He states that he made a careful investigation of every nook and corner where there was probability of finding rebel bands and in his whole trip did not sight a single rebel. He claims to have practically scoured the Ajo mountains. In some places he found traces of them in abandoned camps and at one place thought he discovered a cache where they had stored ammunition and guns, but nothing further was discovered. ## HAMPTON MAY NOT BE ELIGIBLE

New Phaze in Presidential Elector Race --Barred By Federal Wording of Statutes

DIRECTORS OF NATIONAL BANKS INCLUDED

It has developed that John R. Hampton recently nominated by the democratic party as one of the three presidential electors, must either immediately resign as a member of the board of directors of the first National Bank of Clifton, or withdraw from the democratic ticket.

A telegram published in the Phoenix Democrat from Sioux City, Iowa stated that Fred E. Friebe, a candidate for the republican nomination for presidential elector, had withdrawn from the race, inasmuch as he was a director of a national bank, and preferred to withdraw from the political fight, rather than resign as director of a bank.

Taking this telegram as a basis, the matter of the ineligibility of Mr. Hampton was taken up with Attorney General Bullard. If Mr. Hampton's office as director of the Clifton bank is to make him ineligible as a presidential elector, his friends wished to know it, as he could be advised of the fact and would probably withdraw from the bank directorate.

Mr. Bullard quoted Article Two of the Federal Constitution which states that no person holding an office of trust or profit under the government is eligible as presidential elector. Mr. Bullard is of the opinion that inasmuch as a National bank is created under a federal statute, an officer of the institution would be classed as one holding an office of "trust or profit."

Immediately upon Mr. Bullard so stating, Mr. Hampton was wired to this effect and it is believed by his friends that he will resign as a director of the Clifton bank, rather than become ineligible as an elector. — Democrat.

Some of these will be sent to China and the port in those cases will be San Francisco. Very few of them will go that way, however, as the government is put to too much expense. The car is in charge of a couple of immigration inspectors.

Rojas and Rebel Band Are Bottled Up in Sonora--Believed Caught In Trap

The Mexican government believes that "General" Antonio Rojas, at the head of 300 rebels, is now in a trap at the Mahabi ranch twenty miles west of Yzabal on the Nacosari railroad, from which he cannot escape. Nearly 1000 federals, moving in three columns are now closing in on the rebel leader and his force, who are making an attempt to withdraw from the state of Sonora.

The rebel conquest of Sonora to date has been a complete failure. Republic at every turn where they anticipate easy vic ories, Rojas and his command now find themselves with supplies depleted and ammunition almost gone, hemmed in on three sides.
