

THE PALATKA NEWS and Advertiser.

Entered at the Palatka postoffice as available matter of the second class.

Published at Palatka, Florida, on Fridays by RUSSELL & VICKERS.

Wm. A. RUSSELL, Editor.

TIMES-UNION COURTESY.

"The Anti-Saloon League made a ten-strike when it employed the Stetson quartet," says the Tallahassee True Democrat, and this causes some people to wonder why the quartet has not a better press agent. For the past two months, week after week, state newspapers have turned up with the same old story, which began like this: "One of the most unique public attractions in connection with the discussion of any live issue before the public has been hit upon," and so on. Everywhere the boys have gone they have been pleasantly received, and many newspapers have gone into ecstasies over the "wonderful oratory" and the "magnificent" presentation of the argument for prohibition. That the four youths excel Henry Clay in his prime is practically claimed by some of the enthusiastic prohibition papers—but the unprejudiced may not have been so extravagant. The boys are telling, in a more or less mechanical way, just what they have been told to tell. That they are hired and paid by the Indiana corporation called the Anti-Saloon League, through its Florida branch, is admitted—and that double discounts are given that might otherwise have come of such a trip and such bursts of amateur oratory.—Florida Times-Union.

Now isn't that a dirty, discourteous slap; and at four of the cleanest, clearest-headed, most unoffending young men in the state of Florida.

And it is from the Florida Times-Union! In another editorial in the same issue (Sept. 24) of that paper appears the following:

"With a personal knowledge of the editorial page of the Times-Union extending back nearly twenty years we cannot recall an instance in which this paper failed to treat opponents courteously except where they first resorted to discourtesy."

Will the Times-Union kindly point out wherein these young men have treated it discourteously?

It is true that the youthful quartette is under the direction of the Florida Anti-Saloon League; that this organization, acting as press agent for the young men, has sent out advance press notices, one of which begins, as quoted by the Times-Union—"One of the most unique public attractions in connection with the discussion, etc."—but that is no reflection on the boys, nor on the League because—it is true.

Editors to whom these press notices were sent were not under obligations to publish them; they were privileged to announce the coming of the quartette in their own language.

Some of them did. Others, in telling of the visit of the young men, went into ecstasies over them, it was true, but in the wild and extravagant manner charged by the Times-Union. For instance, here is one of the quartette's notices, taken from the Bradford County Telegraph, edited by one of the biggest brains men in Florida, Hon. E. S. Matthews. He says:

"Those who went up to the court house Tuesday evening to hear the temperance orators from Stetson University were agreeably surprised at the manner in which the oration was conducted. Instead of some wild-eyed fanatics denouncing the demon rum, its makers, sellers and users, they found four prepossessing young men, who stood up and sang. It was not a song of the 'father, dear father' persuasion, but one of exquisite melody, faintly rendered. More songs and choruses followed, after which Mr. A. Y. Millam, of Jacksonville, spoke. More songs followed, and then Mr. Frank Wideman, of DeLand, spoke. They made no attempt at oratory, there were no eyes raised to heaven and voices trembling with fervent emotion, which so many temperance speakers assume; the speaking was logical and convincing, the statistics telling, the quotations used were the opinions given by supreme court justices and other eminent men. The liquor question was reviewed in all its aspects in such a masterly agreeable manner that every word went to the hearts, and the arguments were so convincing that they were bound to accomplish their purpose.

With no intention to appear discourteous to the Times-Union, the News wishes to say that it does not believe any Florida editor has ever "practically claimed that the four youths excel Henry Clay in his prime." That would have been extravagant.

But the real discourtesy of the Times-Union, its dirtiest slap, is contained in this sentence: "The boys are likely telling, in a more or less mechanical way, just what they have been told to tell."

The Times-Union would convey the impression that these young men are incapable of doing their own thinking; that they are mere parrots, who repeat what they are told.

Well, that is untrue. They are young men of brains, who know how to use them. One of these young men—Frank Wideman—represented the colleges of Florida at the anniversary exercises of the battle of Gettysburg this summer. He was one of the orators, and—of one of the prize winners. It is presumed that he got the information from which his oration was constructed from a reading of history, and that in a way he stated nothing new. But isn't that true with all public speakers and writers, except, perhaps, the editor of the Times-Union, who is alone privileged to draw upon his imagination for facts?

The next discourtesy of the Times-Union is addressed to the Florida Anti-Saloon League, which it calls an Indiana corporation with the purpose of arousing state prejudice.

That may be true. But all corporate organizations, whether for the spread of religion, or morals, or—booze, have some central office and organization and are organized under the laws of some state. Thus the Methodist Episcopal Church South is organized under the laws of Tennessee; the Societies of Christian Endeavor under the laws of Massachusetts and the Model License League, an organization of brewers, under the laws of Ohio, or Wisconsin, we are not sure which.

They all have branches in Florida. The American Anti-Saloon League is a league of state organizations, and the Times-Union knows it. Its object is the outlawry of the American saloon. Very worthy object as the Times-Union ought to have the decency to admit.

The Florida Anti-Saloon League is composed of some worthy gentlemen, several of whom reside in Jacksonville, and all of whom live and pay taxes in Florida. They are all noted for their respectability.

A few of the Jacksonville trustees are: A. D. Stephens, president; E. O. Painter, treasurer; W. K. Bartleson, W. H. Baker, J. H. McLaurin, John S. Robinson, W. L. Lampkin, a dozen or more prominent laymen and all the leading pastors.

Among the state trustees are such men as A. P. Anthony of Palm Beach, E. D. Beggs and C. M. Covington of Pensacola, C. A. Carson of Kissimmee, M. Dixon and Senator Don. C. McMullen of Tampa, Hon. S. J. Hillburn and W. G. Tilghman of Palatka, T. J. Watkins of Orlando, W. D. Carn, W. H. Coleman and A. L. Izlar of Ocala, J. M. Rivers of Gainesville, and—

But what's the use. These are only a few of the Florida Board of Trustees. They live in Florida, and have fair reputations for morals and business worth. They want the saloon outlawed in Florida. That is a worthy ambition.

Were they willing to let it continue in Jacksonville, neither they, nor the boys who form the college quartette, would have been treated discourteously by the Times-Union, which by its own admission, broke all precedent to do the trick. And it was a dirty trick.

It should be remembered that the present day advocates of "personal liberty" in Florida, are simply demanding that they be given liberty to sell booze. Their great concern for the cause of "personal liberty," begins and ends with that demand.

But we are not opposing practical prohibition and prohibition may be practical where those who are entrusted with the enforcement of the law also make it.—Florida Times-Union.

"Practical prohibition," according to the Times-Union idea, should not extend to the redlight district, where a majority of the people prefer obscenity, gambling dens, low groceries, houses of prostitution and the society of crooks, bookies and the demi-monde. The law is hard to enforce in such a district, because the people are opposed to all such fool prohibitions. The idea of the Times-Union is new. Carried to its logical end it means that law is made for the obedient—the other fellows don't want it, won't obey it, and therefore should not be forced to live under it. That is local option.

The News has, and until after the election in November will continue, to give much of its editorial space to a discussion of the proposed state-wide prohibition amendment. It is the only issue pending in the coming election. Reduced to a plain statement the question is: Shall the State of Florida permit certain counties to continue the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, or shall it outlaw that business entirely. It is a question that admits of no compromise. An individual, or a paper, must take one side or the other, or sit on the fence. The News was never intended for fence purposes. It has opinions, and on moral questions especially it believes it to be its duty to express them.

The beverage liquor business is the prolific cause of a very large proportion of the crime, pauperism and misery of this and other states. It is a state-wide and not a local nuisance and has been so defined by the highest courts in the land. The issue is important, and for this reason the News will try and do its part to bring about a right settlement.

Chivalry Outraged by Wet Editor.
"I repeat, woman has been the direct cause of the undoing of more men than of any other one thing under the sun."—Trick's Florida.
Just like a cowardly man to lay his shortcomings off on a woman! If you would tell the truth (a very difficult thing for some writers to do) you would say, "Woman has been the making of more men than any other agency in the world."
It is lamentable that any man will so forget his own mother as to utter any such contemptible sentiments as that of Trick quoted above. Of course we see what he is driving at, he is trying to aggrandize the contemptible liquor traffic by blaming man's downfall to women. The leader is glad to note that most of the advocates of the license system are too manly to resort to any such arguments for "Personal Liber-Tea." The fact that the editor of the state saloon organ will so transgress the law of true Southern chivalry as to lay man's debauchery to woman's door only proves how low said editor has descended into the pit to do the will of his masters.—The Leader, West Ft. Meade.

What the Label Said.
Paintings were not her specialty, but as she gazed at a beautiful copy of Millet's "Gleaners" her admiration of the work called forth enthusiastic comment. "What a wonderful picture!" she exclaimed. "And how natural it looks! But what are those people doing?" She inquired as she bent nearer to read the title. "Oh, yes, I see; gleaners; millet! How perfectly fascinating!"

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is not to be paid for on any possible benefit from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. 8-14 by all Druggists, 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

First Potatoes in Scotland.
It is claimed by a correspondent that the first potato to grow potatoes in the open field in Scotland was Thomas Prentice, a day laborer in the West Barony of the parish in Glasgow, near Chapel Green. That was in the year 1728. It was about four years after that date that he (Prentice) entered the market with them and was very successful with his experiment, as he made £800 of it, which he sank in double interest and died at Edinburgh in 1762.—Glasgow Herald.

Strictly Legal.
"What is a young man to do when his attention has been arrested by a pretty girl?"
"Why, carry his case to court, of course."—Red Hen.

Sarcastic.
"Is she a great singer?"
"No; I shouldn't call her great. You can understand every word she sings."—Detroit Free Press.

It May Be Pneumonia

"A hard chill, pain through the chest, difficult breathing. Then fever, with great prostration." If this should be your experience, send for your doctor. You may have pneumonia! If your doctor cannot come at once, give Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. When he comes, tell him exactly what you have done. Then do as he says. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Keep the bowels in good condition. One of Ayer's Pills at bedtime will cause an increased flow of bile, and produce a gentle laxative effect the day following.

STUPID PEOPLE.

Couldn't Tell What Grew Up Straight and Was Served on Toast.

Never ask any one to supply you with a missing word, says a writer in the Aethon Globe, and if the experience which he relates is typical it is good advice. A woman was engaged recently in writing a letter to a friend, in which she was telling of what they had to eat at a party. She was getting along very well when all of a sudden she stopped to think. "What," she called to her family, "is that green stuff that grows up straight?" "Evergreen trees," some one replied. "Oh, no," said the woman; "I mean something to eat."

"Onions," was the reply. "No," she said, "not onions."

"Lettuce," "beans," "peas," and so on, were all called out by the family, all anxious to supply the missing word.

"None of them is right," said the woman. Then she tried a new tack.

"What is it," she said, "they serve on toast?"

"Poached eggs," said one member of the family.

"Jam," said another.

Then the woman got up, tore her letter into pieces and put the thing off till later on.

Three days later she was in a grocery store and saw something marked "15 cents a bunch" that sent her running all the way home.

"It was asparagus!" she cried. "I should think some of you might have known it was asparagus! Didn't I say it grew up straight and was served on toast?"

ABSURD FASHIONS.

Hairdressing and Hats in the Time of Marie Antoinette.

Some of the fashions in France during the reign of unfortunate Queen Marie Antoinette were exceedingly absurd, particularly hairdressing and hats, which were trimmed with such an extravagant wealth of feathers that the coaches had to have their seats lowered. According to Mme. Campan, "mothers and husbands murmured, and the general rumor was that the queen would ruin the French ladies."

One day Louis XVI. decided to forbid the court in a body to follow the royal hunt in coaches. In order to be free he wished only to permit real sportsmen to attend. The noble ladies immediately rebelled, and the Princess of Monaco criticized the decision by means of her headpiece, upon which arose a miniature royal coach, followed by two gentlemen on foot in gaiters. On the left of this was displayed a cypress garlanded with black tapers, the large roots being formed of crapes.

More absurd still was the hairdressing of the mother of Louis Philippe, upon whose head every one could admire her son, the Duc de Beaujolais. In the arms of his nurse as well as a parrot pecking at a cherry.

Her Only Criticism.
Little Dorothy not only liked her tea and coffee to have the appearance of being "real and truly," but she also liked to taste the flavor of each. One afternoon her mother took her to a friend's home where tea was served at 5 o'clock.

The hostess gave to Dorothy what she usually gave to her own children. Dorothy's age, in the line of liquid refreshment—viz. hot water, sugar and milk. Dorothy tasted hers politely and ate her little cakes.

"Why, Dorothy, you aren't drinking your tea, dear. Isn't it sweet enough?" asked the hostess.

"Yes, Mrs. C. It's sweet enough," replied the child.

"Then why aren't you taking it?" "It's too dull," she replied.—New York Times.

Another Meaning.
A traveler to the north on the Great Northern railway, having delivered his luggage to the care of an alert railway porter, proceeded to make himself comfortable in the corner of a first class smoking compartment. The porter, having performed his duty, came to the carriage to report, not without expectation of acceptable reward.

"Well," said the passenger, "I see by the letters 'G. N. R.' on your cap, 'Gratuities never received.'"

"Not quite that, sir," replied the porter, touching his cap keen. "It might mean 'gratuities never refused.'" And the way that porter smiled when he left the carriage betokened his satisfaction at the material result of his smart answer and the service he had rendered.—London Mail.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Tough.
Hobo—Madam, you must misunderstand me. Dis here piece o' meat ain't what I ast for.
Lady—Didn't you beg for something to eat?
Hobo—Yes'm. Not for work.—Cleveland Leader.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

United Specialists
HERE SOON!
Their Third Visit.
Consultation Free!

Comes That Way.
A young minister who was naturally of a shy disposition was rather embarrassed at his first marriage ceremony and unwittingly reversed the usual order of the service, thus making the bridegroom promise to love and obey his blushing bride. The error passed unnoticed at the time, but shortly afterward it dawned upon the father of the bride that a mistake had occurred, and he said to the minister: "I believe, Mr. —, you have made John promise to love and obey my daughter. Ah, well," he added after a pause and with a sly look at his better half, "I suppose it won't matter much. It generally comes to that anyway."—Pearson's.

CHILDREN CRY
Frequently and for no apparent reason when they have worms.
WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE
Is the remedy needed. It destroys and removes worms, strengthens the stomach and restores healthy conditions. A few doses brings back rosy cheeks, vigor and cheerfulness. Price 25c per Bottle. Jas. F. Ballard, Prop., St. Louis, Mo. SOLD AND RECOMMENDED BY Ackerman - Stewart Drug Co., and J. H. Haughton.

What They Were For.
A row of shoehorns hanging on the pantry wall of the small restaurant provoked curiosity in the mind of the new waiter.
"What are they for?" he asked.
"You will find out at dinner time," said the man questioned.
At 9 o'clock that evening the new waiter made a quick dive into the pantry and snatched a shoehorn from the wall.
"Woman out there slipped her shoe off while eating and can't get it on again," he said.
"I told you you would soon find out what all those shoehorns are for," said the waiter of experience.—New York Sun.

An Easy Comparison.
Uncle Ethan was in a cautious frame of mind. "Which," somebody asked him, "do you think is the worst, a flood or a drought?"
Uncle Ethan scratched his head.
"It always depends," he replied. "I should say that a flood was a great deal worse, providing, of course, that there was a flood."—Yott's Companion.

Queer Way to Display a Trouseau.
An Arabian bride is arrayed in all her dresses, one over the other. She is perched on a high stool, so that they all hang down over it, and one by one they are taken off with much display and admiring comment from the guests. The last is, of course, the most beautiful. The bridegroom is hidden in some corner where he can see his future wife's dowry, which, however, he may not touch.

Tough.
Hobo—Madam, you must misunderstand me. Dis here piece o' meat ain't what I ast for.
Lady—Didn't you beg for something to eat?
Hobo—Yes'm. Not for work.—Cleveland Leader.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

Enticing.
"How is it that your hens are so prolific?" "I feed them on layer cake."—Lippincott's.

United Specialists
HERE SOON!
Their Third Visit.
Consultation Free!

We never use the Knife.
New Arlington Hotel,
PALATKA, FLA.
Friday and Saturday
Sept. 23-24.

The United Specialists treat Catarrh, Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat troubles, Bronchial and Lung diseases; Heart complications, Liver, Spleen, Stomach and Bowel troubles; Kidney and Bladder diseases; Rheumatism, Headache, Sciatica, and Lumbago; Skin and Blood diseases; Deformities; Spinal troubles, Club Feet, Rupture without cutting.

CANCER by most successful treatment known, and cures made in many cases given up as incurable.

If you are afflicted in any way they extend to you a cordial invitation to consult them free of charge, and find out your exact condition.

When you call you will be examined carefully and told your true condition free of charge.

Many are taking their Catarrh treatment and from all that can be heard the expression: "I am lots better; my head does not hurt now and I can breathe easily, and am positive I am going to be cured."

Many deaf patients have improved wonderfully. One well-known lady says: "I can hear plainly already after trying many times to be cured."

All their Bronchial and Lung cases are improving steadily and on sure road to recovery. They treat only the curable cases of Bronchial and Lung diseases.

Many sufferers of Liver, Stomach and Bowel complications have improved to such an extent that they can once more enjoy their meals and not suffer the results they were subject to before taking treatment.

All the Kidney and Bladder cases under treatment are well pleased and getting better daily.

The many sufferers from Blood and Skin diseases are positively being cured without the use of dangerous poisons.

Several cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia under the Specialists have improved so much that there is no longer any doubt as to their complete recovery.

One man who was crippled with rheumatism and was unable to walk without a cane now walks with ease, says he feels as well as he ever did. This case has attracted great attention from the patients who have been watching him.

Their treatment for Rectal troubles is giving universal satisfaction, and is a mild painless treatment, that cures positively all Piles, Fistula and Rectal troubles, if directions are followed carefully.

Many Ladies who have been suffering from Backaches, Headaches and Pains Inside are improving every day and many say their pains are all gone. Hardly a lady under treatment but who is advising her friends to take the United Specialist's treatment.

Men who have tried many doctors with no success are high in their former self.

Why Go Blind?

When we can cure you at your own home without the use of the knife, with absolutely no pain, no risk, no inconvenience. Our Absorption Method cures every disease of the eye from aатарак to simple inflammation Cross Eyes Straightened Without the Use of the Knife by a new method which has never failed. An unparalleled record of cures, hundreds of which have been effected after world famous oculists had pronounced the trouble beyond all medical aid, or had condemned the patient to an operation.

The Oliver Typewriter Co.
Chicago, Illinois.

APPLICATION BLANK
THE OLIVER TYPEWRITER CO., gentlemen—I accept your offer of the latest model No. 5 Oliver standard Typewriter for Seventeen Cents a Day. Enclosed please find $5 as evidence of good faith. I agree to save seventeen cents a day and remit the balance, $8, in monthly installments. This to remain in your name until the machine is fully paid for.

Name.....
Address.....
Town..... State.....
References.....

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

United Specialists,
125 Laura St.,
Jacksonville, Florida.

W. A. Merryday Co.

Dealers in

Crate Material of all Kinds.

Fruit and Vegetable Wraps.

Palatka, Florida.

Wm. TURNAGE,

Palatka's New Hardware Store.

Lemon St. Old Loeb Stand.

Call and see something new in a Range

The New Barrett.

Carpenter's Tools. Paints and Oils, Also a nice line of Crockery, Glassware, etc.

Putnam Pharmacy

PALATKA, FLORIDA.

Drugs, Chemicals, Druggist Sundries and Patents.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY COMPOUNDED.
FRESH GARDEN SEED
Agents: Mallory Steamship Line

How to Own The Oliver Typewriter for 17c a Day

You don't have to draw on your Bank Account when you pay on the Penny Plan.
You need not disturb your Dollars. Keep them at work earning interest!
We offer our newest model, the Oliver Typewriter No. 5—fresh from the factory—for Seventeen Cents a Day.
The plan is printed in "black and white" on the Application Blank below.
Simply fill out the blank, attach the small first payment, send it in, and on comes the Oliver!
No red tape! No red tape! No long-drawn-out correspondence! You quickly own your Oliver and scarcely notice the outlay. You can have the use of your machine while peniles are "paying the freight."
You will never have a better chance to test the power of pennies.

The G. Loper Bailey Co.

President, Secy. and Treas.

Fire Insurance:

Leading American and Foreign Companies

Life Insurance:

The Old Reliable "German Life" of New York

Marine Insurance:

The Leading Companies

All Claims Promptly Settled.

Office 115 Front St. Palatka, Fla.

For New and Up-to-Date Furniture and House Furnishing Goods at very low prices Go to

<