

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY,
Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

The City of Roses

By ANNE McQUEEN.

Serene upon her hills she sits and smiles through a tangle of roses. Everywhere they bloom in the sweet April weather as if Spring had emptied her season's store! All varieties and all colors—crimson Reines, golden Neils, rosy Duchesses and snowy, lemon-scented Lamarques, queen of white roses, climbing over porches and walls and ancient pear trees, mingling its snowy profusion with the cream and yellow and crimson of its sister climbers, till together they form a great bouquet of splendid and glorious colors.

Here stands a cottage, bowered in the flaming beauty of the royal sunset, fit name for the "Beauty of Glazenwood." Yonder a tall, columned mansion curtained on the south with a yellow drapery of Bankias, on the north with a snowy cloud of the same dainty lady-roses.

Come and gaze down this steep street, whose rain-washed earth is beautiful in soft tints of cream, and orange and red, with the gnarled arms of great oaks embracing overhead, youthful in their spring greens, and drapery of silver moss; only cottage homes border this street, but each humble door-yard is beautiful as a queen's garden, with its riot of glorious blossoms—magnificent with roses!

Earlier in the year, when the March sun and wind breathed life into the sleeping roots, in the woods that border the little city there was splendor of early blooming flowers, violets purpling the red clefts of the steep banks; jasmine blazoning with cloth-of-gold each shrub and thicket; dogwood gleaming star-like through the dusty reaches, with the pale pink of the wild azaleas and the rosy glory of the crab-apples. Now these have vanished in the plentitude of green foliage, and in their stead reigns undisputed the queen of the woods—the Cherokee rose. Mantling with charity of white blossoms each unsightly hedge and ditch of the wayside, clothing stark trees with beauty, and converting prosaic fences into splendid snow banks, they run everywhere in unhindered loveliness.

Thus, clothed in a mantle of beauty fairer than a monarch's robe, she sits among her hills, and listens to the songs of a thousand birds in her green trees, and, looking out upon her gardens and hedges and highways, all radiant in royal bloom, Tallahassee has considered, and chosen for herself a name which is fitting: "The City of Roses!"
