

ATTEMPT TO MURDER ENVOYS.

Infuriated Japanese Wanted to Destroy Peace Treaty With Russia. Seattle, Wash., Dec. 1.—The attempt to murder the peace delegation and destroy the treaty between Japan and Russia, which was drawn up by the plenipotentiaries in Portsmouth and was witnessed by officers and passengers on the Dakota on the night of her arrival at Yokohama.

Dr. William Lopp, surgeon of the Dakota, in speaking of the incident, said:

"The whole thing happened the night of our arrival at Yokohama. We were lying in Mississippi bay just outside of the breakwater. All the torpedo boats and war vessels which escorted the peace commission were drawn up in a long line. The launch containing the delegation and the treaty left the warship and started for the landing. Suddenly one of the torpedo boats, anchored near the end of the line of battleships, slipped her cable and started after the launch. They made for her at a right angle course. The people on the launch saw the torpedo boat leave the line of crafts and they knew what was coming. The launch was slow and the torpedo boat rushed on like a comet. Like a shot from a cannon she rushed on and in a minute struck the launch, cutting her completely in two and raced on into the darkness. We could see the men struggling in the water and clinging to the pieces of the wreckage of the boats. The launches from the battleships were at once sent to their rescue and saved all but one. The treaty also was saved."

WOMAN KEPT SECRET 18 YEARS.

Had the Body of Her Dead Daughter in Her Home for Many Years. Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—An eighteen year vigil beside the dead body of her daughter ended when Mrs. Lora J. Young died at her home in this city.

Neighbors who entered the house of the woman after her death were horrified to find a wooden box in the bedroom with the inscription "Lora L. Thompson, died Dec. 16, 1887, aged 27 years, 2 months and 12 days." When the box was opened the cause of the midnight vigil in the past of Mrs. Young was explained. Neighbors of Mrs. Young had often noticed that she spent much of her time at night in one corner of the bedroom, always apparently kneeling by some object, but not until death came to the woman did neighbors learn that the body of beautiful Lora Thompson, who died in Amherst, Mass., in 1887, was inclosed in the box which the mother watched with such care.

Parties Will Hold Caucuses.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The preliminaries for the fight between the Republicans and Democrats of the house on immediate legislation will be arranged by the respective parties in caucuses which are to be held on Dec. 2, at night by the Republicans, according to the official call, and at noon of the same day by the Democrats. Both meetings will be in the hall of the house of representatives. The matters likely to be considered will be the proposed appropriation of $16,000,000 for the canal commission, the administration railway rate bill and a ship subsidy bill.

Doctors Could Not Help Her.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner of Shelton, Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." It makes the diseased kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. Unless they do this good health is impossible. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Engineer Blamed for Wreck.

Concord, Mass., Dec. 1.—At the conclusion of an inquest into the accident at Lincoln last Sunday on the Boston and Maine railroad, when eighteen persons were killed and twenty others injured, Horace W. Lyons, the engineer of one of the trains in collision, was held for the grand jury on the charge of manslaughter. The hearing was secret. Lyons was held in $1,000 bail.

In Mad Chase.

Millions rush in mad chase after health, from one extreme of faddism to another, when, if they could only eat good food, and keep their bowels regular with Dr. King's New Life Pills, their troubles would all pass away. Prompt relief and quick cure for liver and stomach trouble. See at all drug stores, guaranteed.

THE "LOST ARTS."

They Are Not So Much Lost as They Are Discarded.

"Not so many years ago it was quite commonly asserted that modern workmen could not quarry, or, having quarried, could not handle stones as large as the monoliths of Egypt," says a scientist, "and the writer has heard a public speaker of note assert that it would be impossible to handle, with modern implements, such large stones as were used in the pyramids or to join them as perfectly as they are joined there. Yet, when occasion arose, larger stones than any of these were quarried in Maine, and some of the larger monoliths themselves were transported not only to sea, but across it and erected in England, France and America.

"There are individuals today who might if they chose cause the transportation to and erection in this country of the largest pyramids or build new ones ten times larger and more durable. Pyramids are not being generally built nowadays because they are not in line with the trend of modern ambition, that's all.

"It is very doubtful if a 'Damascus blade' would stand half as severe usage as a modern band saw blade or even as much as the spring of a forty cent clock, while the ornamentation of those wondrous blades, so far as the mechanical execution is concerned, can be excelled by apprentices and amateurs of today."

NEWSPAPERS.

Striking Things That Great Men Have Said About Them.

A correspondent requests that we print some of the striking things great men have said about newspapers—that is, sayings that embody the purpose and doings of the press. With pleasure.

Bryant said: "The press is good or evil, according to the character of those who direct it. It is a mill that grinds all that is put into its hopper. Fill the hopper with poisoned grain, and it will grind it to meal, but there is death in the bread."

James Parton said: "The newspaper press is the people's university. Half the readers in Christendom read little else."

Jefferson said: "The basis of our government being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right, and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

Cardinal Gibbons said: "The dread of exposure in the public press keeps many a man sticking close to the path of rectitude who otherwise would stray off into the byways of graft."—Chicago Journal.

LaGrippe and Pneumonia.

Pneumonia often follows lagrippe, but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cures lagrippe, coughs and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Mr. G. Vacher, 157 Osgood street, Chicago, writes: "My wife had a severe case of lagrippe three years ago and it left her with a terrible cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50-cent bottle cured her cough entirely." Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Company.

Ever Read a Cento Book?

"This volume," said the bibliophile, "is a cento. It is composed of detached sentences taken from the works of Thackeray. It makes a novel, sensible, but short, and it was composed in seven years by a bedridden baroness. The best known cento is probably the Empress Eudoxia's 'Life of Christ,' made entirely of lines from Homer. There is a similar life, composed by Ross, that consists wholly of detached lines from Virgil. Centos are often very valuable. One compiled by Alexander Hamilton from Milton's 'Paradise Lost' sold not long since for $500. The book was a history of America."

A Plague of Caterpillars.

Of the plague of caterpillars that overran the Scottish lowlands in 1851 Richard Bell in his book "My Strange Pets" says, "The caterpillars marched in armies straight ahead, and the consequence was that when they encountered 'sheep drains,' which are open drains about eighteen inches deep and eighteen inches wide at the top, they tumbled into them in such numbers that their dead bodies dammed up the water and they might have been taken out in barrow loads."

The Requisite of Beauty.

The first requisite of beauty is a clear complexion. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup clears a sallow, blotched complexion, as it stimulates the liver and bowels, and the eyes become bright and clear. You owe it to your friends to take it if your complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and it is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Company.
