Sheriff Wheeler On the Trail

Sheriff Harry C Wheeler is in receipt of two notices of proclamation by the governor of Arizona, offering rewards of $100 for the arrest and delivery of one Pete Reviglia, who on December 12th, 1912, murdered Parker Bowling and Frank Faulk, at Bisbee; and for the arrest and delivery of Jose Ybarra, who on December 15, 1913 murdered Rafael Acosta at Gleeson.

Sheriff Wheeler, through whom the proclamations have been brought about, has been ever on the alert for the capture of these criminals, and followed up every possible clue that would lead to their apprehension. In the case of Pete Reviglia, the murder was committed during the administration of Jack White, and since being in office, Sheriff Wheeler has worked on the case and it is now thought that the fugitive has been located in Mexico. In the case of Ybarra, who murdered Acosta at Gleeson and made his getaway the same night, the sheriff has been working ceaselessly. He has sent broadcast notices of reward for the arrest of the fugitive, whom he thinks has fled to Mexico. It is thought he has been located also, but so far his arrest has not been made.

Besides the Sheriff's reward offered of $50, Governor Hunt has added a reward of $100 for his capture, according to the proclamation received today.

Sheriff Wheeler received notice this morning that Deputy Cross, at Douglas, had captured at that place last night a Mexican by the name of Petronio Belazars, who yesterday had murdered, by stabbing, a man at Agua Prieta and upon crossing the line he was immediately captured by Deputy Cross and will be brought to Tombstone and placed in the county jail.

When seen this morning Sheriff Wheeler stated that this was the second man that had been captured on this side of the line for Agua Prieta authorities within the last month or so. In the former case, a man by the name of Flores, was captured by Sheriff Wheeler and held in the county jail for about a month and a half, the period allowed by law, in order to allow the Mexican authorities to institute extradition proceedings. This was not done however, and the sheriff was obliged to release him. "Now," said the sheriff, "the question arises whether the Mexican authorities are going to do the same thing with Belazars, and not institute proceedings to extradite him and try him for the murder."

"If the Mexican authorities do not take legal means of extraditing their prisoners wanted," said Sheriff Wheeler, "as in the Flores case, it is a certainty that I nor any of my deputies nor I don't think any other official in the county would do so—will resort to illegal means of returning them to Mexico for punishment. That is, I will not permit them to be kidnapped and taken across to Mexico."

"This is a very important matter," continued the sheriff, "and I think there ought to be some way in which the Mexican government might be made to extradite their fugitives, such as the United States government does."

Belazars, in the meantime, will be held here by Sheriff Wheeler, during the time prescribed by law, and at the end of that time, if not extradited legally, will be released from custody.

Popular Cochisites Purchase Slag Pile

Jim Finch and Joe Larrieu have bought the old slag pile near Benson, which has been there since the old smelter was operated near that town in 1881 and 1882. The old smelter did not have the machinery to get all the values from the ore and the slag carries considerable values that are worth the getting out. When the old smelter was in operation it was owned by an Englishman named Solberry and his associates and ore was brought in from northern Mexico to be handled there and also from the mining districts in New Mexico which were active at that time, but have since passed into a state of innocuous desuetude. The smelter for a time did a good business and there is a large accumulation of the slag. Mr Finch and Larrieu are undecided whether they will ship the slag to El Paso or to the Douglas smelters for treatment.

Dies at Ripe Old Age of 103 Years

F. N. Wolcott Urged for Governor

A political boom for F. N. Wolcott, the popular and prominent business man of Tombstone for governor of Arizona, has been launched in Cochise county by old-time friends.

When interviewed by a PROSPECTOR representative today, however, Mr Wolcott expressed no political inclination, and showed no desire to be numbered among the aspirants for the office.

Nevertheless his many friends, who have started the boom will continue to boost him for governor, and it is understood that his friends have already started active work for him.

Mr Wolcott, has been a business man of the old camp for over thirty years, and has many friends, not only in the county but throughout the entire state, who would like to see him enter the ring for the executive toga. Mr Wolcott would bring to the high office exceptional executive as well as successful business ability. Realizing this, his friends will be reluctant to let him drop off the list, and will continue to boost his name for the office.

He has served Cochise county in many official capacities with credit and distinction, and the mention of his name for the governorship will cause a host of Arizonans to rally to his support, regardless of political affiliations.

New Trial Granted in Million-Dollar Suit

A Phoenix dispatch says— With instructions to grant a new trial in the case of John Gleeson versus Mary M Costello, executrix of the estate Martin Costello, was remanded to the Superior Court of Cochise county by the Court. It was found that the issues had not been submitted to the jury by the proper interrogatories.

The opinion was written by Judge McAllister, Superior Judge of Graham county, who sat for Justice Cunningham, who was disqualified. It is lengthy, dwelling entirely on law points. Gleeson prayed for an accounting to him of an undivided one-third interest in the Francisco, Batavia and Fennard mining claims, in the Turquoise mining district. He also asked that a partnership alleged entered into by Costello during his lifetime, be set aside.

There has been a great deal of local interest in this case and for the past week, it is reported that negotiations for transfer of the property have been under way during that time between Mr Gleeson and Eastern investors who have been on the ground. The finding of the Supreme Court, as indicated in the special dispatch above, means that all transactions will now be held in abeyance until the case is reheard in the Cochise county superior court in Tombstone. The previous trial occupied several weeks, during which eminent attorneys for the parties at interest fought a hard contest.

Rich Gold Found in Cochise County

There has been considerable excitement the last week twelve miles out from Benson on the Yellowstone claims, where rich gold ore has been found and in the vicinity of the discovery it is said a number of new claims have been located. It may be that they have found what has been long looked for in that section, a main ledge or mother lode from which has come rich float found in the country during many years past. There have been stringers and small pockets found and worked at various times, which should have a mother source, and those now interesting themselves in the Yellowstone vicinity naturally believe they have fallen upon the much sought ledge. Whether they have or not, development alone will tell.

I have moved my place of business from the old location to the former Billard Parlor Building and am prepared to accommodate all patrons, as heretofore. Call in and see us. —A—Y—JAMES MARRS
