IMPERIAL VALLEY PROBLEM HORSE SENSE IS NEEDED

The following telegram was sent this afternoon:
Yuma, Ariz., July 21, 1916.
Secretary of War,
U. S. Reclamation Commission,
Arizona Delegation, Washington, D. C.
Threatened pile dam across Colorado river, for which Imperial Irrigation District is seeking permit from War Department, will if constructed constitute constant menace to ten million dollar government irrigation project, imperil rich Yuma Valley and greatly endanger the city of Yuma. Gen. Marshall is familiar with situation, and can confirm this statement. We vigorously protest against the imperilling of our town, rich farms and magnificent project by the giving of a permit for pile or rock dam, and urge prompt denial of Imperial Irrigation District's outrageous application. Please get busy for us.
Yuma County Users' Association, by J. M. Thacker, President.

Yuma Commercial Club, by A. B. Ming, President.
Yuma City Council, by J. E. Hightower, Acting Mayor.
Yuma County Board of Supervisors, by J. A. Donovan, Chairman.
(By B. F. FLY)
Project Manager Lawson and Division Counsel Dent of El Paso, left Yuma Wednesday night for Los Angeles where they will appear before District Judge Bledsoe of the U. S. Court, and ask for an injunction against the Imperial Valley Irrigation Company, to prevent that corporation from constructing its proposed "pile dam" across the Colorado just below Hanlon heading. In this fight they will be joined by U. S. Attorney Schoonover on behalf of the War Department. Nothing will be left undone to prevent the Imperial Valley company from perpetrating this outrage.
The permit issued by the War Department.

STATE NEWS OF INTEREST TO YUMA VALLEY FARMERS

The first regular extension, or movable, schools conducted by the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Arizona were held under the direction of the County Farm Advisors at Wilcox, Cochise county, June 8 to 10; at Snowflake, Navajo county, June 15 to 17; and at Eagar, Apache county, June 19 to 21. Local arrangements for these schools were in charge of the local or county farm improvement associations and all local expenses connected with the schools were sold, the proceeds from which defrayed the local expenses. While the attendance was not large in any case, the interest was intense and it was generally agreed that the next extension schools would be more largely attended and the farmers voted them a great success. In each case the school lasted three days and a faculty of five farm specialists gave practical, systematic instruction on farming matters. The principal purpose of the instruction given is to drive home the details of the plans of agricultural development which are being adopted by the county farm improvement associations, where there is a farm advisor.

home demonstration agent, and L. O. La Tourrette, county club leader, both of Maricopa county. The U. S. Department of Agriculture offered to contribute $1,200 to the work of these two efficient workers for the next fiscal year, but there being no local funds available for this purpose it was found necessary to drop those who were carrying on demonstrations. It is hoped that the next legislature will provide sufficient funds so that work of this sort can be conducted in many parts of the State.

On account of lack of funds it has been necessary to discontinue the work of Mrs. Edith C. Salisbury,

I. S. Parke the State club leader, spent two weeks in Graham and Greenlee counties with Farm Advisor Ballantyne. Many members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs there were visited by them, and it is reported that some striking results with this work will be secured.

Farm Advisor Ballantyne of Graham and Greenlee counties reports that the four Greenlee County farm improvement associations have decided to affiliate with the Graham County Farm Improvement Association until such time as they are able to support a county organization of
