Tally of Votes Proves 2 to 1

The total primary figures from all counties have been tallied by Secretary Young who has given out the official totals on all state offices.

The most striking feature of the votes is the difference between the highest successful candidate on each ticket. Cameron received the highest total of the republicans which was 4,821, while G P Boland, nominee for attorney general polled the highest democratic vote of 8,107. The difference is nearly 2 to 1 which tells its own tale.

One More Ticket In Arizona Field

One more ticket will be in the field on December 12, according to latest step taken by the Arizona prohibitionists.

Petitions have been received in Tombstone to be circulated in the interests of state offices on the Prohibition ticket and similar petitions circulated throughout the territory, it being necessary to obtain 275 names on the petitions to insure place on the official ballot.

The petitions circulated here is for the following state ticket:

P W Otis of Prescott, governor.
 E W Chaffin of Tucson, representative to Congress.
 Roy Sibley of Copper Creek, Secretary of State.
 R E Winde of Tempe, State Treasurer.
 C E Collins of Kingman, State Auditor.

O Gibson of Tombstone, Attorney General.
 Dr W Watkins of Phoenix, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Attorney O Gibson of this city who is one of the prohibition leaders of Arizona and an earnest an active advocate of the cause, was given place on the ticket for the attorney generalship. When seen today Mr Gibson stated that no names had been suggested for senators, supreme judges or corporation commissioners. As far as known no county ticket will be placed in the field in Cochise. It is likely, however, a full county ticket would be named in Maricopa county.

Sulphur Spring Valley a Great Producer

The role that Sulphur Spring Valley will soon play in the agricultural line is at last beginning to dawn upon even the most skeptical.

The Range News says:—The few settlers that have attempted to farm systematically during their short residence here have been more than gratified at the result, and next season will see an earnest, as well as concentrated effort throughout the entire valley, and from now on the growth of it as an agricultural section will be marked, and rapidly expand every year. We have found that everything can be raised successfully, with the exception of tropical fruits. Grains, cereals, vegetables, fruits, alfalfa, tobacco, cotton, and all great staples grow in profusion. All that is needed is irrigation and reasonable care and cultivation.

Experiments show that this is the home of alfalfa and other forage crops. Five crops of alfalfa can be produced every year, and after that the field will make good winter pasture. Corn yields readily 50 to 90 bushels per acre, and requires only from one to three irrigations, while potatoes yield about 200 bushels per acre.

Chinese Planning Big Celebration

Flushed over the victories of the Chinese revolutionists, the Chinese colony of El Paso is making preparations for a gigantic celebration to be held soon. As yet the date for the celebration and parade has not been set, but a meeting of all Chinese of El Paso has been called to consider the matter.

The new Chinese flag of the proposed republic has been received in Tombstone by enthusiastic Chinese advocates of the cause and one is on exhibition at the American Restaurant having been received by Ah Lum, the well known Tombstone Celestial. Tombstone Celestials are keenly alive to the movements in China and expect to witness a republic in the Flowery Kingdom, and put the governmental system of the United States which it is proposed to pattern after.

With her gr. natural resources yet in their infancy of development, and a progressive government in the hands of progressive business men of experience, capital will be easily and readily attracted to Arizona. A progressive government in the hands of progressive and successful business men does not mean that capital will be denied all legitimate safeguards, as Standpat Republicans would have the people believe. This Republican bugaboo has been held up to the people so many times and for so long that had it been anything except what its name implies.

The great objection made to progressive measures of government by the Stand at Republicans a year ago was that capital would be driven out of Arizona under a progressive regime. These same Republicans are now claiming all the credit for the achievement of Statehood for the people of Arizona under one of the most progressive constitutions.

If progressive measures would be good for the people of Arizona with the enforcement of them in the hands of Standpat Republicans, why are they not just as safe with the enforcement of them in the hands of those that created them for the people?

Astronomers report that one of the asteroids is lost. In that case it is in the same fix as the republican party in Arizona.

Only a short time until Christmas is here.

Because of their platforms and pledges the people elected the democrats to draft them a constitution, the democrats having fulfilled the wishes of the people, it is only reasonable to suppose those same people will elect the democrats to go and make laws in accordance with the constitution.

If one were to believe the stories printed in the Albuquerque papers about the candidates, there is hardly a man, either democrat or republican that were fit to be on the tickets. Let us hope the newspapers and politicians will not resort to such mud slinging in Arizona.

Reports from all sections of Arizona forecast an unusually large crop of democrats this fall.

Howal A Smith has purchased a farm in Pima county. That's a good joke on Howal, as Ralph Cameron is going to turn all the water into the Sulphur Springs valley in Cochise.—International.

Arizona has over 2,000 miles of steam railroad, hundreds of post offices, sixty daily, weekly and monthly periodicals; most ample banking facilities, with unusually large deposits; and a very healthy condition of state, municipal and county finances, based on a property assessment this year of over ninety-eight millions of dollars.
