The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle wrapper, contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials. The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

THE JAPAN OF EUROPE.

What King Charles of Roumania Has Done for His Country. Roumania may well be proud to be called the Japan of Europe. She has achieved in the midst of incessant jealousy and opposition much that the free empire of the Far East has accomplished. But says the Fortnightly Review, the progress of Roumania, if less rapid, is perhaps more meritorious even than that of Japan. To a state, hampered at every turn by Turkish reaction and European greed or ignorance, the opportunities of progress were much less facile than in the island empire of Japan. But on May 27, 1906, King Charles I. of a free Roumania celebrated his forty-sixth year of reign and what was once a Turkish vassal state standing proudly erect among the European nations. Where once the chaos and corruption to-day is an orderly State, bound in friendly alliance with great Powers, and whose important still, an example to the world of peaceful internal development and of a tranquil but persistent foreign policy.

Habits of the London Coster.

London's outdoor man is the coster. He is the Ishmael of our gutters, says the Outing Magazine. A very jolly Ishmael. It is true, who is more than content to acknowledge the line of demarcation between himself and the true cockney. But, nevertheless, he is still the wild man whose hand is against every man's, and every man's against his. He is probably the last remnant of the world's old race of wanderers—the last suggestion of the primitive man left to the cities. He is to us town dwellers what the gypsy is to the countryside. His descent seems to spring from the same roving stock. And he is regarded from a safe distance, with the same contempt by those who don't know him. His habits and his impulses still save strongly of the days when tribe warred against tribe, and every man's arm was for himself and his clan. And although his pitch is below the curb, his caravan a barrow, and his beast of burden a Russian pony, a donkey or himself, he is as free and exclusive as any other lusty scion of the people who live under the skies. Ishmael he is, and Ishmael he chooses to remain. And the chances are ten to one that whoever goes a fishing for information among the barrows will come back with an empty reel, or a fine show of fishermen's tales. For your coster knows both how to keep silence and how to use his tongue picturesquely in defence of his jealously guarded traditions and the internal economy of his existence.

Regarding Night Air.

There is a great deal of nonsense said about the danger of the night air. As a matter of fact, what we breathe at night is not night air, and the choice is between the night air from without and the air from within. Most people prefer the latter—an unaccountable error. What will they say if it proved to be true that fully one-half of all the diseases we suffer from are caused by people sleeping with their windows shut? An open window most nights in the year can never hurt any one. In great cities night air is often the best and purest to be had in the twenty-four hours. We could better understand shutting the windows in town during the day than during the night for the sake of the sick. The absence of smoke, the quiet, all tend to make night the best time for airing the patient. One of the highest medical authorities on consumption and climate has told us that the air of London is never so good as after ten o'clock at night. Always air your room, then, from the outside air if possible. Windows are made to open, doors are made to shut—a truth which seems difficult of apprehension. Every room must be aired from without, and passage from within.

Smallest Current Coin.

The natives of the Mola peninsula have the smallest current coin in the world. It is a sort of soap made from the resinous juice of a tree, and is worth about one-twentieth thousandth of a cent. The smallest metal coin in circulation at the present day is the Portuguese three reis piece, worth six one-hundredths of a cent. Never seek advice from a man who pretends to know everything.

An interesting conversation recently took place at Cleveland, Ohio, between Mayor Tom Johnson and a professor from the University of Chicago. The New York World is authority for this story: "Professor — of the University of Chicago, called on Mayor Tom Johnson today to inquire about street railways. 'I didn't suppose you were permitted to deal with such questions,' laughed Mayor Johnson. 'Oh, we're free—we're perfectly free to think as we like.' 'If you think abreast of political and social condition and say what you think,' the mayor rejoined, 'then you lose your job. If you study political economy and say what you think, you strike at your endowments. You know, Professor, I have no love for your Chicago University. It teaches falsehoods—lies. Whenever I hear it mentioned I see a man with a bald head and a wig. Don't you think a man who pays half your bills ought to have something to say about what you teach?'"

Pretty Near. "Did the college authorities reinstate young Hittler after he was expelled?" "Almost." "Almost?" "Yes; I heard his folks say he was half back."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Reasons Enough. Jack—Why do you girls spend so much time and money on dress? Jill—To interest the men and worry other girls.—Town Topics.

Not Horsepower Enough. "He thinks he's quite a lady killer." "Pooh! He couldn't kill a chicken with that machine."—Puck.

The Tremolo Stop. You kin talk about grand op'ry and of music that's top notch. But our organ seems to hit me like a bag-pipe hits the Scotch. And I'll back our little player 'gainst the best in Coar'd's show. When he plays some old time hymn tunes and pulls out the tremolo.

The organ ain't a wonder, and its wind sometimes gives out; the best in Coar'd's show. When he plays some old time hymn tunes and pulls out the tremolo.

Ed Wilson tries to get it on that violin of his; Our soprano's aped the organ till we call her Queen 'n' Lin. But there's no one ripe up her heartstrings in a clutch that won't let go like our little organ player when he pulls the tremolo. —Denver Republican.
