5 NEGROES HANGED ON ONE OAK TREE

Wholesale Lynching Occurs In Florida

TWO OF VICTIMS WOMEN

Negroes Accused of Aiding Alleged Murderer of Constable Wynne to Escape Taken From Jail at Newberry and Hanged.

Five negroes, three men and two women, were taken from the jail at Newberry, Fla., and hanged by a mob, and another negro was shot and killed by deputy sheriffs near Jonesville, Fla., as the result of the killing of Constable S. G. Wynne and the shooting of Dr. L. G. Harris by Wiley Long, a negro. The lynched negroes were accused of aiding Long to escape.

Dispatches from Newberry said that the mob, which lynched the five negroes, was composed of about 200 men and worked quietly and rapidly. After gaining entrance to the jail they took their victims to a point about a mile from town and hanged all on one large oak tree. Not a shot was fired, the dispatch said.

The negro shot near Jonesville also was said to have aided Long to escape.

Wynne and Dr. Harris were shot when they went to Long's home at Newberry to arrest him on a charge of stealing hogs. It is said Long drew a pistol from his night clothing and fired. Wynne was rushed to Jacksonville, where he died.

Several hundred negroes are employed in phosphate mines near Newberry. Long has been captured and placed in the jail at Gainesville.

AGED MAN SLAIN.

Mutilated Body of Floridian Found in River.

Indignation is rife in the section about Caryville, Fla., over the murder of P. H. Clemmons, whose mutilated body was found in the Choctawhatchee river.

Mr. Clemmons' body was discovered as the result of a search instituted by relatives and friends when he failed to return home within three days after leaving on a fishing trip, which usually took only one day. His boat was discovered overturned in a drift, and nearby the mutilated body was found. A bullet wound in the mouth, a crushed place in the skull and knife wounds across the back and stomach gave evidence that murder had been committed. When found the body was clothed in only a rough fishing shirt.

The murdered man was an aged and respected citizen of West Florida. He is said to have had a large sum of money on his person when he left home, and robbery is believed to have been the motive for the crime.

Reports Favor Tick Eradicatic

A grade cow raised in Florida under tick-free conditions, showing large udder capacity. At time photograph was taken in June this cow was producing 21 quarts of milk a day. Are you keeping cows to feed the ticks or to produce large quantities of milk?

Eradication of cattle ticks is a paying proposition, according to the verdict of farmers who have had experience.

Some time ago the Bureau of Animal Industry sent out the question, "What is the probable per cent of increase in milk production of dairy cows due to the absence of ticks?" to numerous stockmen and farmers in eleven states where tick eradication work had made some progress.

More than 1,000 replies were received, from which the following summary was made: "The owners of dairy cows in the region cleared of ticks are evidently well satisfied with the results of the work, since 95 per cent. of the replies admit there was an increase, usually very substantial, in the yield of milk.

"The lowest estimates are from Alabama and Georgia, these two states averaging 15 per cent. increase in each, while the highest average, 25 per cent. increase, is from North Carolina, closely followed, however, by 24 per cent. each in Mississippi and Oklahoma. The average for the 11 states is 23 per cent., or a gain of nearly one-fourth in the total yield.

"It is easy to see what a great advantage this would be if it could be applied to all of the ticky cows in the South. The additional milk would in the aggregate be worth many millions of dollars."

This report is based on results from the grade dairy cows which predominated in those states at that time.

Increased Milk Production.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 639 contains the following authenticated report: "The experience of a dairyman in the heart of the tick-infested territory also strikingly illustrates how much it costs dairymen to have ticks on cattle.

"Late in the season, when his cows were covered with ticks, the cattle were dipped and the ticks killed. One week after dipping, the 42 cows in his herd gave 10 gallons of milk more per day than before dipping."

At the average wholesale price in Florida, of 30 cents a gallon, that farmer increased his income $3 a day, or about $90 a month as a result of tick eradication. His monthly income would have been increased more than that amount if he had prevented the cows from becoming tick-infested at all, as they could not increase their milk flow in the same proportion that ticks had reduced it before they were killed.

Tick eradication makes possible the importation of better cattle from above the quarantine line, especially of pure bred bulls, to breed up the stock from the cows we now own in the state.

Florida Average Lowest.

The last Government census gave the average milk production of Florida dairy cows as only 108 gallons per year, which is the lowest in the United States. At that time no tick eradication work had been started in Florida.

The American Jersey Cattle Club reports that there are not any Jersey cows in Florida entered in any of their milk or butter fat tests for register of merit and the Holstein-Friesian Association of America reports that they have no representatives of their breed in Florida trying for advanced registry.

Tick-infested cows cannot feed the cattle ticks and make high milk yields. There is a great opportunity in Florida for the small farmer to handle a few tick-free dairy cows. They will consume his forage and soiling crops, giving him a weekly income from milk or cream.

There is more tick eradication work being done in Florida this year than a total of all previous work. Is this community going to get rid of ticks, or continue to feed them at a cost of several hundred dollars a year?
