The Townsend House one block northwest of the Market House is open for boarders. Hotel fare at half their price. Parties wanting a good place to board would do well to give it a trial.

S. D. HIGHTOWER, Proprietor.

No trash at Yaeger's. Everything in his stock is useful and worth more than the price charged. When you go to select a Christmas present call at his store and examine his immense stock. Something to please everybody can be found there.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church are giving their annual Christmas bazaar at the armory today. There is a splendid display of fancy work suitable for Christmas presents, and the affair promises to be a success. Lunch, dinner and supper, consisting of turkey, cakes, cream and other delicacies, will be served.

Trast, the three-year-old son of W. T. Bryan, bookbinder at the Tallahasseean office, met with a very painful accident Tuesday afternoon. An older brother was chopping on a board with a hatchet, when the little fellow got his left hand in the way. The middle finger was almost completely amputated, being cut clear through the bone. Dr. Moor dressed the wound and has some hopes of saving the finger.

Van Vranken's dog and pony show gave one exhibition in Tallahassee Wednesday night. The aggregation was not large, but the feature of the show, Forrest Tempest, is the most intelligent and best trained horse ever seen in this city. In fact, Forrest Tempest was the whole show, although they had some trained dogs, a pony, and Whirlwind, the trick mule, to fill in with, and they did pretty well.

C. H. Cox, for many years foreman of the World, will leave this morning for Tallahassee, Fla., where he will accept a position. Mr. Cox is one of the best-known young men in the city and carries with him the universal good wishes of his friends.—Roanoke (Va.) Times.

Mr. R. L. Collins, the druggist, who has been quite sick the past three weeks, is able to be up again.

Mr. B. F. Willis, deputy clerk in the supreme court room, has accepted a position as stenographer for Judge Raney.

Mr. B. B. Witt, a popular tobacco drummer, known throughout this section as "Penn's No. 1," and in other States generally called "Gold Crums," has been here the past week, calling on our merchants and making new friends.

An infant daughter of Mrs. Annie Bloodworth died Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock, from la grippe. Remains were buried Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, in the City Cemetery. Undertaker Rozear had charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Mary Byrd Dallas died a few days ago in Washington. She was a sister of the wife of Prince Murat, whose career in Tallahassee will be recalled by many Tallahasseean readers. The Murat place, two miles from town to the west, and the Murat grave in our Episcopal cemetery are still places of great interest to visitors, though both have been sadly neglected for many years.

As vaccination prevents smallpox, and quinine chills and fever, so TEETHINA prevents and counteracts the effects of the summer's heat, much dreaded by mothers with small children. TEETHINA relieves the many troubles incident to teething and the hot summers, and no mother is excusable for not giving it, for it costs only 25 cents at druggists; or mail 25 cents to C. J. Moffett, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Geddie Ridgewell, who has been working at Woodville for some time with Mr. William Rhodes, a turpentine operator, died Wednesday night from pneumonia. Undertaken Rozear sent a coffin to Woodville and took charge of the body, which was shipped last night to Hartford, Ala., for burial. Deceased was 23 years old, and was engaged to be married to a popular young lady at Woodville. The marriage would have been solemnized next week.

The business man keeps an accurate account of his business. By studying his books he can tell in what lines it will be profitable to enlarge his business. The business man knows what he is doing. With the farmer there is a good deal of guesswork. By keeping books the farmer would know exactly the source of his income and how it was used. Whether his crops and stock were profitable or a loss. It is not enough these days that a man be a good farmer, he must also be a business man. Think about it now that the evenings are growing longer.

TOURING THE SOUTH.

A letter from Prof. Chas. A. Rice, dated Asheville, N. C., Dec. 1st, says: "The Rice Concert Company," composed of Josie, Pauline and Edmund Rice, with the professor as manager, is starting out on a concert tour of the South and Cuba. They are booked for this city Tuesday night, Dec. 17th.

Tallahasseeans will recall Professor Rice and his three interesting tots, who even when they left here were considered musical prodigies.

Regarding their concert the Gainesville, Ga., Eagle says: "The concert last night at Hunt's Opera House by Prof. Chas. A. Rice and his three little children, Edmund, Pauline and Josie, was witnessed by an appreciative audience of music lovers. These little violinists are six, eight and ten years of age, but it is not their infantile years that gives attractiveness to their performance, for their playing is of a high order.

"The children are what may be termed musical prodigies, rendering the difficult music with a skill and correctness that would have done credit to adults of long training. It is seldom, if ever, that such fine music has been rendered in Gainesville, and never was a cultured audience so delighted with a concert of like character."

NEWS AT WOODVILLE.

Woodville, Dec. 5.—There is not much going on down here this week. Everybody is lively and enjoying life, with not much to do. Saturday was quite lively. There was a good many people here. Some came to mill, some to get their mail, and others came to be in company and to pass away the time. All was quiet and peaceable.

Mr. Wilson, of the Chicago Portrait Company, was down here this week taking orders for enlarging pictures. He got several orders while here.

Rev. J. L. Yeats, J. L. Robinson, J. T. Strickland returned from the coast Friday. They report a fine time and had plenty fish, oysters and game.

Mr. Josh Crosby and Mr. George Hinton left yesterday for a trip to the coast.

We had a nice shower of rain last night, which was needed very much.

THE IGNORANT WOMAN'S VOTE.

Women's suffrage prevails in Colorado, and the Denver Republican, discussing the matter, says that the percentage of illiterate female voters in States where woman suffrage prevails is ridiculously small as compared with the reported percentage of illiterate male voters. It would require arduous search on the part of enumerators in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho to discover a large enough percentage of illiterate women voters to cut much figure in the census returns. In fact the demand of the women of these States has always been for the severest educational tests, showing that the sex is willing to accept the franchise only on the highest plane.
