MANILA CARNIVAL BIG ATTRACTION OF FAR EAST

This is the season of the year when the Philippines become the playground for the entire orient. It is carnival season in Manila.

In 1920 the first Philippine carnival was held on historic Wallace Field in Manila in February, when the climate of the islands is at its best, and each succeeding year there has been a larger and more elaborate celebration. The 1920, or Victory Carnival, will be the greatest event of its sort ever held anywhere in the Far East.

There are commercial and government exhibits in connection with the carnival, and on no other occasion is it possible to gain at once such a comprehensive idea of the production and development of resources of the archipelago as that which is offered the visitor at the carnival city.

In the evenings the carnival becomes the center of Philippine and oriental social activity. A huge open air auditorium serves for the elaborate nightly balls, and on its mammoth floor thousands of couples swing together to the strains of music furnished by the famous Constabulary and other military bands. Probably at no other place in the world will one see an equally impressive cosmopolitan spectacle.

The Manila visitor who can plan his trip to arrive at the Pearl of the Orient for carnival time may well deem himself fortunate.

HOMELESS TOTS, HUNGRY, WANDER CITY'S STREETS

This pitiful picture, which tells its own story of suffering among the homeless orphans of war-torn Europe, was sent to Dr. Joseph Blatt, of Oklahoma City, by an American relief worker in Poland.

The starving child shown in the picture was about to collapse from weakness and hunger when found on the streets of Warsaw by the relief man. He was taken to a station of the Jewish Relief Committee in Warsaw, given food and clean, warm clothing, and was eventually nursed back to health.

"Thousands of less fortunate children are exposed and disease. Unless immediate relief is given, the death toll will soon reach a far greater total than that taken among the armies during hostilities. America must help."

Dr. Blatt is vice chairman of the Oklahoma State Jewish Relief Committee, which will ask Oklahomans to help save these starving people by contributing during a drive for funds from April 5 to 12.

YOU CAN BUY A LIFE.

A few American dollars donated to the Oklahoma State Jewish Relief Committee will save the life of some starving, homeless victim of the war to whom the committee will send food and clothing.

When Viscount Grey's letter to the London Times, justifying the delay of the senate in ratifying the peace treaty and explaining to the British the attitude of America toward world affairs, was made public, it was at once assumed that acceptance of the pact by the senate, with the Lodge reservations little modified, would soon follow. Both sides admitted that the Grey letter had knocked important props from under the opposition to the Lodge program, in that it made clear that Great Britain and, presumably, the other allied powers would welcome the admission of America even with the reservations. The informal committee of the senate had failed to reach a compromise and Hitchcock had given notice that he would move to take up the treaty in the open senate on February 10. Lodge countered with the statement that the Republicans would bring the pact before the senate one day earlier. As the days passed with no comment from the White House on the Grey letter, however, hope for early ratification faded, and toward the end of the week it was widely reported in Washington that the letter had angered the president and increased his determination never to accept the Lodge reservations or anything like them. It was said Mr. Wilson and his firm adherents looked on Viscount Grey's pronouncement as an unwarranted attempt by the spokesman of a foreign government to interfere in the legislative affairs of this country. Though it seemed the letter had persuaded many Democrats that it was best to accept the reservations, it was admitted that the president could still rally a sufficient number to prevent ratification.

dren are dying in Europe because relief organizations haven't sufficient funds to care for them," said Dr. Blatt. "And children are not the only sufferers; aged men and women by the thousands, made homeless and penniless by the war, are starving and

CURRENT EVENTS IN OKLAHOMA

STOCK MEN MEET MARCH 29

Southwestern Producers Association Convention at O. C.

Stockmen of Oklahoma are going to make a powerful effort to get the railroads to provide better service for live stock shippers now that the roads are back in private hands again. Already the organized cattle raisers are preparing to exert their influence and tangible results are expected from the annual convention of the Live Stock Producers' Association of Oklahoma which will be held in Oklahoma City, Monday, March 29.

Delays in getting stock to market on account of poor transportation service is the general complaint of the live stock men who regularly ship to the Oklahoma City market. It is claimed that a delay of 24 hours in the movement of live stock within 100 miles of this market is not infrequent. Naturally the shrinkage in the weight of the animals is large and the losses to the owner enormous. Coupled with this disadvantage the cattlemen are also having unusual difficulties in getting sufficient cars, while it is impossible to tell when they can expect the arrival of cars.

Next to the business of getting more attention from the railroads, the cattlemen are expected to turn an ear to the advice of A. Palmer Mitchell, attorney general of the United States, concerning the purchase of the Oklahoma stock yards. Under the compromise made by the government and the five big packers, they must dispose of their interests in all stock yards within two years. Just what is the best course for the live stock producers to follow in the face of such a revolution in the meat packing industry has been an enigma, but the attorney general advises them to buy the yards.

John C. Atwood, assistant United States attorney general, has been attending many cattlemen's conventions and is urging the organizing of a Southwestern Stock Yards Company by the stock producers of the southwest. He suggests that it be capitalized at $5,000,000 and acquire the possession of the yards at Kansas City, Fort Worth, Denver and Oklahoma City, which points receive the bulk of the cattlemen's products. At present Morris & Company are the owners of the Oklahoma City yards.

JEALOUSY CAUSED KILLING

Men in Bigheart Triangle Both Former Husbands of Same Woman.

Pawhuska.—Driven by jealousy and rage because of the woman to whom he had been married, but who had divorced him, Tom Glendinning shot through a window at Willard McGraw, mortally wounding him, according to the statement made by Glendinning himself to County Attorney Cornett. The shooting took place on the night of February 20 at Bigheart. A preliminary hearing was held before Justice of the Peace Hargis, and Glendinning was held on a charge of murder.

The case has attracted much attention not only because of its sensational features but because the woman involved was formerly Miss Bigheart, a daughter of one of the most prominent of the Osage chiefs, and after whom the town of Bigheart is named. She was formerly married to Glendinning. Then she obtained a divorce from him and married McGraw. She was divorced from McGraw less than six months ago.

Both men had been paying her some attention. Glendinning became more and more jealous of the attentions of McGraw and finally according to his statement to County Attorney Cornett, went to the farm house near Bigheart where McGraw was staying to blow his head off.

The Red River Cause.

Enid.—Judge Frank A. Youmans decided in favor of the Judsonia Developing Company, consisting of Oklahoma men, in their suit in federal court here asking an injunction against Sam Parks and other Texas men, in the famous Red river dispute that has been hanging fire for several months. The judge has issued an order for the United States marshal to serve the papers on the Texans now holding the property of the Judsonia Developing Company in Red river, forbidding them from keeping possession of the property of the company.

Sam Houston's Son Killed.

Hugo.—William R. Houston, 79 years old, youngest son of Gov. Sam Houston, was killed on the Sawyer road, three miles south of here. Houston had been in the service of the Indian department as a federal enforcement officer for 29 years and was widely known for his activities in Oklahoma and Texas. He is survived by a brother, Andrew J. Houston of San Antonio, Texas, and two sisters, Temple Houston, a brother, is credited with killing one of the James band of outlaws.
