The summer normal schools of the State have been "Buckmanized."

The people of Bradford county are having some good work done on their roads in the vicinity of Starke.

If King Oscar of Sweden would only postpone his little trouble until President Roosevelt gets the Japan-Russian trouble settled he will be next.

The papers of the State should suspend publication of jokes on the Russians for a week, at least, so that all the old ones would get wrked off.

The Tampa fair and insurance company are occupying the attention of the people of that city at the present time, and the hotel deal may be neglected.

Gainesville has more fine residences than any other place of its size in Florida. Our carpenters are composed of a lot of first-class workmen, which accounts for it.

When Gainesville gets her system of sewerage put in we will have a new hotel built here. There are men ready to push the enterprise to completion without delay.

The meeting of the National Educational Association, which will be held at Asbury Park, N. J., July 23 to 27th, will draw together the most influential educators of the world.

Jacksonville don't care to have the University located in that city. If they had wanted it, long before this the foundation would have been laid and the building been started.

In many portions of Florida the melon growers report excellent crops, the yield and quality being all that could be asked. All that is needed is low rates for shipment to the markets, and the melon crop of this State will be a winner.

The State of Florida education is in a condition today that was never experienced before—discharged professors of the defunct State colleges are seeking employment in the academies and common schools of nearly all the counties.—Bartow Record.

The Ladies' Home Journal has had more free advertising than any other publication in the United States and it furnishes the cheapest trash of any of the dollar monthlies at the present time. If it was not for the printers' and engravers' art, there would not be much to the publication.

Grant was unknown and discouraged at forty, a hero and a president at forty-seven. Lincoln went into the White House at fifty-two. Taylor began to be a strenuous president at sixty-five. Washington fathered his country while in the forties and fifty-seven. Benjamin Franklin did his best public service after he was seventy. So examples could be multiplied indefinitely. In the United States Senate today, out of the ninety members, more than a score will reach seventy years in age before 1907.

THE MONEY OUTLOOK.

In an article relating to money now and in the fall The Wall Street Journal says that there may be an active money market this fall is not at all unlikely. The country is prosperous. There is a full movement of trade. The crops promise to be large. The harvest demands for currency will probably be normal, while a declaration of peace between Russia and Japan may involve an indemnity, payment of which would have to be arranged by the international bankers. All of these things would naturally tend to increase the demand for credit and to some extent reduce the reserves upon which credit must rest.

But while the money market may become active in the fall, as it usually does, there is no indication whatever of any trouble to be anticipated therefrom, and so far as the situation is at present concerned, it is one of continued ease which is not likely to be broken until the fall except for temporary shifts due to the preparation for the July disbursements.

The situation is best disclosed by the fact that loans have been made this week at 3 per cent for four months, that the supply of commercial paper is so scarce that banks which make a specialty of investing their funds in such paper have difficulty in obtaining it in sufficient quantity, though seeking it in Chicago and other Western points, and that brokers are offering the banks loans that would not mature until January at 4 per cent.

As to the war indemnity it should be remembered that, thanks to the modern system of credits, this would amount only to a transfer of credit from one nation to another; the actual money would still remain as a part of the international reserves, though there might be a necessity for shifting of some gold from the United States to Paris.

It is well to remember that money lenders and their brokers are disposed at times to exaggerate conditions in order to stimulate a demand for loans.

FROM THE STATE PRESS.

If we must decide, we will decide in favor of Gainesville for that University. Gainesville is not only a dry town, but it is glad of it.—Fernandina Star.

The contest for the site of the University is proving to be a battle royal between Lake City and Gainesville. Other "favorably mentioned" cities have apparently made way for these two places and the final outcome is awaited with general interest.—Palatka Times-Herald.

The location of the State University is creating considerable discussion throughout the State. Gainesville and Lake City are in the lead and either place would make an excellent location. But as Gainesville is the more central location and possesses every other desirable quality, it is more than probable that it will be located there. Gainesville is all right anyway.—Macclenny Standard.

Gainesville is an ideal place from every point of view for the location of the new University of Florida. The place is physically and morally clean, and for a long time the people of the place have had an ambition to make it an intellectual center. If members of the board having the location of the University in hand will but pay attention to the demands of the people instead of the will of politicians—put their ears to the ground and listen—they will easily learn that Gainesville is the first choice of the people of the whole State.—Palatka News.

The demand for residences still continues in this city and carpenters are busy all the time. A dozen or more five or six room cottages would be ready renters at good prices.

BE DOING.

The Canadian government is using all of her energies to induce farmers from the United States to settle in the Canadian Northwest, and it is meeting with no small amount of success. Many papers in the Northern States have advertisements announcing the opportunities offered, and the Canadian authorities contemplate running an excursion to that country, to be composed of newspaper correspondents, in order to have extensive write-ups of the trips published all over the country. While the Northwest may be a great country, the South offers greater inducements, when climate is considered.

But these Canadians are working like beavers for this one object, and if the people of the United States want to put a check on the immigration of people to Canada, they must be up and doing.

If the President would just tell his party what man he wishes nominated as his successor it would doubtless contribute materially to the efficiency of the administration. Secretary Shaw would then have time to worry about that deficit, Vice-President Fairbanks could study up the rules of parliamentary procedure, Secretary Taft need speak at fewer commencement exercises and Postmaster-General Cortelyou could confine his attention to improving the postal service.

Discuss Immigration Question.

New York, June 20.—Business men, sociologists and others responding to the call of the New York Civic Federation, will begin today a formal discussion of the immigration question in the rooms of the New York board of transportation. While it had been estimated frequently that at least 60 per cent of the immigrants arriving at this port remain in New York, the overcrowded condition of the east side streets and tenements during the past six months has awakened new interest in the matter and plans will be discussed for ridding the city of the burden. Some of the authorities estimate in Greater New York nearly 100,000 English-speaking families are on the verge of destitution because of the influx of cheap labor.

BAD BLOOD

I tried your Cascarets and great was my joy when the pimples disappeared after a month's steady use. I have recommended them to all my friends and quite a few have found relief." U. J. Fusch, 567 Park Ave., New York City, N. Y.
