NEEDS OF THE STATE TROOPS

In a recent interview with the Gainesville Sun, General Foster said:

"The Florida State Troops are in excellent condition so far as I have inspected them and it is really surprising that they are in such good shape, when it is taken into consideration that they are receiving little or no encouragement from the State."

He was asked what legislation would be suggested at the next session of the Legislature in reference to the Florida soldiers, and he replied:

"That will depend entirely upon a meeting to be held some time in March. The Dick bill has already passed the lower house of Congress and will become a law soon after Congress meets again. I am confident that it will be passed without opposition in the Senate. This bill provides for maintaining the National Guard throughout the United States. When this bill passes it will be necessary for the State of Florida to enact a law which will take advantage of its provisions. The meeting of the officers of the Florida State Troops will take place and a branch of the National Guards' Association will be formed. This meeting will suggest the action desired at the next session of the Legislature. I believe the next Legislature will be more liberal with the State Troops than former sessions."

FLORIDA'S CLIMATE.

The last thing to mention about Florida, but one of the very greatest importance, is its letters—for all the climates to be found anywhere, and it has more of it to the square inch than all the other states in the Union put together, California included. Although this has been suspected for a long time, and pioneers to this state had claimed it years ago, it has been only inside of the past ten years that it has been believed that great has been the belief and greater still the crowd of tourists who have poured into this state to be benefited by its climate. The number of people coming in every winter has been so great and has increased from year to year that it has been almost impossible to furnish accommodations for them in spite of the fact that more buildings have been erected and old ones enlarged every year, and the end is not yet, nor will it be long as the climate remains as it is but what it can hardly be described; it can only be felt. Florida has more capital in its climate than the combined wealth of the Astors, Vanderbilts, Rockefellers, Goulds and J. Pierpont Morgan put together, and the climate is free—Correspondent Denison (Texas) Gazette.

PROFIT IN POTATOES.

In the raising of Irish potatoes Florida can more than hold her own with any State in the Union. They reach market just ahead of the Bermuda crop, and in every way are superior, and in consequence command a better price, even when brought into competition. The Year Book of the Agricultural Department for 1900 gives Irish potatoes first place, saying, in substance: "Florida stands high in the first for average yield that of 1900 being 60 bushels per acre, at a value of $63.60 per acre, or $1.06 per bushel. On taking the average yield and farm price for ten years, from 1891 to and including 1900, Florida stands first, her average price being $1.01 per bushel, average yield, 71.4 bushels per acre; the average value $71.86. South Carolina next, with an average yield per acre of 68.7 bushels, sold at 86.9 cents per bushel and a farm value per acre of $59.49. The average yield per acre for ten years for New York, the largest potato producing State in the Union, is as follows: Yield 81.2 bushels per acre; price 45.3 cents per bushel; farm value, $34.81 per acre."

PROTECT THE BIRDS AND TOADS

EDITOR GAZETTE-NEWS:
I have a Downing ever-bearing mulberry tree on which the birds have been feasting for the last two and a half months. Noticing lately the blackbirds, mocking-birds, grosbeaks and other insect-eating birds flocking on my pasture in large numbers, I made an investigation and found large numbers of the leaf-folding worms on my Florida clover, weeds and grass, on which the birds were feasting. I also noticed a number of toads, as fat as pigs, attending to the same duty of clearing the plants of these worms.
It is impossible to conceive the amount of good these birds and toads do in the course of the season in ridding our yards of noxious insects and worms, and they should be fully protected and encouraged.
An Audubon Society would do much towards giving information, and encouraging this work. Our city ordinance has done much to encourage the stay of the birds in the city limits. Let us plant mulberries to encourage the birds to stay with us longer so they will be here when needed. E. N. W.

A Hospitable Heathen.
It was high noon and Monday. Worse yet, it was the thirteenth day of the month. A knock was heard at the kitchen door of the Burns mansion. The Chinese servant opened the door. A tramp of long and varied experience accosted him:
"I've been traveling and have played in mighty hard luck," observed the tramp. "I lost all of my money, and now I'm hungry—very, very hungry. Can't you please give me a little bit of something to eat?"
The Chinaman comprehended the situation at once. A benevolent, placid smile spread itself over his entire countenance.
"You like fish?" he asked of the tramp.
"Yes, I like fish first rate. That will do as well as anything."
"Come Priday," said the hospitable heathen.—New York Times.

Born and Died the Same Day.
"Born and died on the same day" is true of the following conspicuous men: Shakespeare was born April 23, 1564, and died April 23, 1616. Raphael Segio d'Urbino, the great artist, was born on Good Friday, 1483, and died on Good Friday, 1520, aged thirty-seven. Good Friday is a movable feast, so the day of the month may not have been the same. Sir Thomas Browne, author of "Religio Medici," was born Oct. 19, 1605, and died Oct. 19, 1682. Timothy Swan, composer, was born July 23, 1758, and died July 23, 1812. St. John of God, one of the most eminent of Portuguese saints, was born March 8, 1495, and died March 8, 1550. John Sobieski, king of Poland, who delivered Vienna from the Turks, was born June 17, 1629, and died June 17, 1696.

A "Tragedy."
A Missouri paper gives an account of an amusing little "tragedy" which it claims occurred in its town. A man and his wife were riding home on a street car. He was reading his paper, when another lady got on. The car was crowded, and without glancing up he arose and gave her his seat, receiving a gracious smile in payment. The man's wife immediately got up, gave the bellhop a hard jerk and invited her husband to get off. When he looked around to learn the cause of her anger, he discovered that the woman to whom he had given his seat was his first wife, whom he had divorced two years before. They walked the rest of the way home, and he is still explaining.

The Dinner Table.
The woman from New England buys a "tablecloth," while her sister from the south buys a "tablecloth." The woman from Nova Scotia orders the servant to "lay the table," while with most of us natives of the United States the command is to "set the table." In the country the hostess says to her guests, "Sit by," when it is time to eat; in town it is "Please sit down." In the city among the swells there is no further invitation than the announcement of the servant that "Dinner is served."—Exchange.

Effect of Fruit on the Stomach.
The mastic acid of ripe apples, either raw or cooked, will neutralize any excess of chalybeate matter engendered by eating too much meat. It is also the fact that such fresh fruits as the apple, the pear and the plum, when taken ripe and without sugar, diminish acidity in the stomach rather than provoke it. Their vegetable juices and acids are converted into alkaline carbonates, which tend to counteract acidity.

MARRIAGES WITHOUT MONEY.

The poet and divine, John Donne, who became dean of St. Paul's in 1621, married a daughter of Sir George Moore without the consent of her parents. He was told by his father-in-law that he was not to expect any money from him. The bridegroom went home and wrote this witty note: "John Donne, Anne Donne, undone," which he sent to the angry father, and this had the effect of restoring them to favor. They were very poor at first, but things soon got brighter, and they lived most happily together.
Sir Joshua Reynolds after Flaxman had married told him that this would ruin him as an artist. When the husband related this to his wife, she resolved that marriage should make and not mar her husband and to this end further resolved that he should study at Rome and do everything that he might have done without matrimonial responsibilities. "But how?" asked Flaxman. "Work and economize," rejoined the brave woman. So well did they do this that he found that "wedlock is for an artist's good, rather than his harm," and they both discovered that they were made for each other.

Good Cooks.
"If all sick people had good cooks," says the London Hospital, "how much greater might be the proportions of recoveries!" The value of the patent foods which are advertised so much lies largely, it says, in the ease with which they are prepared for the table.

A Natural Question.
Little Walter was eating lunch, when he gave his arm a sudden shove, and splash! down went his glass of milk.
"I knew you were going to spill that!" said mamma angrily.
"Well, if you knew," queried Walter, "why didn't you tell me?"

Solving the Problem.
"What can I do for my little boy," asked mamma, "so that he won't want to eat between meals?"
"Have the meals ficker together," replied the young hopeful.

Jewett—Sort of overslept yourself, eh?

DEVoured BY WORMS.
Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from indigestion; their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at J. M. Jones.

Joseph Westhafer, of Logansport, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. MALARIA AND YELLOW JACK

(From N. Y. Herald, January 14, 1902.)
"The widow of Dr. Lazear, who, in the employ of the Government, went to Cuba, was inoculated with Yellow Fever through mosquito bites, and died, applied to Congress for relief to-day."
The above tells of the sad culmination of a series of experiments by the Government, all of which proved conclusively that the familiar mosquito is a dangerous vehicle for carrying Malaria, "Yellow Jack," and other malarial fevers.

Those who are exposed to mosquito or other malarial influences should take warning. Iron is the fighting element in the blood and provides nature with sufficient resistance to ward off disease. But if the blood is impure or impoverished, or if there is weakness, it means that the fighting qualities of the blood have been lowered, and consequently there is danger. If you would escape, keep the blood pure and properly nourished with

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic

It supplies the blood with iron in a natural way. It is recognized everywhere as the best blood purifier and tonic in use, and it has been used for half a century.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 1, 1901.
"I have used Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic myself and in my family for over twenty-five years, and can heartily recommend it. I regard it as particularly valuable to ward off malarial and other fevers."

Truth.
Truth is always consistent with itself and needs nothing to help it out. It is always near at hand, sits upon our lips and is ready to drop out before we are aware. A lie is troublesome and sets a man's invention upon the rack, and one trick ends a great many more to make it good.

A COMMUNICATION.
MR. EDITOR—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

An Earnest Salutation.
"Ah," said Biggs as a prosperous looking man who had cordially saluted Diggs passed on, "that's the way I like to hear a man speak. He seemed sincerely glad to find you alive and well."
"Yes," replied Diggs. "He probably was. He's the president of the company my life's insured in."—Brooklyn Life.

Knights of Old.
The knights of the days of chivalry were so well protected by their armor that they were practically invulnerable to ordinary weapons. Even when dismounted they could not be injured save by the misericordia, a thin dagger, which penetrated the chains of the armor. In more than one battle knights fallen from their horses could not be killed until their armor had been broken up with axes and hammers.
