One hundred bombs dropped on English towns during Zeppelin raid Tuesday night, but no loss of life reported.

London reports capture of Sir Roger Casement, Irish separatist leader, in effort to smuggle arms into Ireland with German aid.

Austrians enraged by Italian aerial attack on Trieste in which monastery containing hundreds of noncombatants was destroyed and several killed.

The revolt of the Sinn Fein party in Ireland, with the attack on Dublin and the killing of twelve men, is an important development of the war.

Another engagement fought off the coast of Flanders by British and German warships. Berlin reports a British destroyer damaged and an auxiliary steamer sunk.

German cruiser squadron which bombarded North Lowestoft and Yarmouth, England, Tuesday, killed four persons and wounded twelve and sunk steamer King Stephen. A British destroyer also was sunk, according to the Berlin report, but England denies this.

WASHINGTON

Twenty-five thousand telegrams, protesting against action which might mean war with Germany poured in on Senators Sherman and Lewis of Illinois.

President Wilson nominated former Senator John R. Thornton of Louisiana as civilian member of the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications. He succeeds the late Senator Francis M. Cockrell of Missouri.

Selection of J. Bruce Kremer, Democratic national committeeman from Montana, as secretary of the National Democratic convention, has been made, according to private advices made public at Butte.

The Senate Immigration Committee agreed to modify the Asiatic exclusion section of the pending immigration bill to eliminate reference to the Root-Takahira agreement restricting immigration of Japanese laborers.

Speaker Clark took the floor and admonished the House to "get down to work and get away from here." He said both Democrats and Republicans have been making long speeches for political effect, and he was tired of such tactics.

President Wilson sat with bowed head on the platform of Continental Memorial Hall and with 1,000 men and women delegates gathered from all parts of the country for the opening session of the National Missionary Congress of the laymen's missionary movement, listened to a prayer for blessings upon "our President for his patience, self-restraint and strength during this time of trouble." The prayer was offered by James M. Speers of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the laymen's movement, who presided over the congress.

WESTERN

New Mexico's delegation elected at the state convention at Albuquerque, will go to the national Republican convention unfrustrated. Political leaders declared, however, that five of the six delegates were for Roosevelt.

Charles Murray, bartender, shot and killed Dick Lewis of Gallup and dangerously wounded Henry Moore at Gallup, N. M., in a saloon.

Mrs. Abraham Asseline and her 8-year-old daughter, were burned to death and a son 6 years old was fatally hurt in a fire which destroyed their home at Sheboygan, Mich.

Prices of meat animals continue to rise, an average increase of 4.3 per cent from March 15 to April 15, being announced by the Department of Agriculture.

FOREIGN

Food riots at Guadalajara are reported in dispatches to El Paso, Tex. American Ambassador Gerard Thursday discussed the submarine question with the kaiser.

The losses by the Bulgarian army during the war are estimated by Bulgarian reports received at Athens to amount to 87,000 killed and 50,000 wounded or missing.

A large German powder factory at Dodegatch has blown up, says a dispatch from Saloniki. The explosion killed a number of persons, among them a grandson of Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria.

After the accession of thirty delegates, who protested against the anti-war policy, the British Socialist party, in conference at Salford, England, adopted resolutions favoring the speedy termination of the war.

The Paris Petit Parisien states that according to information reaching circles in Paris the kaiser has decided to support the German financiers and diplomats who desire to conciliate the United States on the submarine issue.

In a battle between 6,000 rebels and the constitutionalist army just north of the city of Oaxaca, the rebels were defeated with a loss of 500 men killed and many wounded or captured, according to a message received at the War Department in Mexico City from Oaxaca.

After a conference with Gen. Trevino, Gen. Jose A. Gascin, chief of the medical staff of the Carranza army, announced that satisfactory arrangements had been made for the surrender of Canuto Reyes and his lieutenants. All have accepted amnesty on terms offered by Gen. Trevino.

Officers casualty lists show that during the month of March the British army lost 372 killed, 690 wounded and 44 missing—a total of 1,106. The losses in officers since the commencement of hostilities total 25,031. Of these, 7,792 were killed or died of wounds, 15,428 were wounded and 1,861 are missing.

The news of the battle at Temschic in which Colonel Dodd routed 250 Villistas, was accepted at El Paso, Tex., as strong confirmation of the numerous reports received recently that the inactivity of the American troops had encouraged the numerous bands of bandits in northern Chihuahua to reunite and resume their depredations.

SHOULD KNOW CAR IMPROVED AUTO DOOR

INVENTOR HAS DEVISED ONE THAT SLIDES.

Will Pay Any Driver to Fully Understand the Mechanism of His Machine.

Easy to See That It Has Many Advantages Over the Old Style Opening.

GREAT MAJORITY DO NOT

Little Doubt That the Ultimate Automobile Will Be the One With the Fewest Parts—Will Be Much Easier in Their Operation.

Official figures show that close to 2,100,000 motor cars were licensed in this country in 1915, and it is conservatively estimated that at least 1,000,000 persons are driving their own cars this year.

A significant thing about the large proportion of owners who run their machines themselves is that the sale of automobiles in the United States is far from being limited to those who understand mechanical things. In other words, the degree in which the automobile may be classed as a vehicle which requires an expert to operate it is diminishing rapidly.

Still, it is probable that not one person in ten who operates a car knows anything about mechanism. Such a condition is bound to have an important influence on the future design of motor cars.

It is a condition which means a tendency toward greater reliability in automobiles; simplicity in design and construction—the smallest possible number of things to look after and care for.

In this connection it is interesting to observe that there is a real distinction between American and European cars based on the proposition that in this country cars are to a very large extent driven and taken care of by their owners, while in Europe probably the majority are looked after by mechanics and operated by chauffeurs.

For this reason, in selling cars to Europeans it probably is all right to equip the machines with four-speed transmission, for example. Complicated mechanism is not as serious an objection as in this country, where not one car in 10,000 has a four-speed transmission.

A three-speed transmission supplies all needs, and is comparatively simple—there is less mechanism, less wear and less to look after.

It is predicted that the next few years are bound to bring a practical development—a refinement—which will make cars even simpler in design and construction than they are today. They will be easier to operate and need less attention.

Undoubtedly the time is not far distant when the car with the smallest number of parts will sell for the highest price because it will be the cheapest in the long run.

Why Tires Blow Out.

Many tires blow out to be junked because they have to and the owner could not account for the action. Sometimes a tire blows out, even though the day previous there was not a mark of any kind on the tread. This is quite possible, and is frequent in the rural districts, being caused by stone bruises. If a tire strikes a stone about four inches in diameter and this stone happens to have a sharp edge which strikes the tread, it is possible the fabric within has become injured. This injury may not show on the outside, but may be in the form of a break in the flexing of the tire and pinches the inner tube, which then blows out through the break, or weak spot in the fabric.

Define Directions.

Much trouble and vexation might be avoided by forethought in giving directions for travel. A red barn that has recently been repainted with another color will put a person clear out of his reckoning. "Cemetery on the right," and "section line cross road," coupled with intervening distance data, are dependable.

Clean-Oil System.

In motors using the splash lubricating system it is advisable to drain off the old oil from crank case and refill with fresh oil. Put a teaspoonful of kerosene in each cylinder before cranking the motor.

Bar Broken Autos From Town.

Burgess J. K. P. Fener of Ashley borough has issued an edict that drivers of automobiles will not be permitted to stop their machines within the borough limits to make repairs of any sort. Even in case of a puncture or blow-out, the auto drivers will not be permitted to use the streets as repair shops, according to the official decree.

Jimney drivers and auto owners in general are up in arms over the decree. The Burgess caused the arrest of Harry Owens for stopping his car to make repairs. Owens was fined, but has appealed—Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Dispatch to Philadelphia North American.

Italian Truck Business Grows.

Italian motor truck manufacturers are enjoying a business boom as the result of the European war, according to reports that are reaching America. Practically every truck factory within its boundaries is being operated 24 hours a day in an effort to meet the demand from the nations at war and their own country. The production of pleasure cars, however, has practically ceased.

Watch Indicator.

Despite the fact that a well-built electric lighting and starting system gives little trouble, it is important that the devices provided by the manufacturer to indicate derangement should be watched. It is almost as easy to form the habit of looking at indicators as it is to form the habit of ignoring them.
