

MUST CONNECT WITH THE CITY SEWERAGE

PASS NEW ORDINANCE MAKING SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS.

The Movement Will Be Started From Square and Spread Over Entire City.

The City Council has passed another ordinance which will prove of great interest to all property owners of the city, and especially those adjacent to the square at the present time.

This ordinance was passed for the purpose of compelling all property owners to connect up to the city sewerage, and special provision is made for the sections to come in rotation, hence it will be some time before the outside portions of the city are affected by this clause. For instance, it will commence on the square, and all property owners here must first connect up, then will advance another block in each direction, and so on until the entire city has been covered and the connections all made.

This move has been under contemplation for some time, but a great work has been on here with the plumbers owing to the building operations and they have had about all that could be handled, hence the city has waited till they could better accommodate the demand that will be made upon them before passing the law.

The new law will go into effect immediately after the publication of same and it receives the proper signatures of mayor and president of the council.

Wouldn't Be Fooled Again.

A shepherd once, to prove the quickness of his dog, which was lying before the fire in the house where we were talking, said to me in the middle of a sentence concerning something else, "I'm thinking, sir, the cow is in the potatoes."

Though he purposely laid no stress on these words and said them in a quiet, unconcerned tone of voice, the dog, which appeared to be asleep, immediately jumped up and, leaping through the open window, scrambled up to the turf roof of the house, from which he could see the potato field. He then, not seeing the cow there, ran and looked into the barn where she was and finding that all was right, came back to the house.

After a short time the shepherd said the same words again, and the dog repeated his lookout, but on the false alarm being the third time given the dog got up and, wagging his tail, looked his master in the face with so comical an expression of interrogation that he could not help laughing aloud at him, on which, with a slight growl, he laid himself down in his warm corner with an offended air, as if determined not to be made a fool of again.—London Standard.

One For the Minister.

An old minister in the south side of Glasgow who was noted for his habit of dishing up old sermons again and again was one day advertised to preach in a suburban church at the anniversary service there. An old woman who in days gone by had sat under his ministry, but who had now removed from his neighborhood, determined to go in and hear him preach on this particular occasion. After the close of the service she waited on the clergyman, who greeted her cordially and asked what she thought of his discourse. "Eh, man," she replied candidly, "it's a lang time sin' I first heard ye preach that yin, sir, and I've heard ye at it a guid wheen o' times sin' syne."

"Aye, Janet," said the minister "How often do ye think ye've heard it na?" "Oh, about a dozen o' times, sir," she replied. "An' did ye mind it a'?" said the minister. "Aweel, maybe no' it a', sir." "Weel, I see I'll need to preach it to ye again, Janet," said the minister, and Janet felt that she had been sold for once.

Settled a Great Question.

When Thomas H. Benton was in the house he was of the opinion that the 2d day of March and consequently the congressional term ended at midnight of that day instead of at noon on the 4th, as unbroken usage had fixed it. So on the last morning he sat with his hat on, talked loudly, loafed about the floor and finally refused to vote or answer to his name when the roll was called. At last the speaker, the Hon. James L. Orr of South Carolina, picked him up and put an end to these legislative larks.

"No, sir; no, sir; no, sir!" shouted the venerable Missourian. "I will not vote. I have no right to vote. This is no house, and I am not a member of it."

"Then, sir," said Speaker Orr like a flash, with his sweetest manner, "if the gentleman is not a member of this house the sergeant at arms will please put him out."

And so this vast constitutional question settled itself.—Argonaut.

Handy With an Ax.

One important feature in connection with the early time of mining operations in Siberia is the aptitude of the Russian workman for the ax. Wood is so plentiful in the country that mining timber may be figured on at a low rate. The current anecdote that a Russian workman will for a twenty kopeck piece lay his left hand, with fingers spread, on a board and with full strength make an ax cut between each finger cannot be vouched for, but it is certainly true that in pick timbering in bad ground, in erecting buildings, log cabins and all manner of wood joining the equal of the Russian peasant cannot be found.—London Globe.

The Word "Bald."

It is believed by at least one writer that it is because baldness in women has nearly always been studiously concealed that no gentle way of evading the blunt word "bald" has been evolved in contrast with the many ways of dodging "fat." "Stout" (which really means sturdy), "portly," "comfortable" and "embonpoint" are instances of this evasion. But "bald" always remains "bald."—Chicago News.
