DR. A. E. DOUGLAS IS NOTED ASTRONOMER

With the announcement of the president of the University of Arizona that the university is to have one of the largest telescopes in the country calls to our attention the one who is to be in charge of that work. The University was fitted with the man long before it had the observatory, for Dr. A. E. Douglas, dean of the college of liberal arts, is an astronomer of note.

Dr. Douglas, who is a member of the American Astronomical Society, the Southern California Academy of Sciences, Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of London, spent several years after his graduation from college at Harvard University observatory. He later spent some time at their station in Arequipa, Peru, South America. In 1894 he became associated with the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., and later located an observatory at Tacubayan, Mexico.

Dr. Douglas has visited practically every observatory of note both in this country and abroad.

With the opportunities that Dr. Douglas will have with a new and large telescope, it is sincerely hoped that the state will maintain and make productive the observatory that has been given to it. The opportunities are great, and the man at the head of the work is one whose researches are already well known and respected.

NOW, THAT IT'S OVER.

The Arizona Republican says: Now, that it is all over, friendships that have been torn or fractured may be patched up good as new and warranted for four years. Families whose members have been estranged during the last three or four months are reunited. Even within the church schisms had crept in breeding doubt by members concerning the soundness of the hope of heaven entertained by other members because of heretical views on the subject of Wilson, Hughes, Hunt or Campbell. But these schisms are now healed. We would no more inquire now whether an otherwise God-fearing man was for Hughes or Wilson than we would inquire what opinion his forefathers might have had on the subject of infant damnation or baptism, whether by sprinkling or immersion.

Even a radical Democrat may now make a broad distinction between a Republican and a horse thief and the most conservative Republican is prepared to admit that a Democrat possesses many points of superiority over a bootlegger.

That affinity between those of an opposite political faith and the devil which seemed to us so strong now appears to have been a rather tenuous bond or maybe none at all. Godliness may not be democracy or republicanism, but it is not necessarily inconsistent with either. In this, a calmer, cooler moment, we will cheerfully concede that there were many members of the Democratic ticket, state and county, who were pretty good fellows.

SALOONS AND FURNISHED ROOMS

Half of Chicago's 7000 Drink Shops Maintain Bedrooms for Convenience of Patrons.

Three thousand and twenty-two out of 7080 saloons in Chicago maintain bedrooms for the use of their patrons. Six hundred and thirty-three saloons operate restaurants, cafes and cabarets; 1811 have partitions, wine rooms and stalls; 718 have dance rooms, and 63, "palm" gardens. Private entrances are provided by 2594 saloons, while 2420 maintain electric pianos; 89, bowling alleys, and 448, pool and billiard rooms.

The breweries control 4952, or 70 per cent of the licensed saloons; own 2232, or 34 per cent of the licenses, and own the fixtures in 4689 saloons, or 67 per cent of the total number. There is a saloon to every 351 persons living in Chicago and they employ 17,882 persons.

PROHIBITION MEANS.

More business. The money that is spent for liquor will be spent for legitimate products.

Increased bank clearings. Every state which has tried prohibition has found that the best way to boom the "banks for savings" is to abolish the "banks for losings."

Lower taxes. Of the three states having the lowest tax rates, two are under prohibition.

Greatly decreased crime. The first effect of a prohibition law is noted in a marked decrease in arrests for drunkenness and crime.

Less pauperism. As John Burns says, "The reason so many people can't make both ends meet is because they make one end drink."

Lower living costs. The cost of living is high because you are helping to support the men who do not produce their own food and clothing.

Less brind pigging and bootlegging. Exact investigations have shown that there are many times as many federal licenses in excess of state licenses in wet territory.

PROHIBITION MEANS PROSPERITY.

TURKEY PRICES SKY HIGH AND SHORTAGE EMINENT

"From South Water street," says the Tribune, "comes the gloomy information that merchants expect to retail turkeys at 35 cents per pound this winter. A tremendous turkey shortage is in prospect and many Chicagoans will be obliged to celebrate the holidays with other kinds of meats. Last year turkeys were 28 cents a pound and two years ago they were about 25 cents."

TRAPPERS! COYOTES ARE BRINGING HIGH PRICES!

Coyotes are in good demand and are bringing extremely high prices. This is caused by the great popularity of the fox animal scarf in imitation of which coyote is used.

Trappers get after the coyote. You can make big money trapping this fur-bearer.

A. B. Shubert, Inc., Chicago, U. S. A., the largest house in the world dealing exclusively in American ray furs, who advertise in the Arizona Sentinel, publish "Th. Shubert Shipper," a market report and price list, which is mailed free. It is not a magazine—it contains no advertising matter and every word in it is good, sound, reliable market news on every branch of the industry—American Raw Furs. "The Shubert Shipper" quotes prices on every fur-bearer caught in this section.

LARGE SHIP BUILDING AT OAKLAND'S INNER HARBOR

(Special to the Yuma Daily Examiner.) OAKLAND, Nov. 9.—Every month for the next six months a new ship will take the water in Oakland's inner harbor.

This is the prediction of shipbuilders who are caught in the midst of the $50,000,000 boom which has struck local maritime circles.

The Capto, a 7500 ton steel freighter, has just been launched and on top of that is coming a 10,000 ton vessel from the ways of the Union Iron works, a Charles Schwab subsidiary. This steel steamship, more than 400 feet long, will slide into the water on November 11.

It is the first of four 10,000 ton vessels now under construction at the Schwab plant. There is also an 8000 ton freighter almost completed as to hull.

The Capto was the first to be launched of four ships Moore & Scott have under construction. One of these is a sister ship to the Capto, which by the way is a duplicate of the Strathdene, which was sunk by the U-53. The other two are 9400 ton vessels.

Norwegian shipping men are to get these steamships. In fact, they are getting about everything they can buy from the shipyards of the Pacific coast. As a consequence, hardly is a contract let to the shipyards and a keel laid, when the vessel, while still on paper, is sold at a big advance.

Such was the case of the largest vessel ever contracted for, now under construction at the D. Hanlon yards. The Western Fuel Company ordered this big craft, but before the ribs were half in place, it was sold at about 50 per cent profit.

FARMERS ORGANIZE TO CARRY OUT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAMS

(Special Correspondence.)

BOISE, Ida., Nov. 8.—County agricultural agents are to have the active cooperation of all the farmers in Idaho under a plan recently outlined and beginning to be put in active operation by the state department of agriculture under the active and with the assistance of the United States department of agriculture.

This plan provides for the organization of the farmers of a county into groups with a paid membership, representing leading farmers in every community of a county as active workers on the improvement program, with an advisors council made up of the leaders in special fields of agriculture to direct and supervise the work.

The plan was outlined at a recent visit of R. L. Simmons, of the United States department of agriculture, and is along the lines of a somewhat similar arrangement that is reported to be markedly successful in eastern states. Mr. Simmons is in charge of the extension work in northwestern states.

In line with his suggestions, organization campaigns have been started in Canyon and Lewis counties. Similar campaigns will later be organized in all the other counties which employ or desire to employ a county agent. In both the initial counties, although the farmers were exceedingly busy, it is reported the proposed organization met with hearty support.

In Lewis county, organization started with 300 paid memberships, while in Canyon county the organization is expected to start with not less than 250 farmers. In both counties a farm bureau news will be published by a committee of farmers.

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

REAL THRILLERS WITH THE WORTHAM SHOWS AT YUMA FAIR

Perhaps the most exciting attraction which will be seen on the Gladwin at the Yuma County Fair is the "Follies of Life," which is a modification of the latest thriller, sometimes known as the Silo-drome. The Silo-drome is a circular and perpendicular track, around which daring riders whirl a breakneck speed, performing all kinds of evolutions and dare devil stunts rivaling, as it were the proverbial fly on the ceiling.

The "Follies of Life" is indeed a thriller and it is sure to prove to be one of the most popular attractions on the big joy zone at the Fair. There will be professional motorcyclists, including Mlle. Alicia Demereaux, champion lady rider of Belgium.
