NELSON WAS IN TROUBLE.

Was Cut and Shot, His Horse Injured, and He Was Left for Dead.

A. D. Nelson, a colored man of Campville, got mixed up with some trouble on the Fourth of July which resulted seriously for him, as he is "cut up a site to see," as the Georgia Cracker expressed it in writing to a railroad company regarding a cow ore of their locomotives had put out of business.

Nelson states that two colored men by the name of Stark fell out with him about a cow and on the 4th inst. while he was on his way to his farm he met the men and women, who were in a wagon. They were evidently looking for him, as the men got under the vehicle, and the first intimation he had of impending danger was when one of the women exclaimed, "Shoot him!" Two shots were immediately fired and Nelson was struck by several buckshot. Nelson says the men then jumped on him and cut him severely, afterward shooting him and leaving him in the road for dead. He was riding a horse, and the animal was also injured.

The Stark's then went to Nelson's house and informed his wife that they had killed her husband and told her where she could find his body. Nelson and the Starks are consins.

The men were arrested, and were placed under a bond for their appearance before Justice James Dyess next Wednesday.

Nelson has employed Judge J. A. Carlisle to prosecute the case.

SHORT SUNDAY HOURS FOR THE DRUGGISTS

Ministerial Association Wants the Pharmacists to be Good.

ought to attend church

Instead of Rolling Pills and Filling Prescriptions Sunday Morning—Important Meeting of the Association Tuesday Afternoon.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Methodist parsonage. Among other important matters discussed was that of securing shorter hours in which the druggists would be compelled to remain open on Sundays, so that they could attend church services.

It was shown that the druggists were perfectly willing to enter into an arrangement to confine themselves to certain hours of work on the Sabbath, but it was made plain that there was a fear one or two of the physicians would enter an objection to being limited to any given time for their prescriptions to be filled. It was therefore resolved that a paper be presented to all of the practicing physicians for their signatures and in this way show there were none unwilling to grant their fellow-men church privileges on Sundays.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

W. C. Hague Was Exonerated for Shooting Will Hunter.

The coroner's jury which sat upon the case of the killing of Will Hunter by Officer W. C. Hague at Hague Tuesday while resisting arrest, mention of which was made in The Sun, has returned a verdict to the effect that the killing was justifiable, since Officer Hague was protecting his own life. Chas. B. Dell was foreman of the jury, which was composed of a half-dozen of the best citizens of that section. The evidence was carefully weighed.

Mr. Hague, who was hit four times by Hunter, is reported resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances. While his wounds are painful, they are not considered serious, and the attending physicians say he is entirely out of danger.
