FROST APPEARS IN THE FEVER DISTRICT

And Many Sections Declare the Quarantine Removed.

BATON ROUGE OPENS ITS DOORS

The Fact that Jack Frost Visited So Many Localities Has Caused New Life to Spring Up All Over Plague-Stricken Sections.

New Orleans, Oct. 14.—The weather conditions are cool today and cold all through most of the rest of the state, and except for the fact that a nest of fever has been discovered at New Iberia, the whole yellow fever situation is cheering.

Eighteen cases are now under treatment at New Iberia, and they have all been reported within the past two days, indicating that the disease has prevailed there for a long time.

Failure to discover it before is explained by the fact that the disease is exceedingly mild.

A light frost was reported in the town and vicinity and it is anticipated that the fever will be speedily wiped out, although at present their is some excitement and business is suspended.

One of the three new cases at Tallulah, where frost has also been reported, is Miss Maas, a trained nurse, who went from New Orleans to assist in nursing the sick.

Franklin, La., where one case has been diagnosed, is in St. Mary parish, not far from Patterson, where the disease has been long prevalent. Franklin is the home of United States Senator Foster, who reached that town yesterday from his trip to the Philippines. One death has occurred at Patterson, D. F. Bishop, formerly of Kansas, who was inspector of the Western Union Telegraph company.

The appearance of frost over a large section of Louisiana and Mississippi promises to have immediate results in removing the quarantines.

As a result of it, Baton Rouge today threw open its doors to the world. Several parishes have announced that communication will be restored next week. Express companies give notice that a large number of towns that have been putting difficulties in the matter of handling express matter have removed all restrictions.

The fever in New Orleans is being rapidly overcome. There are now under treatment only 164 cases and as a result of the fact that for the past ten days the number of new cases has been diminishing this number will be largely reduced within the next week. The number of deaths this week will be by far the lowest for any week since the fever started.

An optimistic view of the situation is taken by the president along the Mississippi gulf coast. Frost appeared at many points yesterday, the cases are being reduced in number and it is anticipated that uninterrupted train service will shortly be resumed.

Past Assistant Surgeon Berry, who left here some time ago for Gulfport and Brantock, has returned and reports improvement in the Gulfport situation.

President Janvier has announced that the subscriptions to the citizens' fund have been closed. All the money that is needed to complete the stamping out of the fever is at hand.

Owing to the existence of quarantines the Tulane football team announces that there will be no football this year with the southern universities. Owing to the uncertainty as to when the fever would be overcome, it was impossible to make arrangements for matches.

Notice has been given that the first meeting of the Louisiana railroad commission since the fever started will take place on Nov. 6. A large amount of business has piled up before the commission.

With only two deaths over night and very few cases reported during the forenoon there was promise of another low fever report for today. The weather remains bright and cool.

Dr. White returned today from Mobile, where he was engaged in a conference over quarantine matters. He week there would be a general collapse of quarantines.

Instead of going to Meridian to meet Dr. Hunter, he decided to return here and go tonight or tomorrow to Jackson, where he will consult with the Mississippi officials.

Baton Rouge has asked for a resumption of train service over the Mississippi Valley road and the railroad authorities have the matter under consideration.

Two Deaths in Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 14.—State Health Officer W. H. Sanders, who is at Castleberry, Ala., a small station on the Louisville and Nashville road, 90 miles north of here, telegraphs that after a thorough investigation of two suspicious cases of fever at that point he has pronounced them yellow fever. Both of the victims are dead. One died yesterday morning and the other last night.

Pensacola is thought to be the point from which the infection originated. Castleberry is isolated from the world, but this will not be for long, as there was frost in the little town yesterday and again today.

MICANOPY NEWS.

Micanopy, Oct. 12.—The Micanopy high school opened the 2nd of this month with an enrollment of 84. The principal, Miss Annie Collins of Georgia, with Miss Clara Smith of North Carolina and Miss Sophie Merry of this place as assistants, are hard at work getting the children properly classified. We think they will please all and advance the pupils rapidly, as they are getting down to hard work right in the beginning. There have been several scholars enrolled since the opening day. With good teachers, and the patrons taking more interest than usual, the school will be a success.

On Friday evening, September 29th, 1905, a musical concert was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Smith. The parlor was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and evergreens. Mrs. Smith and her two charming daughters, Misses Marion and Nannie, received the guests. Promptly at 8 o'clock the following program was carried out:

They sang these parts nicely and drew much appreciation, which reflected credit on their efficient teacher, Miss Irene Beck.

The two recitations were well rendered and afforded much laughter to the audience.

After the musical delightful refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served by Mrs. Smith, assisted by Mesdames C. M., V. P. and T. N. Smith.

A delightful feature of the evening was a large silver cake beautifully loed, made by Mrs. T. N. Smith, with a ring inserted, for which all the young people cut, Retie Smith being the successful one.

The young ladies were beautifully attired in evening costume, and looked sweet, like the Central girls always do.

After the refreshments the young folks repaired to the parlor, where they "tripped the light fantastic" till a late hour called them to their homes.

We each felt like voting Mrs. Smith a lovely hostess and thanking her for good time.

TRUSS ROSE.

DEATH OF MRS. E. L. CUSHMAN.

The Peaceful Ending of a Devoted Christian's Life.

From Saturday's Daily Sun.

Mrs. Blanche Jarvis Cushman, wife of Mr. E. L. Cushman and daughter of Mr. J. H. Jarvis, died at her home in this city Thursday evening at half-past nine o'clock.

This sad event was not unexpected, as Mrs. Cushman had been an invalid for some years, having consumption, and has been declining rapidly the past few weeks.

The deceased was born in this city not quite twenty-three years ago. She was the daughter of Mr. J. H. Jarvis and Mrs. Annie E. Jarvis. She was married August 28, 1901, to Mr. E. L. Cushman, who, with two sons and an infant daughter, survives her.

Some years ago Mrs. Cushman professed her faith in Jesus Christ and became a member of the First Presbyterian Church, with which her whole life had been associated. The genuineness and sincerity of her piety were very manifest in consistency of daily life in her patience under the cares and trials allotted to her in the illness of her children, and especially in her sweet resignation of spirit to the divine will in her own increasing feebleness, the necessary separation from her children, the early blighting of her earthly plans and hopes, and in the prospect and experience of departure from this world. Her end was peaceful and painless—just a quiet falling asleep.

To her father, husband and family the deepest sympathy of many friends goes out in this season of their bereavement.

The funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church this afternoon at three o'clock, to which all relatives and friends of the family are invited.

Funeral of Mrs. Cushman.

The funeral of Mrs. E. L. Cushman, the sad death of whom occurred Thursday night, was held from the First Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and was largely attended by friends of the family and deceased.

Rev. Thos. P. Hay, pastor of the church, conducted the services, assisted in a prayer by Rev. T. J. Nixon of the Methodist church, who was a great friend and spiritual advisor of Mrs. Cushman during her last days. The church was well filled with friends and members of the lodges of Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias, who assembled to pay the last respects.

The floral offerings were numerous, almost covering the handsome casket of white, and were loving tokens from friends.

During the service the choir rendered "Asleep in Jesus" and "He Leadeth Me," two favorite hymns of the deceased, in a most beautiful and impressive manner.

The remains were accompanied to the cemetery by many friends. The ceremonies were concluded there by Rev. Mr. Hay, and all that was mortal of Mrs. Blanche Jarvis Cushman was placed in the grave.

Friends extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved family in this hour of sorrow.

"THE STRUGGLE," A LIVING ROMANCE

The All-Absorbing Trust Question Exposed in Fiction.

GREATEST NOVEL OF THE TIMES

By Hon. Sidney C. Tapp of the Atlanta Bar—A Former Resident of Gainesville—Author of the Story of Anglo-Saxon Institutions.

Many people of this city will take a deep interest in the much-heralded book, "The Struggle," by the Hon. Sidney C. Tapp of the Atlanta bar and author of "The Story of Anglo-Saxon Institutions," which is expected to be issued from the press November 1st, as the author was at one time a resident of this city and is known by many residents.

Mr. Tapp's work on the Anglo-Saxon Institutions has made his name famous among scholars both in this country and in Europe, and in his forthcoming novel on the trust question he has given new life and force to the world of fiction. It is a living, pulsating exposure of the evils of the trust. The author paints a real and living picture of the inside of Wall street and the great gambling institutions of the country which are overthrowing and destroying our civilization. There is not a tiresome line nor page in the book. It discloses the corruption of organized wealth that is destroying the vitality of our system of government in such a real and living manner that the reader feels and realizes the inspiration of the author. The love story is a real living romance that is both interesting and inspiring. It is unquestionably one of the epoch making novels of the times, and that the distinguished lawyer has given to the world of fiction a work that will open the eyes of the American people to the disease that is destroying our free institutions cannot be denied.

The novel will be placed on sale about the first of November at the price of $1.50, postage 10 cents. It will be issued by the American Baptist Publication Society, Southeastern House, 27 South Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga. H. O. Robert, Manager.

HYDE'S FAREWELL SALE.

Will Give His Customers the Benefit of Great Bargains.

It is with regret that we announce the determination of G. W. Hyde, our leading dry goods, millinery and shoe dealer, to retire from business in Gainesville, as he has made many friends here by his fair dealing during the 18 years he has been identified with the mercantile interests of the city.

The sale opens on Saturday, October 21st, at 9 o'clock, and will continue indefinitely. In his advertisement he quotes many prices, which careful buyers are asked to peruse and see for themselves the bargain he offers all over the mammoth double-store. There will be nothing reserved, and as the stock is new and large, there will be a chance for all to make profitable purchases.

Mr. Hyde has not yet decided as to his future plans, but has decided to close out his stock and fixtures. The prices will, as the announcement states, be low, and those who have been acquainted with Mr. Hyde in years past will know that he prizes himself on keeping his word.

We trust he may be induced to remain in this city, but should he make up his mind to go elsewhere, The Sun wishes him abundant prosperity. But don't forget that he has bargains for all.

The Gray Mill.

The Gray mill near this city, which has been shut down for some time, may be sold or removed to some other point, as Mr. Gray has finished cutting the timber close at hand. He has just returned from a trip to the southern part of the State, where he filed on and has favorable sites to locate his mill, owing to excessive freight rates.
