Be sure and go to Barnes' for Christmas candies, nuts, figs, dates, raisins and fruits.

Thanks to Mr. Fielder for the following figures relative to the entertainment fund: The amount realized from the sale of tickets was $133.10; the expenses were $37.70, leaving a net balance of $95.40; which will be equally divided between the public library and the school library.

Get Anderson, the candy and confection man, at Mills' Cafe, to make your Christmas candies. Twenty-five years' experience; will supply any quantity.

A party of fourteen hailing from Benton Harbor, Mich., came in Wednesday for the season. Some of them have been here before, others are being initiated into the delights of Daytona. The roster of the party is: W. S. Howard, wife and daughter, Arthur Phelps and wife, Hal Benthrow, wife and daughter, Mr. Benthrow, Sr.; Richard Burke and Charlie Smooth.

Have you called yet at MacKenzie's? Then do. Choice line of fruits, confections, toy books, dolls, stationery and Xmas goods; also delightful homemade preserves, jellies, marmalade, etc.

The Gazette-News acknowledges a pleasant call Wednesday from C. W. Henderson, of the firm of Henderson & O'Hannon, engineers and machinists, and proprietors electric light plant, Flemingsburg, Ky., a flourishing blue-grass city. Mr. Henderson has been touring Florida somewhat and acknowledges that Daytona is the prettiest place he has seen, prettiest he ever saw, in fact. Mr. Henderson will please call attention of his local fishing club, including Editor Duley, to the work of our local disciples of Sir Izak Walton, as reported in the Gazette-News.

Adolph M. Jneble, the expert pianist is in town for a short time to give tone and sweetness to such instruments as need attention. Drop him a note or call on him at the Stanley House.

The following item is from the Post, Houston, Texas: "The opera house was well filled last night with an appreciative audience to witness the favorite comedian, John Thompson, in his original vaudeville entertainment 'Around the World in 80 Minutes.' Mr. Thompson is a great favorite here and is always sure of a hearty welcome. To those who never saw him before he is a genuine surprise. Mr. Thompson is a type of comedian who stands in a class by himself. He is too versatile to have any imitators. He can produce more fun to the square inch than any comedian we have ever seen." "Around the World in 80 Minutes" will appear at the Daytona opera house Dec. 29 and 30.

Try our Royal Smoke 5 cent cigar; made in Daytona, Fla.

W. T. LINDSEY & Co.

Mens' rubber boots at the Globe.

Mills has just issued a lot of very tasty bills of fare; these "quick lunches" will go better now.

The Globe is the only place to buy men's and boys' clothing.

Capt. Roy McFadden has returned from a six weeks' stay in the Bahamas. He brought back three tons of sea shells.

At J. A. Hendricks' you will find a nice assortment of useful and ornamental Christmas presents for the whole family. Call early and avoid the rush.

The Gazette-News has the neatest display of hotel cards found in the State, and as our paper is on file at the best hotels in Jacksonville, St. Augustine and in the Carolinas, it ought to be worth something to our advertisers. "Get in the swim," those of you who are not with us.

You cannot buy a better present for the lady than a pair of Queen Quality Shoes. They are stylish, serviceable and fit like a glove, and are the best value that can be had for the money anywhere. J. A. HENDRICKS.

Daytona has had as guests this week three prominent gentlemen from the Keystone State. Messrs. Geo. and Sam'l Freas and Thomas Summerfield. The gentlemen are cruising leisurely down our inland waters taking in the sights and incidentally bagging a few ducks and landing a few fish.

Gentlemen, buy yourselves a pair of Selz shoes for Christmas and "make your feet glad." We have customers who wait until they get back from the north in order to buy this famous shoe of us, and who may say there are none better. J. A. HENDRICKS.

Eugene Berrien and Willis Sawyer, of Portchester, N. Y., Long Island Sound, are anchored in the Halifax, close by Yacht Club House. They are in a cabin cruising launch and will go to the limit of our inland waters—Bay Biscayne. Daytona extends a cordial welcome to them and to their handsome traveling companion, the Estella, and hopes they may drop anchor again on their way back to the Quaker City.

Comforts and blankets at prices that cannot be equalled anywhere. J. A. HENDRICKS.

In a note from S. Earl Bifer, Findlay, Ohio, one of the finest photographers in our country, he says: "We are having a genuine snowstorm today, (Dec. 4), and it is cold and disagreeable. I suppose you are having nice summer weather down there." Yes, no frost yet, yards full of flowers, orange trees, Japanese persimmon and loquat trees hanging full of golden fruit, and great catches of fish being made every day.

We have better values than ever in handkerchiefs, and for beauty they cannot be equalled. Nothing makes a more appreciated present than a dozen of these nice linen ones you will find at J. A. Hendricks'.

"No. 1" the globe trotter is still in town and attracts much attention as he sits carving grotesque faces on Irish potatoes. He treats his fingers with a liquid of his own invention which preserves them indefinitely. He carved for the Gazette-News three faces on a potato representing a Negro, an Irishman and an Indian. He calls Daytona his Southern headquarters because it is the most charming place in all the Southland. Next winter he proposes to put in on the borders of the Gulf in Texas.

Call and see our purses, chatelaine and wrist bags, manicure sets, toilet sets, neckwear, handkerchiefs, table linen, fascinators, umbrellas, gloves, shoes, boys' suits, pillow tops and everything else you want. We have a large assortment of these articles for Christmas, and invite you to call and examine them. J. A. HENDRICKS.

A drummer asked Chris Gougherty, Conrad's head man, a few days ago if he could send him a shipment of Irish potatoes. "No," said Chris. "We have just got in 60 sacks." After the drummer went out a fellow spoke up, "Chris, what did you lie to that drummer for? You wouldn't sell 60 sacks all winter." The truth is the 60 sacks are gone and another big order out, and the season fairly started. Howard & Morrison, Rush and Peck & Foster to hear from. We are no small potatoes.

Mrs. Snickel Fritz and Miss Snickel Fritz hunted all over town for Christmas presents for Mr. Snickel Fritz and young Seneca Xenophon Snickel Fritz and were not fit to get out until they dropped in at F. T. Peck's. There they got a beautiful soft rug, some fancy baskets, some quite noble vases, some choice china novelties, silk umbrellas with steel rods, paragon frames and exquisite handles; the very loveliest dress patterns and ditto trimmings, some pictures and frames, novel and new purses and handbags, toilet articles, a jewel of a jacket, the latest dress skirt and numerous other things; toys, dolls, etc., for the young Snickel Fritz. Peck keeps the best, none but staple goods, and leaves you the biggest part of your wallet when you buy.

Dr. Taylor, dentist, Peck Block.

The Daytona liquor cases are postponed till the 29th.

Orange dishes, fruit baskets and sewing baskets at Moore Bros.

A young negro sneaked into the kitchen of Mrs. E. K. Pratt, who resides in one of the Stewart cottages on Beach street, and was scattering the contents of a basket left on the kitchen table by Mrs. Austin. Mrs. Pratt heard the noise and thinking him a cat went in when the negro rushed out and made his escape, securing Mrs. Austin's pocket book.

Star brand shoes, the $3.50 to $5.00 ones will make an appreciated Christmas present, at Smith & Son.

Col. C. H. Jones, who is representing the United States at an Italian consulate, accompanied by Mrs. Jones, is now speeding homeward as fast as ocean greyhounds and flying express trains can carry them. He has secured a suite of rooms at the Despland and while visiting relatives and friends in Daytona will make that hostelry his headquarters. On Christmas day he will entertain at dinner his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome D. Maley, and his brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones.

A pair of scissors, shears or pocket knife of the "Griffin" brand will make a glad heart Christmas morn. We warrant them. Smith & Son.

NEW SCHEDULE.

A new schedule on the F. E. C. Ry., to become effective Dec. 25, is as follows at Daytona:

No. 32—5:22 a. m., northbound.
No. 78—3:44 p. m., northbound mail.
No. 39—8:30 p. m., southbound.
No. 29—1:22 p. m., southbound mail.

This arrangement will make the south mail earlier by 30 minutes and the north mail later by 28 minutes.

On January 5 another change in schedule will be made to meet the increased demand for more trains.

The Titusville and New Smyrna branch trains resume their old schedules on Christmas day, allowing connections north.

Turkeys, Ducks and Geese and various other meats fresh and nice for the Christmas trade at J. L. Odum's, North Beach street.

SUBSCRIPTION GROWING.

The subscription started by the H. R. Y. C. for the digging of a canal from the shore between Conrad's dock and the Club House grows apace. It has now run up almost to $100.

T. Grotjan Ronald, writing from his place at Lotus, Merritt's Island, to Commodore Burgoyne making an enclosure to help along the canal project says: "If everyone interested will send as much in proportion to what he is worth you can dig a channel 100 feet wide, 50 feet deep and two miles long. He adds that it ought to be staked on both sides. Some of the larger contributions recently added to the canal fund are:

AN OLD FAVORITE

MARCO BOZZARIS
By Fitz-Greene Halleck

A BRIGHT star in the literary firmament of America is Fitz-Greene Halleck, of whose writings it has been said that "brilliance of thought, quaintness of fancy and polished energy of diction have given them a rank in American literature from which they will not soon be displaced, even by the many admirable productions of a later date." Halleck was born in Guilford, Conn., in 1790 and died there in 1857. The story of his friendship for Joseph Rodman Drake, another poet, is well known.

At midnight, in his guarded tent,
The Turk was dreaming of his hour
When Greece, her knee in suppliance bent,
Should tremble at his power.

In dreams, through camp and court, he bore
The trophies of a conqueror;
In dreams his song of triumph heard:
Then wore his monarch's signet-ring,
Then pressed that monarch's throne—a king;
As wild his thoughts, and gay of wing,
As Eden's garden bird.

At midnight, in the forest shades,
Bozzaris ranged his Sulistie band—
True as the steel of their tried blades,
Heroes in heart and hand,
There had the Persians' thousands stood,
There had the glad earth drunk their blood,
On old Plataea's day;
And now there breathed that haunted air
The sons of sires who conquered there,
With arm to strike, and soul to dare,
As quick, as far, as they.

An hour passed on, the Turk awoke:
That bright dream was his last;
He woke—to hear his sentries shriek,
"To arms! they come! the Greek! the Greek!"
He woke—to die midst flame, and smoke,
And shout, and groan, and sabel-stroke,
And death-shots falling thick and fast
As lightnings from the mountain-cloud;
And heard, with voice as trumpet loud,
Bozzaris cheer his band:
"Strike—till the last armed foe expires;
Strike—for your altars and your fires;
Strike—for the green graves of your sires,
God, and your native land!"

They fought—like brave men, long and well;
They piled that ground with Moslem slain;
They conquered—but Bozzaris fell,
Bleeding at every vein.
His few surviving comrades saw
His smile when rang their proud hurrah,
And the red field was won;
Then saw in death his eyelids close,
Calmly, as to a night's repose,
Like flowers at set of sun.

Come to the bridal chamber, Death,
Come to the mother, when she feels,
For the first time, her first-born's breath;
Come when the blessed seals
That close the pestilence are broke,
And crowded cities wait its stroke;
Come in consumption's ghastly form,
The earthquake shock, the ocean storm;
Come when the heart beats high and warm,
With banquet song and dance and wine,
And thou art terrible; the tear,
The groan, the knell, the pall, the bier,
And all we know, or dream, or fear
Of agony, are thine.

But to the hero, when his sword
Has won the battle for the free,
Thy voice sounds like a prophet's word,
And in its hollow tones are heard
The thanks of millions yet to be.

Bozzaris! with the storied brave
Greece nurtured in her glory's time,
Rest thee; there is no prouder grave,
Even in her own proud clime.
She tells thy doom without a sigh:
For thou art freedom's now, and fame's—
One of the few, the immortal names
That were not born to die.
