Some people talk by the pound and live by the ounce, so great is the difference between their words and acts.

Dr. Mary Walker, the quaint little old woman who wears pants, endorses the sheath gown. That ought to finish the sheath.

"Who are the consumers?" asks The Portsmouth Star. Merely the pestiferous and unimportant little fellows who foot the bills.

Philadelphia's discovery of $1.20 in the city treasury looks as if someone had been sufficiently magnanimous to say, "keep the change."

A message to Mars can be sent for $10,000,000, says Professor Pickering. Let's send it marked "collect," and see what will happen.

Wisconsin has enacted a law against swearing, and a California reformer wants one against kissing. One would be quite as effective as the other, we imagine.

The Wright brothers have given indisputable evidence of their desire to go down in history as inventors and not public exhibitors, by the offers they have rejected.

To see the opportunity is one thing; to seize the opportunity and wisely use it is another. Many do the first but the number who do the second is relatively small.

To postpone the doing of some kindly act to an indefinite future rarely amounts to anything. The only sensible plan is to do kind acts and say kind words as we pass along.

Some of the material that is set forth in the editorial department of some of the magazines and newspapers makes us hope that the day of a pure mental food law will come to pass.

"One way to tell that you are getting old is when you get tired of the circus parade before it is half over," says The Ohio State Journal. Probably so; but we never heard of anybody doing that.

If we want to spoil life for ourselves and be a source of misery to others we need only to be selfish. Think only of ourselves and of what people think of us and all joy and peace goes out of our life.

A Wisconsin college prohibits freshmen from using cigarettes. This should not be a great hardship, as the illustrated periodicals have for some time represented the real college man as smoking a pipe.

A Montgomery, Ala., man has been arrested for robbing a gas meter of $2. While, of course, we are not in favor of robbery, we confess we are not sorry to know that somebody has managed to get back at the gas meter in a measure, at least.

A Philadelphia man bet he could drink two quarts of whiskey within two hours. He did; but he is dead. A Chicago girl bet she could walk one hour without stopping. She did; but she is dead. These things save the fool-killer trouble, however.

IRVYN'S TRIBUTE.

Approach of the recent observance of Mother's Day, says The Tampa Tribune, we recall an eloquent tribute which was delivered by William J. Bryan at Fredericksburg, Va., during the famous campaign of 1896 to the mother of Washington. Said the noted orator:

Fredericksburg is not a large city and yet it is rich in incidents of great historic value. Here the women of America have reared a monument to Mary, the mother of Washington. I am glad to stand on this spot; I am glad to feel the influences which surround her grave. In a campaign, especially in a campaign like this, there is much of bitterness, and sometimes of abuse, spoken against the candidates for public office, but my friends, there is one character, the mother—a candidate for the affections of all mankind—against whom no true man ever uttered a word of abuse. There is one name, mother, which is never found upon the tongue of the slanderer—in her presence all criticism is silenced. The painter has, with his brush, transferred the landscape to the canvas with such fidelity that the trees and grasses seem almost real; he has even made the face of a maiden seem instinct with life, but there is one picture so beautiful that no painter has ever been able to perfectly reproduce it, and that is the picture of the mother holding in her arms her babe. Within the shadow of this monument, reared to the memory of each one of us, I bow in humble reverence to motherhood.

FINISHING WELL.

This is the time when in most places schools are closing for the summer vacation, and the "commencements" of schools and colleges are a reminder that thousands of young people are being graduated to enter upon their life work.

To many young people there comes the temptation in the last year of school to let up a little on their studies because of the feeling that as the end is so near it does not matter. For more than one reason this is a mistaken idea. The last year's work should be the fitting crown of the work of previous years. Then, too, the last year in school is to be considered in its relation to the future. In most cases a young man passes directly from school to his life work. As the word "commencement" indicates, his life is not closing when he leaves school. It is really opening before him with all its possibilities, and if fullest success is to attend that life he must be adequately equipped. This means that the young person must finish well at school in order to commence well and continue well in the business or profession which he enters. It is not slipshod but thorough work that wins.

A certain authority says that the man who "does not provide for his family is worse than an infidel." The same man with equal truth he said of the man who does not stand by his own town. To speak disparagingly of one's town, to point out its shortcomings and be silent as to its merits, to trade elsewhere and care not if the home merchants starve—all this is unpatriotic and is the same in character if not in degree with the action of men who constantly praise other countries at the expense of their own.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Keep your eye on the want ads. There may be something advertised which is of interest to you.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

As a Last Resort?—By not hold the Legislature in special session throughout the summer and see if the sweat-box will not induce it to do something for the State? It is up to the Governor.—Pensacola Journal.

Experiment Station Work—An interesting account of the operations of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station was given in the address of Prof. Rolfs at the State Horticultural Association convention at Daytona, Wednesday. He stated that the mailing list now includes 14,000 names. This gives an idea of the number of the really enterprising agriculturists and horticulturists of Florida.—Times-Union "Short Talks."

A Plea for the Women—Some member of the Legislature, if he will be quick about it, can win deserved renown if he will secure the enactment of a law permitting all girls and women to carry, concealed or unconcealed, untaxed and without license, revolvers, dirks, bowie knives, gaffing guns and any other deadly weapon they may choose. The result of such a law might be the occasional killing of an innocent man, but almost any man of proper spirit is willing to die for the protection of our women. What's one man's life as compared with the safety of a dozen or more women?—Punta Gorda Herald.

WITH THE PARAGRAPHERS.

One would think it easy enough to cut the tariff on razors.—Pensacola Journal.

Well, may be they'll try to stop baseball too, but then somebody is going to get murdered.—Jacksonville Floridian.

Blue laws are as nothing compared with some of the would-be laws now pending in the Florida Legislature.—Times-Union.

No use trying to live the simple life. A couple had lived in a cavern for just three weeks, then the police nabbed them.—Times-Union.

When a trust like the American Sugar Refining Company is caught red-handed in cheating the Government or a municipality and is found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine, its members try to escape a criminal action by throwing all the blame of the thievery upon their employes. It is encouraging to learn that this plea will not hold in the case of the above company for the Government intends to bring a criminal suit. The Sugar Refining Company defrauded the Government of the duty on 75,000,000 pounds of sugar and the city of New York of a vast sum for water it had surreptitiously taken and it is only right that the principals who thus cheated and stole should receive adequate punishment. To them a fine of $1,000,000 is no punishment, but hard labor within the walls of a penitentiary would be.

Act Quickly

and you will save yourself a lot of suffering and trouble. If you have a sudden chill—or take cold—if you have colic, cramp or diarrhoea, don't wait a minute. Take at once a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Painkiller in a half a glass of hot water or milk. You'll be safe and on the right road to quick recovery. Then you'll escape serious illness. But you ought to have this tried and proven remedy on hand for immediate use. Being prepared is half the battle when there's pain to subdue. New size bottles 35c., also in 50-cent sizes.

If you have found anything see if it is advertised in the Want column.
