

LOCAL BRIEFS

Visit the Yuma County Fair today.

A message from Republican State Chairman Maddox at Phoenix today at noon says Campbell's apparent majority over Hunt is around 2000 and the state legislature looks strongly Republican.

Ed Johnson, a big brother of O. C. Johnson, the hardware man, is visiting here from Los Angeles.

The temperature at 5 o'clock last evening was 65, humidity 18%. The maximum for the day was 70 and the minimum 54. Splendid weather for the good crowds attending the Yuma County Fair.

Miss Emily Teichmann returned today from Gadsden. She visited her brothers.

Doc. Carter, the Dome mining man was in the city today and renewed his subscription to the Examiner for another year.

The Fourteenth infantry ball team and the Yuma cubs had an interesting practice game of baseball at Fort Yuma this morning.

As the Examiner goes to press Yuma is having a holiday and everybody is at the athletic events, a full report of which will appear in the Examiner tomorrow.

John Fishbaugh of Somerton was in the city today attending the Yuma County Fair.

Sheriff Greenleaf had a close run in the voting, but messages received yesterday from the northern Yuma precincts, not yet in, gives him more than 50 majority over Archie Griffin, who is now the logical candidate for sheriff two years hence. No one but Mel Greenleaf could have beaten him this year.

The man, woman or child who misses the splendid Yuma County Fair will regret it. Remember it is worth going many miles to visit, and the busy Yuma Valley farmer who fails to come in is unpatriotic at least. Everybody admits that the exhibits would do credit to a state fair.

Mrs. George A. Rockwood in charge of the Domestic Science Department at the Yuma County Fair is the right woman in the place. The good women of Yuma can learn something by a visit with her and the men can get ideas that won't hurt them a bit.

GIRLS WILL DIVE AT ARIZONA STATE FAIR

(Special to the Yuma Daily Examiner.)

PHOENIX, Nov. 9.—There'll be the prettiest, shapeliest and niftiest collection of diving girls ever gathered together in this state performing every afternoon and evening at the Arizona State Fair in Phoenix, November 13 to 18, inclusive.

The charming mermaids are the stellar attraction of the great water carnival of the Rice & Wortham shows that have been exhibiting at many of the state fairs throughout the country. All over the east the grace, ability and beauty of the Wortham water nymphs have been complimented upon.

If the press notices are to be believed, and they are from reputable journals in many of the East's largest cities, the collection of diving girls that will show here this year will ex-cell by far the performers of past years at the State Fair.

Wherever they have executed their aquatic performances in other cities they have been the banner attraction and have always done their "turns" before capacity audiences.

Several of the girls hold diving records, long distance swimming records and various other honors that have been won as a result of their pronounced ability. They will do all these things in the mammoth tanks at the Arizona State Fair.

Girls diving from high platforms on the back of horses. Diving handcuffed in sacks and doing a score of other difficult stunts, certainly will prove the banner attraction of the water carnival at the Arizona State Fair. They will also swim races and exhibit all of the many strokes used by the best professional swimmers.

SELFISH CHINESE POLITICIANS WOULD SELL THEIR COUNTRY

(By Associated Press.)

PEKING, Nov. 9.—Military leaders from the various provinces have just held a conference at Hsichowfu in Kiangsu province, which threatens the existence of the present government should the parliament persist in its efforts to restrict the power of the military. Gen. Chang Hsun, who is probably the most feared of all the old-time military leaders in China, called the conference, and many of the newspapers which are in sympathy with the present parliament charge that Tuan Chi-ju, the premier, is in sympathy with the position taken by the military.

The conference declared that party politics is displacing all desire for peace and harmony under the present government, and that the national assembly which is now wrangling in Peking has accomplished nothing and is being manipulated by political leaders, "who would be willing to sell their country if they were able to attain their selfish ends."

It was the chief purpose of the conference to form a military union for the checking of violent characters and the preservation of peace. While the military conference favored the principle of having a national assembly, it went on record as being in favor of a dissolution of the assembly by military force should that body take steps inimical to the welfare of the nation.

The conference also considered the proposed constitution which the national assembly is about to draft, and insisted that the legislators should be guided in framing the constitution by the advice of experienced military men, Chang Yao-tseng, the new minister of justice, was singled out as a member of the cabinet who is wholly unworthy to retain his position and a protest against him was sent to the central government. The objection to the minister of justice is based on his alleged connection with the recent opium-smuggling case at Shanghai. Large quantities of Yunnan opium were taken into Shanghai by an official party, of which Chang Yao-tseng was a member. He was officially exonerated, but both press and the public regarded the official action as a whitewashing and his retention in the cabinet provoked wide criticism even before the military conference took action.

The military leaders also insisted that a competent minister of foreign affairs should be immediately appointed to look after the tangled international questions which China now faces.

Parliament and the military party stand at opposite poles. Tuan Chi-ju, the premier, is primarily a military man and in sympathy with the practical methods of the old-time Chinese who believe that the strict exercise of military power is the only means of maintaining peace in China. President Li Yaun'hung, while primarily a military man, is not so strongly in sympathy with the military party. He has endeavored to maintain middle ground and harmonize the parliamentarians and the military leaders. His success has not been marked. While the revolutionary troubles have been entirely quieted at Canton and in other parts of Kwangtung province, and the Szechuen situation is no longer threatening, there is general dissatisfaction throughout China with the inaction of parliament, and a clash between the parliament and the military is freely predicted.

AL. BARNES COMING

The Al G. Barnes big four-ring wild animal circus will be here Wednesday, November 15, and will give performances at 2 o'clock and 8 o'clock.

The entertainment offered is produced with a large troupe of educated wild and domestic animals, said to be the largest collection of this character ever assembled in one lot. In variety this animal actor troupe ranges in animals from the huge African elephant to the tiniest pony in all the world. Keeping in mind that circus goers expect some "thrill" spots on the program, this season's act schedule for the Barnes' shows carries some of the most exciting spectacles imaginable. Great groups of ferocious wild animals are used in this presentation. Thirty of the fiercest African lions being performed by one man. Thirty grizzly, cinnamon and polar bears are shown in another act. Tigers, leopards and jaguars are also used in feats to amaze.
