Jennings, Mayor Fletcher, or Dr. Forbes will give Stewart's stories any credence whatever.

WHEREAS, Certain rumors have been spread and published regarding the conduct of Dr. John F. Forbes, the president of this University, and Mrs. L. B. Mathes, then a member of the faculty, during the summer of 1901, which rumors were of a character calculated to reflect upon them, and do injury to the University; and

WHEREAS, Such rumors were brought to the attention of the president of this board, who made an effort to examine into them, and the committee selected by him, after such examinations as he saw fit to make, pronounced them not proven to be true; and

WHEREAS, The president of this board engaged an attorney to make inquiries about the matter and procure affidavits, after diligent search through the state and elsewhere in an effort to arrive at the facts in the case; and Coming Home For Thanksgiving. I tell you it is busy times just now for me and marm.

The boy is comin' home to spend Thanksgiving on the farm.

'Tis ten long years since he went west to mingle in the stief;

He's done first rate, and, furthermore, he's got a western wife.

We got the letter yesterday, and marm she laid awake

Full half the night to praise the Lord and think what she must bake.

If I should feed the turkey now, as she declares I must,

Why, long before Thanksgiving he would swell all up and bust.

I've had to grind the choppin' knife and go to choppin' mince.

And things are brewin' rich and fine and fit to feed a prince.

The boy he writ for chicken pie, "With double crust," says he,

"And mixed with cream, that lovely pie you used to make for me."

He wants a big red apple from the hill-side Northern Spy

And butternuts; I've got 'em round the stovepipe, brown and dry.

He wants to lay the fire himself with maple hard and sound.

And pop some corn upon the hearth when all are gathered round.

He wants the things he used to have when he was a lad.

'Tis somewhat strange, it may be, but I'm sure she might be glad.

We're both a little whiter, but our love depend upon't.

Is jest as green and sturdy as the hills of old Vermont.

It flattered marm a bit at first about her western wife.

What she should do for one so fine and used-to-city life.

But tucked between the boys' big shoulders she found a little slip;

She read it with a happy throb, a gentle quivering lip:

"Dear mother—them's her very words—'I write this on the sly,

So don't tell John, but make for him a big, big pumpkin pie.

I know it will delight him, for he still is but a boy—

His mother's boy—and so he fills his wife's glad heart with joy."

And so, you see, 'tis busy times just now for me and marm;

The boy is comin' home to spend Thanksgiving on the farm.

LATEST IN SUBMARINES.

French inventor hopes to emulate Jules Verne's Hero Nemo.

Goubet, the famous French inventor of submarine craft, is designing a boat which he expects to send across the Atlantic, fully half the voyage to be made under the surface.

Goubet is no dreamer. Expert and most practical, he first, in 1885, created the little submarine Goubet, whose original pattern gradually he improved the type.

The child of his brain is the torpedo boat Gustave Zede, 1594 feet long, the greatest of her kind, France's first fighting submarine.

The Zede is so safe, so easily directed, that President Loubet took a trip under water in her. France is building many like the Zede, for in submarine torpedo boats the sister republic thinks she sees the end of Britain's supremacy of the waves.

Now Goubet coldly, without emotion or exaggeration, promises a submarine vessel that will traverse the thousands of miles between Brest and New York; that can be submerged whenever and as often as is desirable or necessary; that will pursue its way under the surface for at least half the sea journey.

Thus Captain Nemo's wonderful boat, the Nautilus, will become a reality.

Necessarily Goubet and the French government jealously guard the secrets of the construction of his submarine boat. Woe betide the stranger who tries to photograph so much as the turret of the Gustave Zede!

Only the crew of each boat may enter her. The crew is closely watched on shore lest they should talk too much. France, enthusiastically hopeful that she will rule under the wave, runs no chance that may cost her triumph.

American marine and submarine engineers say that the transatlantic boat Goubet is designing will be propelled and of course heated and lighted by electricity, according to the Denver News. They say, too, that the problem of ventilating such a vessel and of giving a bountiful supply of air to passengers and crew is a most simple one.

To induce sleep. Dr. Steiner observed in Java a method employed to induce sleep. It consists in compressing the carotid arteries. The operator sits on the ground behind the patient, whose neck he seizes with both hands.

The index and middle fingers are then pushed forward into the carotids, which are compressed toward the spine. The method is absolutely harmless, anaesthesia is rapidly obtained, and the patient wakes promptly, with no symptoms of nausea or malaise.

Pain in Stomach. It has been said that a healthy person doesn't know he has a stomach. How unhealthy the dyspeptic must be!

He feels as if he were all stomach, and one thing that makes him feel so is that pain at the pit of the stomach—sometimes an "all-gone feeling"; sometimes a "burning sensation."

"I suffered from pains in my stomach and could not eat. An old gentleman told me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and after the use of four bottles I gained my appetite, and I was soon completely cured, so that now I feel like a new man. On no account would I be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house." Henry Callan, 71 Commercial St., Portland, Me.

RELEASED FROM JAIL. Mr. Stewart's habeas corpus proceedings were heard before Commissioner Larrimore on Wednesday. The application was denied and the prisoner remanded to jail for the thirty days, or until he complied with the order of the court. Stewart then announced that he was ready to talk. A telegram from him last night stated in effect that he was out of jail and
