Orphan Home For Cochise

The Star says that with J. S. Williams, district attorney of Cochise county as the active agent, a project will soon be launched to provide Arizona with a territorial home for orphans to be cared for as the inmates of the reform school are cared for at the expense of the territory. A tentative decision in that direction was reached this morning by Mr. Williams in the course of a conference with N. E. Plumer. Mr. Plumer has promised his co-operation and assistance in what is planned to be made a territory-wide movement.

The orphanage is intended to supply a need which the territory now has no means of filling. The promoters of the project agree. While there is provision for the territorial or wayward children, no provision has been made for taking care of the orphans. The only thing that can be done is to send them to Rev. A. H. Gunnett of the Los Angeles Orphan's Home and trust to fortune that he will find it possible to have the children cared for in a reasonable length of time.

The proposal now is to hold a big meeting in Phoenix during fair week when interested citizens from all over the territory can be gathered together. Interested in the project, and induced to subscribe $15,000 or $20,000 with which to erect the territorial orphanage.

"I wouldn't urge Tucson as the place for the orphanage," said Mr. Plumer, "for the summer climate is not the best for the little children. It is at least uncomfortable. An elevation of 5,000 feet would be about right."

In this connection a site for the home has already been offered, according to Mr. Williams.

"Hon. Hoval A. Smith of Bisbee has offered me ten acres of the richest and finest kind of land for that purpose," he said. "The land will also carry with it a perpetual water right, making the donation equivalent to at least $2,000."

May Take Some Action This Week

Washington advices are to the effect that the Statehood bill may be considered by the senate this week as a relief from the tariff debate. A minority report in connection with the Flood resolution will be filed by Senators Nelson, Lippitt and Burnham, the three senators who voted against the Flood resolution in committee. If no filibustering is attempted it is likely the measure may be called up any day.

Another Forest Fire In Huachuca Mts.

Word was received in Tombstone this morning to the effect that another forest fire has been discovered in the Huachuca mountains and that the same is causing considerable destruction in its path. According to the information at hand the fire is raging in one of the large canyons about midway between the Fort Huachuca and Ramsey canyon. The forest rangers are now fighting the fire and are in the hopes of confining it to the present burned area.

This makes the fourth forest fire had in the Huachuca mountains during the present season.

To Build the Charleston High Line

Chief Engineer Jones of the E. P. & S. W. is in charge of a corps of surveyors now located at Charleston, and it is understood final survey is now being made for the new high line route along the San Pedro from Charleston to Fairbank.

The present line runs dangerously close to the river and some curves are very sharp which has made apparent the necessity of some changes.

The opening of bids on the 66 mile extension from Fairbank to Tucson is set for July 20, and shortly after it is expected work may be had on the Charleston high line to Fairbank.

Yaqui Chief Killed by His Own Tribe

Chief Bule, the picturesque Yaqui chieftain, who signed the treaty with the Mexican government two years ago at the conclusion of the Yaqui war, was killed by his own men, according to J. T. Hendrickson, a former resident of Globe, who is now located in the Yaqui river valley.

Bule would not quit the federalists after all his men had done so, and they killed him on that account, the murder taking place near the town of Vican on the Yaqui river.

Arrangements are now in progress according to Mr. Hendrickson for the restoration to the Yaquis of the country lying north of the Yaqui river, including a number of towns built by the Indians.

Terribly Injured in Saw Mill

Bertha Goldoni, fourteen years old, while picking up chips in the D. C. Lumber yard at Moreland had her dress caught in the main driving shaft in some manner and before the machinery could be stopped was terribly injured. The workmen in the saw mill heard her scream as she was whirled around by the rapidly revolving shaft and spring to the switch and shut off the power. Her clothes were entirely torn from her body, one arm and one leg broken, the side of her head cut and bruised and her skull probably fractured. Her recovery is doubtful.

Election In Mexico In October

Arrivals from Mexico during the past few days, some of them from Mexico City, as well as the advice that appear in the papers of the capital of the republic and from other cities, widely scattered, all tell of keen and intense interest in the forthcoming election. This is to be held on the first Sunday of October and according to old methods of proceeding insofar as the voting of electors go, although the reform of universal suffrage and of counting all the votes is promised. It appears that the people generally desire a change in the constitution so that there may be a really popular method in elections, that is, for the people to vote for president and vice-president direct, and not for electors. The war of "popular government" is at its height in Mexico.

Date Set for Sale of Local Mines

The date of the sheriff's sale of the miner's liens assigned to T. R. Brandt against the Tombstone Consolidated Mines Co., has been set for July 19th. The judgment foots about $35,000 of which nearly $28,000 represents the claims of the miners liens. The liens of other claimants were made party to the suit to simplify legal status and establish priority rights. The description of the property to be sold covering some 77 claims of the company, and judgments of the other lien holders involved, makes nearly seven columns of the PROSPECTOR, being one of the longest legal notices printed for many years. The first insertion of the notice appears in this issue on page 3.

The Daffydil fad seems to have struck Arizona papers with a vengeance. The craze has reached the banner mining and cattle county, for here in Cochise every reader becomes a "Prospector" for the "International" puns that "Press" upon their notice for "Review." An "Arizona" is entitled to the "Belt" anyhow when it comes to hunting for "News" with "Dispatch." If you shoot we will cheerfully record the "Epitaph."

The news that Ft. Huachuca instead of being abandoned, is to be made a regimental post, is certainly a high score for the wisdom and judgment of the military heads. Ft. Huachuca is an ideal spot for a military reservation, its peculiar advantages were made manifest during the recent border trouble, and the Department has evidently concluded that its location could not be improved upon. With Ft. Huachuca made a regimental post, the historic old Fort will be one of the most important military stations in the Department of Colorado.

With Statehood about in sight, candidates for first state offices are expected to bob out from under cover and sacrifice themselves on the altar of public service.

Arizona is to have another prominent national leader with us. Small Small has succumbed to the allurements and welcomes of the new state and will henceforth become an Arizonan. What is more he will establish a newspaper at Phoenix and climb right into editorial harness to help mould the destiny of new Arizona. The new journalistic venture will be a morning daily and will be christened The Phoenix Sun, which will make its bow on July 1st.

The Sun will espouse the cause of Democracy and it goes without saying that it will be powerful, for its illustrious editor is a vigorous champion of the cause of the people. We wish the Sun success and trust it will continue to shine resplendent as long as it fights for the standard of Democracy.

Through the courtesy of Alex Murray, one of the staunch Cochise advocates of Arizona's constitution and whose public speeches carried the right ring, we are in receipt of the printed speech of Hon. Alfred G. Allen, of Ohio, in the House at the time the statehood bill was under consideration. Representative Allen told some straightforward facts in his address, favoring the rule of the people. The recall he characterized as a natural sequence of the district that has followed a general tendency throughout the land of judicial usurpation of legislative powers. In Representative Allen Arizona has a strong and loyal friend.

It was a long step in the direction of early statehood for Arizona when the senate committee on territories reported favorably on the House resolution admitting Arizona and New Mexico into the union as sovereign states. The resolution is now before the senate and it is expected will be shortly passed by that august body. It's up to the senate now. Every other obstacle that has blocked the way of Arizona in reaching for the coveted goal has been removed and now that it has reached the last block, the senate, let us hope for immediate order, passage, followed by the election of first state officers, etc. We are aware that there are senators who are opposed to some of the progressive measures in the constitution, but the PROSPECTOR is confident that these senators realize the patriotic and patient and long struggle Arizonans have made for self government, and will let Arizona enter the union without any serious opposition.

Cochise county has the happiest and most contented lot of people upon God's foot stool. They have reason to be happy if you consider our unexcelled health giving climate, the gorgeous towering mountains with unestimated mineral deposits, and the fertile valleys where the artesian water is in abundance, the orchards, the fields of waving grain, and the green meadows, and the best specimens of grazing cattle.

Failed in Health

"My mother died six years ago," writes Miss Ruth Ward, of Jerseyville, Ill., "and left me to care for six children. I had never been strong; and this, with the shock of her death, was too much for me.

"I failed in health. I was tired all the time and did not want to go anywhere, nor care for company. I had the headache all the time and such bearing-down pains. A very dear friend advised me to take Cardui, as it had done her so much good, so I commenced to use it and now I am in good health."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Women's pains are relieved or prevented and women's strength is quickly restored, by Cardui, the woman's tonic. You yourself know best if you need it, or not. If you do need it, do not delay, but commence to use it at once. Every day of delay, only lets you slide further down the hill.

Don't wait, then, but begin to take Cardui today, for its use, no matter how prolonged, cannot harm you and will surely do you good.
