Positive Proof

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Bennington
 Because it's the evidence of a Bennington citizen.
 Testimony easily investigated.
 The strongest endorsement of merit!
 The best proof. Read it:
 P. J. McGuire, 211 Maple St., Bennington, says: "For some time I suffered from dull, heavy pains in the small of my back and was unable to stoop without great misery. The trouble was generally worse in damp weather or when I caught cold. I heard a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box of Cole's Drug Store and began using them. In a few days I felt better and after I had finished one box, my back was free from pain and the other symptoms of the trouble became a thing of the past. Kidney trouble and I have been strangers since."
 Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McGuire had. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

INTERVENTION WOULD BE FOLLY
 So Says Champ Clark to Interviewers at Boston

Boston, Mass., March 10—Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives told callers yesterday that intervention by the United States in Mexican affairs would be monumental folly.
 "Let the Mexicans fight it out as this country did in the civil war," Mr. Clark is quoted as saying.
 The speaker spent several hours in the city, on his way home from Manchester, N. H., to Washington. Confiding his talk on the Mexican situation he said:
 "The people who want the United States to go in there and stop the fighting are the persons who own property there and want to work it. They know what the country was like when they bought the property and they should make the best of it. If the United States went into Mexico it would take 100,000 men for centuries to maintain order."

BREVITY OF ENGLISH.

Its Advantage In This Respect Over French and German.
 In an international report, printed in parallel columns in French, German and English, the three versions being exact translations of each other, the English report invariably finished first; sometimes it won by a whole page. As a rule, the French report was the most diffuse.
 This brevity of English is partly explained by the fact that English is made up of an extraordinary extent of words of one syllable. Its nouns having (unlike the German) lost all their inflections except the possessive "s," have become mere roots, a very large proportion of them monosyllabic. In Germany a monosyllabic root practically always gets an extra syllable tacked on by way of case ending. In the second place English has little of the elaborate and explicit machinery of structure that French has, so it saves space in prepositions and such paraphernalia. Instead, English has what the grammarians call implicit agglutination—that is, sticking words together in groups without either prepositions or case endings to connect them.
 An example of the former kind of brevity is a word like "earthquake," two syllables, compared with the German "erdbeben," three syllables, and the French "tremblement de terre," five syllables. An example of the terseness of English would be a phrase like, "I have been to the house and have now come back," every word a single syllable. In a telegram this would be just as intelligible in the form "Been house now back." You cannot carry that sort of thing far in any other European language.—Manchester Guardian.

THE STATE OF FRANKLIN.

It Had a Short Life In What Is Now Eastern Tennessee.
 In 1784 North Carolina, growing impatient of the burden that her western settlements had imposed upon her treasury and irritated by the complaints of the people of those sections, passed an act conveying to the federal government all the lands that now constitute the state of Tennessee.
 "The people of the country that is now eastern Tennessee, feeling themselves left without a government, made haste to organize themselves into an independent commonwealth, which they called, as a tribute to the illustrious philosopher, the state of Franklin. These people applied for admission into the Union; but the federal government being slow and unwilling to act and North Carolina having repealed the act of cession of her western province to the Union, the state of Franklin came into very troubled waters for some years.
 Some efforts were made to persuade the Kentuckians to join themselves to the state of Franklin, a provision having been made for such co-operation in the constitution of the experiment, but they came to nothing. The new state gradually fell to pieces, and in 1787 its brilliant and able governor, John Sevier, was put on trial for high treason. He was released by a daring rescue and subsequently pardoned and restored in name to the leadership, which he never lost in the affections of his people. In 1787 the last legislature of the state of Franklin held its session at Greenville.—Philadelphia Press.

Napoleon's Confidence.
 Just before his marriage Napoleon received the appointment of commander in chief of the army of Italy. He was then twenty-six. "You are rather young," said one of the directors, "to assume responsibility so weighty and to take command over veteran generals."
 "In one year," Napoleon replied, "I shall be old or dead."

"We can place you in command of men only," said Carnot, "for the troops are in need of everything, and we can furnish you with no money to provide supplies."
 "Give me only men enough," Napoleon answered, "and I ask for nothing more. I will be answerable for the result."—Table Talk and Opinions of Napoleon Buonaparte.

Pure Bred Arab Horses.
 In Cairo there is a society for preserving the pure bred Arab horse. It is said that recent changes in the lives and habits of the Bedouins have resulted in the deterioration of these horses. A practical horseman of wide experience says that as a rule the Arab horse is now no better treated than our own horses, whatever may have been true of the old days when such poems as "The Arab to His Steed" were written.

A Troublemaker.
 "Why did you tell my wife that before I met her I promised to love you forever?"
 "Well, didn't you?"
 "Sure I did, but that's no kind of conversation to go to a man's wife with."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Fulfilled.
 Mrs. Guggins—Before we were married you used to say you could listen to my sweet voice all night. Mr. Guggins—Well, at that time I had no idea I'd ever have to do it.—Judge.

Not a Bout Winner.
 Tramp—Once I was well known as a wrestler, mum. Lady—And do you wrestle now? Tramp—Only wild poverty, mum.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Healthy Hair, Soft and Fluffy

Beautiful hair does not just happen but is always a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. No matter if your hair is falling out, stringy, lifeless, and full of dandruff, Parisian Sage, an inexpensive tonic sold by W. L. Gokas, is all that is ever needed. It nourishes the hair roots and stimulates the growth of new hair. All dandruff is entirely removed with one application, and itching scalp and falling hair cease; your hair will be bright, vigorous, soft and fluffy.
 Whether your hair is oily, dry or brittle Parisian Sage immediately removes the cause and by toning up the scalp quickly restores the hair to its original brilliancy and vigor.
 This delightful tonic is a real necessity and will not fail to give a lasting benefit to your hair and scalp.
