

Submarine F-4 Sunk Off Honolulu

American Under Sea Vessel Went To The Bottom During Naval Manoeuver Practice

THE ENTIRE CREW PERISHED

Heroic Efforts Made To Raise Craft Which Was Located In Fifty Fathoms Of Water

Honolulu, Hawaii.—The American submarine F-4 was lost off Honolulu harbor. Heroic efforts were made to raise the stricken craft, but after having been submerged for more than thirty hours it was regarded as doubtful whether any of her crew of twenty-one men remained alive.

To lift the little vessel to the surface, it was found necessary to send to the Pearl Harbor naval station for a derrick and crane. This involved much loss of time and it was thought the fate of the crew might not be determined until daylight.

Rescue vessels dragging the ocean bed with grappling hooks chanced upon the stricken craft at a depth of 300 feet. Making fast to the F-4, the naval tug Navajo and the steamer

Makaala began to tow their mid—they were not certain that it was the submarine they had hooked—toward shallow water. Quantities of oil came to the surface, proof that it really was the lost vessel. Soon afterward a submarine marker buoy, discovered far below the water, removed all doubt that the F-4 had been found.

For more than an hour the tug and the steamer struggled with their unwieldy burden. Soon afterwards it became apparent that it would be impossible to tow the submarine near enough to shore to bring her to the surface and a hurry call was sent to the naval station for a wrecking ship.

Naval authorities admitted they had given up hope for the F-4's crew; however, resuscitating apparatus had been despatched to the scene and every effort will be made to develop any spark of life that may remain. The general opinion is that the vessel's plates were sprung through the immense pressure of the water at a depth of 50 fathoms and that the two officers and nineteen enlisted men aboard have perished. Vessels in the vicinity equipped with submarine signal apparatus continued to send out signals, but no answers came.

Villa Suffers a Bloody Defeat

Will Renew Attack On Carranza As Soon As He Can Muster More Men And Arms

Brownsville, Texas.—Falling in their attempt to dislodge the Carranza garrison by rifle and machine gun fire, Villa forces besieging Matamoros virtually ceased their attacks, awaiting it was announced, the arrival of artillery.

In the event of an artillery duel, Brownsville, directly across the Rio Grande from Matamoros, would be endangered, and one of the gravest of border crises is feared. The likelihood of shells falling in Brownsville was demonstrated by the rifle bullets which dropped here during the first Villa assault on Matamoros trenches, a costly failure of Villa forces, in which their losses were officially given as 400 killed and 400 wounded. This attack was a headstrong dash of 2,000 mounted riflemen.

The Carranza losses were ten killed and forty-five wounded. Two persons were struck by bullets in Brownsville. Neither was seriously injured.

The coming Villa artillery must be powerful enough to cope with nine 3-inch field pieces of the defenders, none of which was fired. In addition, the Carranza troops are said to have four 3 1/2-inch guns.

Concealed machine guns won several brilliant successes for the Carranza forces in the opening fight. A troop of 250 Villa cavalry, circling five miles south of Brownsville, approached unwittingly at a town named Rositas, a machine gun trench hidden by brush.

They were trotting past this trench when the machine guns opened fire. Nearly the entire Villa dead were said to have fallen at this point, while almost to a man the others were wounded. This incident explains why so many of the Villa wounded who were brought here were hit in the left side.

If some men had their lives to live again they probably wouldn't leave so many dollars for their heirs to scrap over.

LOCATE SUBMARINE

Sunken Undersea Destroyer Found At Great Depth—First Discovery Proved To Be Anchor

Honolulu.—The submerged submarine F-4 has been located outside the harbor it is announced.

Portions of the superstructure have been brought to the surface. The dredge California will shift moorings, tugs will criss-cross in all directions and an attempt will be made to lift the submarine.

The submarine was located after search of three days had resulted only in unfulfilled hopes. Divers, who went down the two cables thought to have been attached to the submarine, found the heavy body was an old anchor, probably lost by the battleship Oregon.

Russians Moving On To Cracow

MUSCOVITE ARMY ENCOURAGED BY VICTORY AT PRZEMYSL, TAKES ON NEW LIFE

Petrograd Predicts Southern Neighbors Will Soon Be Suing For Peace

London.—The size of the garrison of Przemyśl and the number of men who surrendered to the Russians greatly exceed all estimates. According to Petrograd dispatches the garrison originally consisted of 170,000 men, of whom 40,000 were killed. Nearly 120,000 surrendered when the fortress capitulated.

A blizzard, which has interfered with the telegraphic service, prevents details of the surrender from coming through, but Lemberg reports that for seven days prior to the fall of the fortress the people of the town had nothing to eat and the Russians, who took in large supplies of provisions, were welcomed as liberators.

Dispatches from Lemberg also say that 15,000 persons were found suffering from typhus or cholera and that the work of disinfecting the place is being undertaken energetically. The interior forts, it is said, were found intact, with a good deal of ammunition in them.

To Begin Drive On Cracow

Everywhere in Europe, both in belligerent and neutral countries, the greatest credit is given the Austrians for their long and stubborn resistance, which has delayed and interfered with the Russian campaign in other directions.

Now that the Russians, whose numbers, like those of the Austrians, must have been greater than estimated, no longer are compelled to invest this fortress, a big movement either against Cracow or in the Carpathians doubtless will be started. With their northern lines protected by the morass into which the greater part of Poland is converted during the spring months, the Russians are expected to throw all their strength against the Austrians and attempt finally to crush them.

One British military critic stakes his reputation on the prophecy that Cracow will fall within a month and that when it does, or before, Austria will endeavor to conclude a separate peace.
